Area High School, Somerset, Pennsylvania

Volume 31

Set in This Background

On the Allegheny Tableland Somerset, Pennsylvania, was founded by Harmon Husband and Ulrich Bruner during the years 1771 to 1773. In 1795 Somerset was established as the county seat of Somerset County.

For over one hundred and fifty years Somerset has remained a farming community with emphasis on the maple sugar industry. In the United States Somerset County is second only to the state of Vermont in the production of maple commodities.

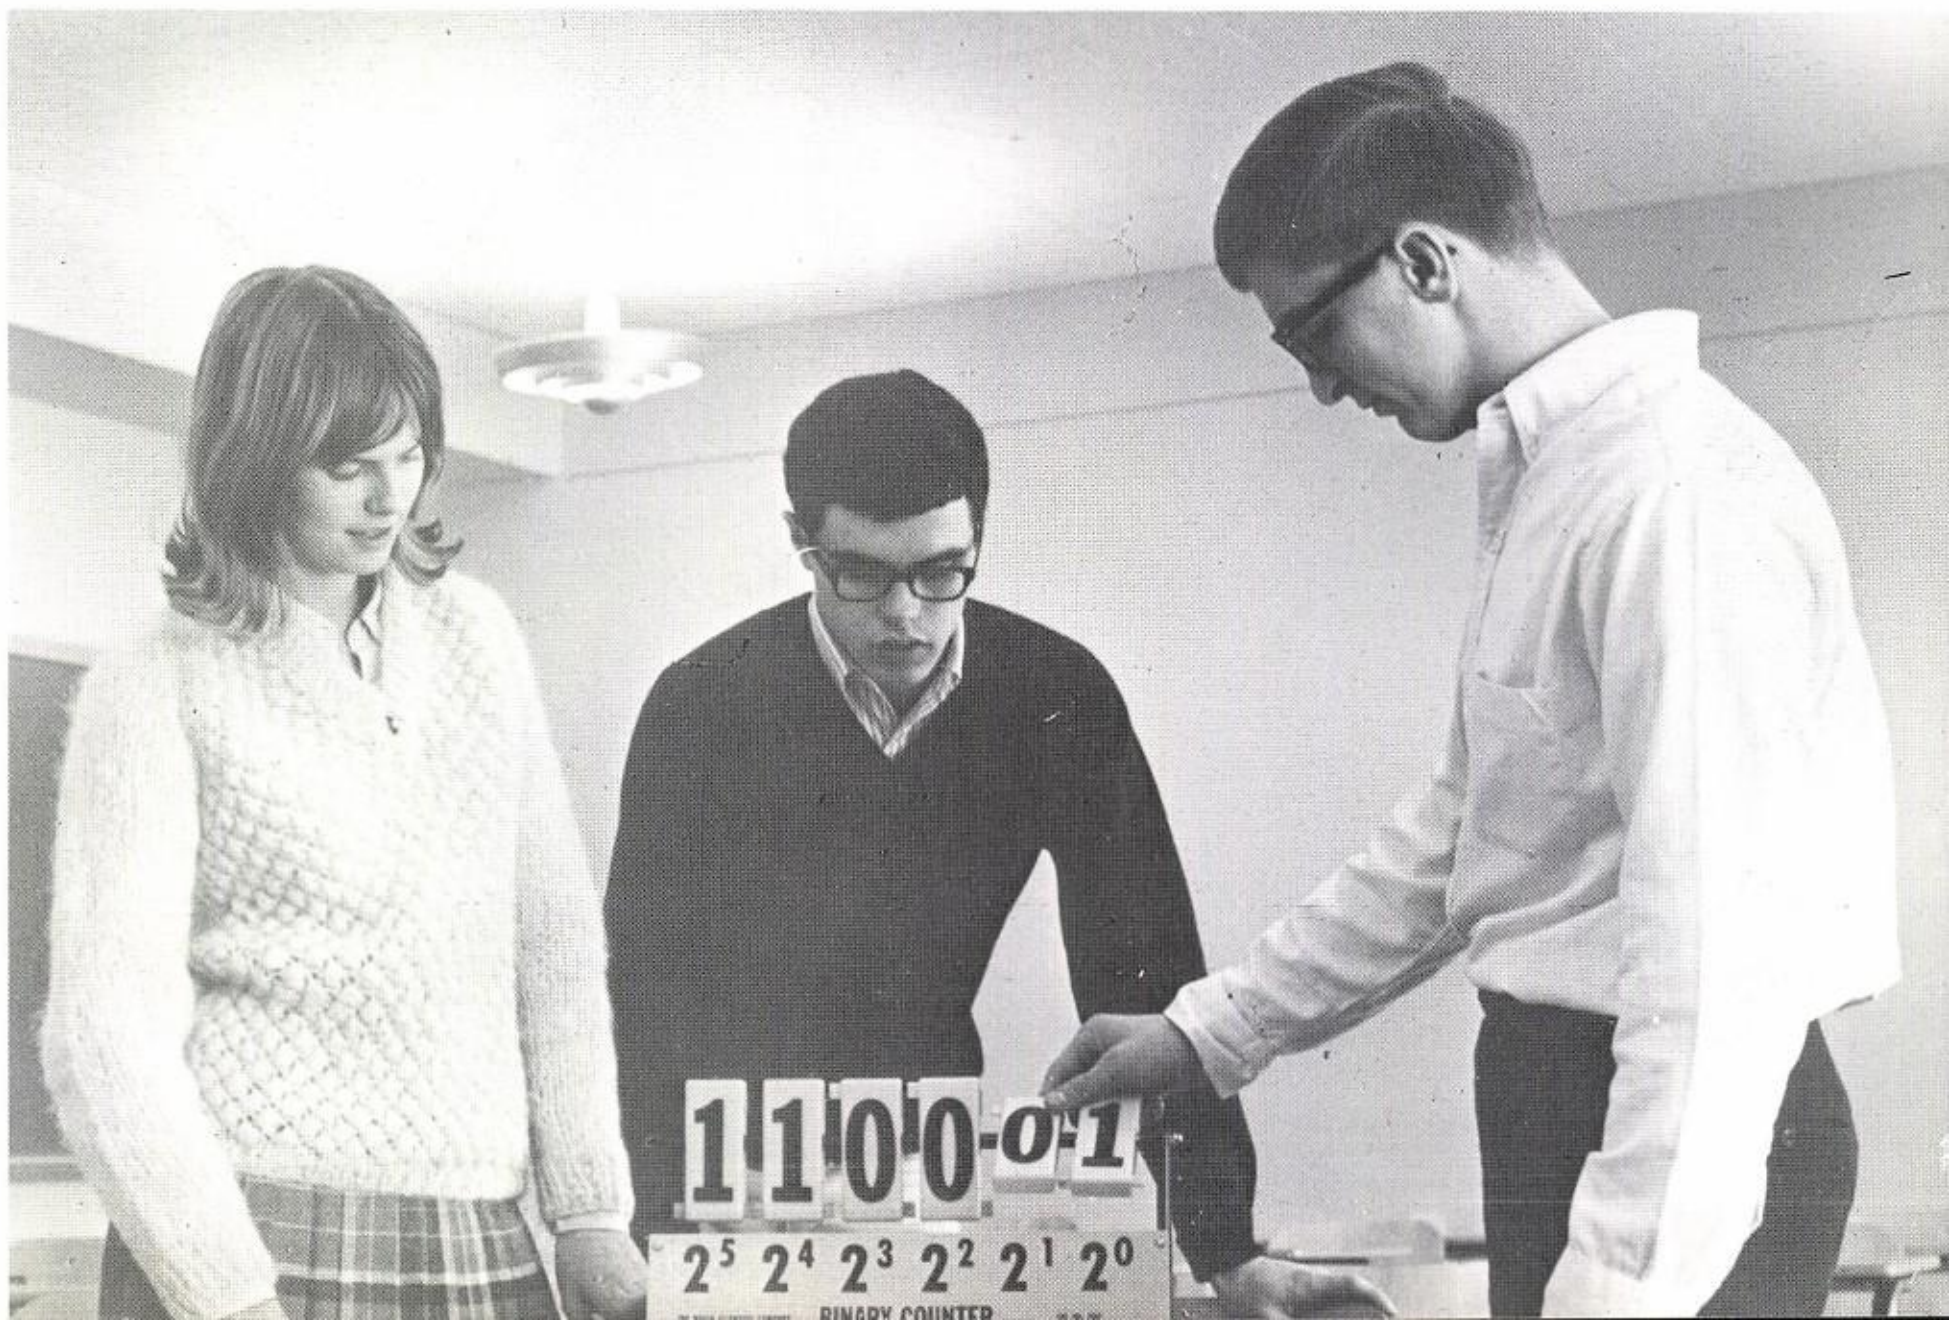

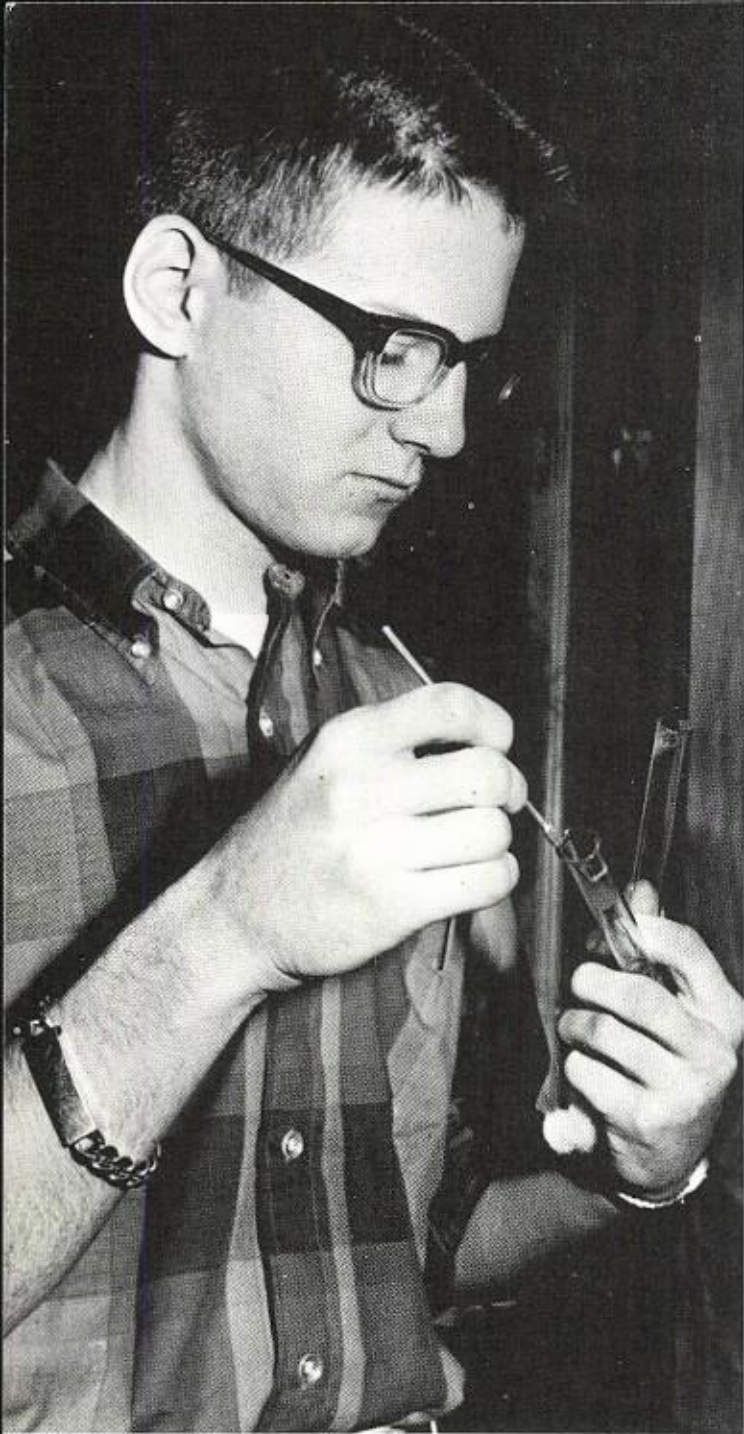

In 1940 the Pennsylvania Turnpike opened with an interchange at Somerset, the only one directly on the Turnpike.

Somerset was named the Ski Capital of Pennsylvania in 1964. Since then, the ski industry has increased the recreational facilities as well as the economic stability of Somerset.

Somerset Area High Is . . . Exploration

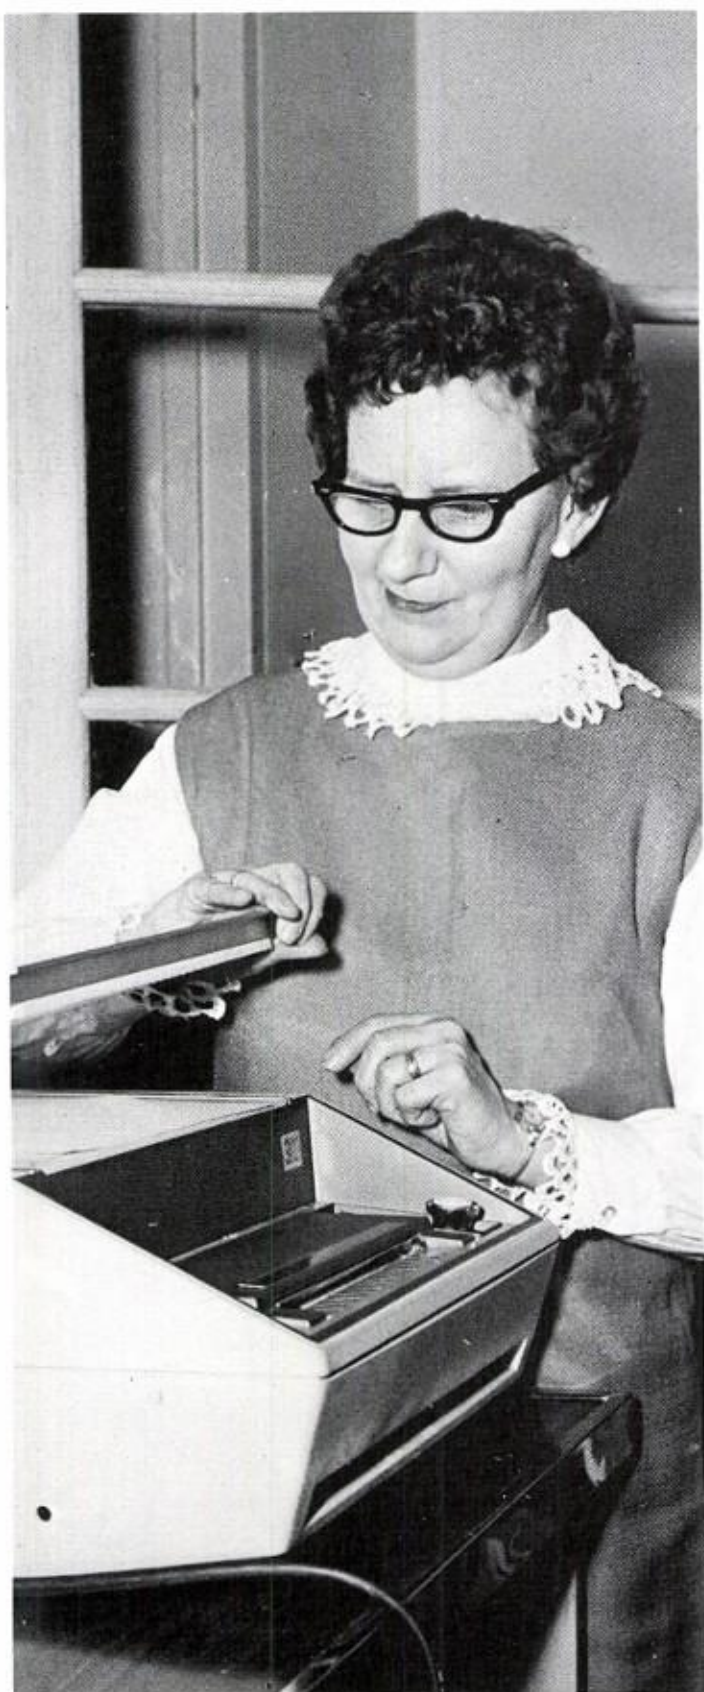

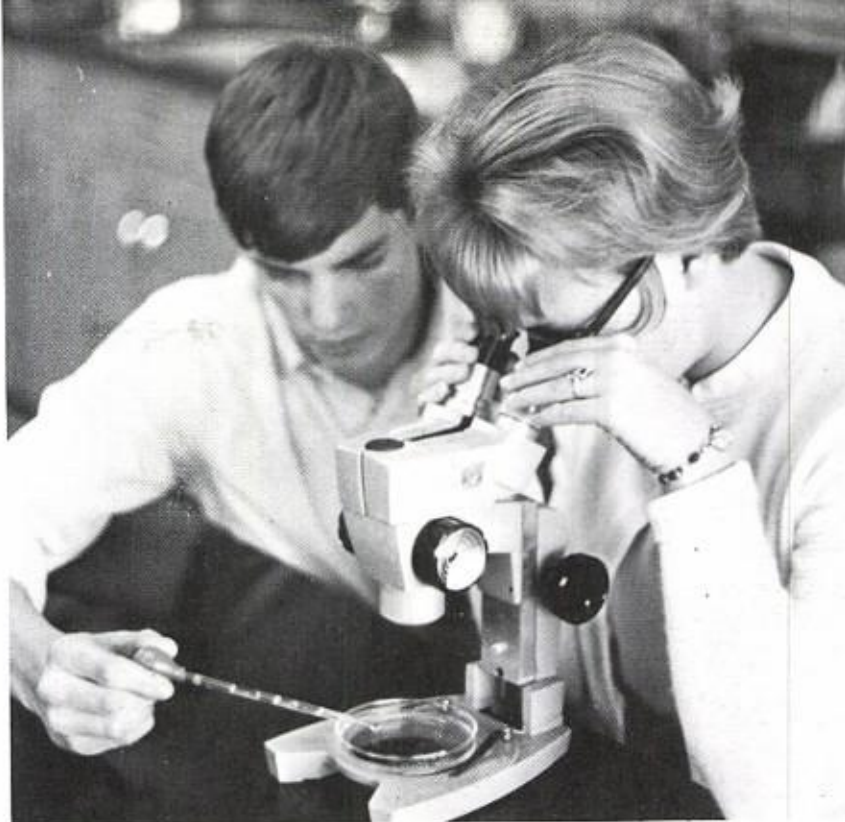

New methods of solving problems and aiding personnel, explorations begun early in summer, soon created excitement.

Again the first day of school brought mass confusion to the main office as students poured in with problems concerning their computerized schedules.

For the first time courses in advanced mathematics and advanced science were offered. They enabled interested students to explore deeper into these intriguing areas.

In case of an emergency, such as an explosion in the chemistry lab, the ability of the school and community to handle evacuation and care were explored in an emergency drill performed by students under the direction of school and hospital officials.

The electronics field was further explored by the two months' use of a computer in physics classes.

... Relaxation

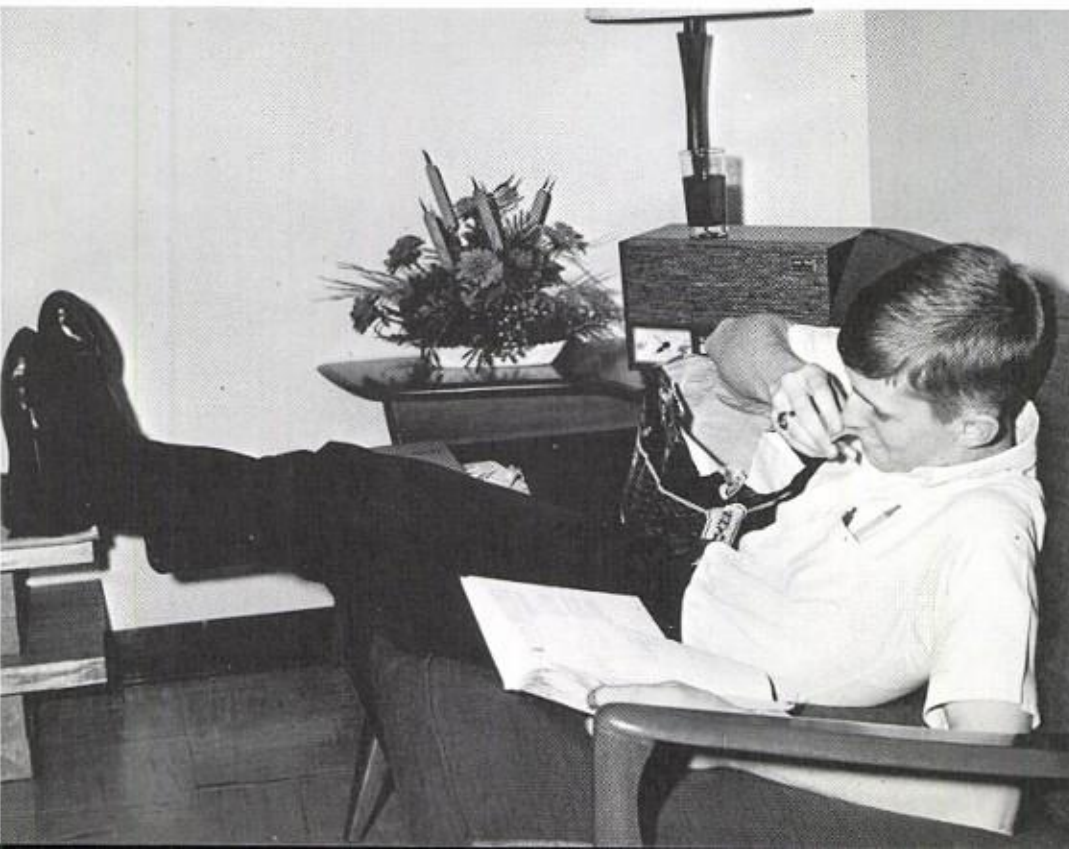

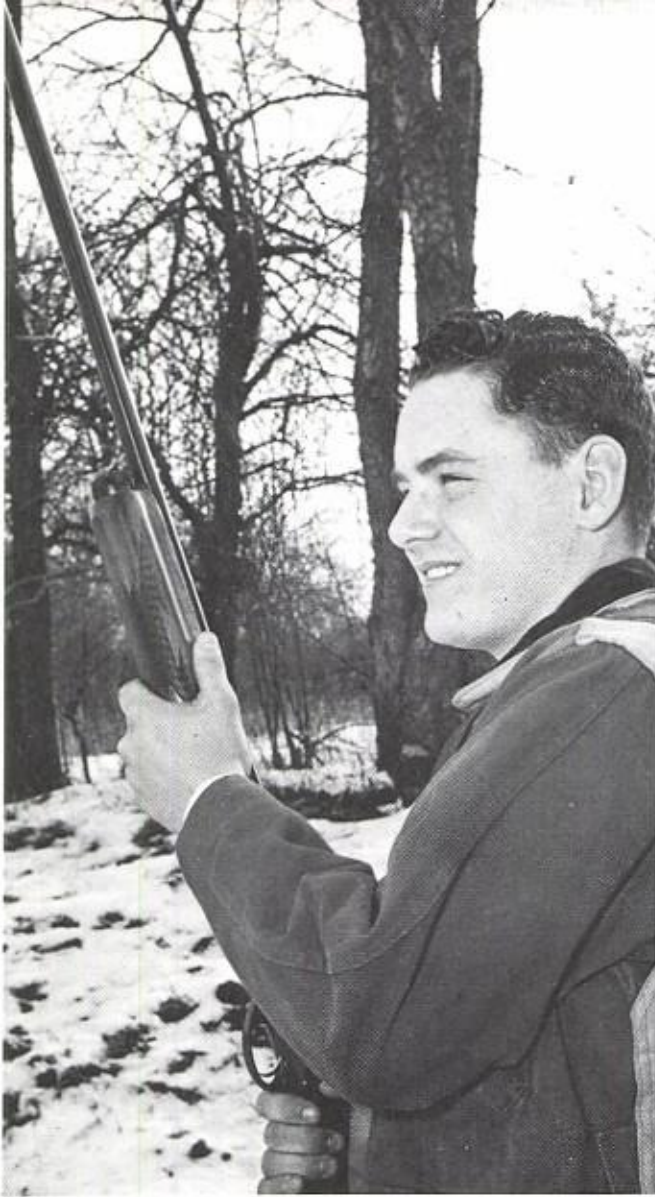

Both the school and community provided means of student relaxation.

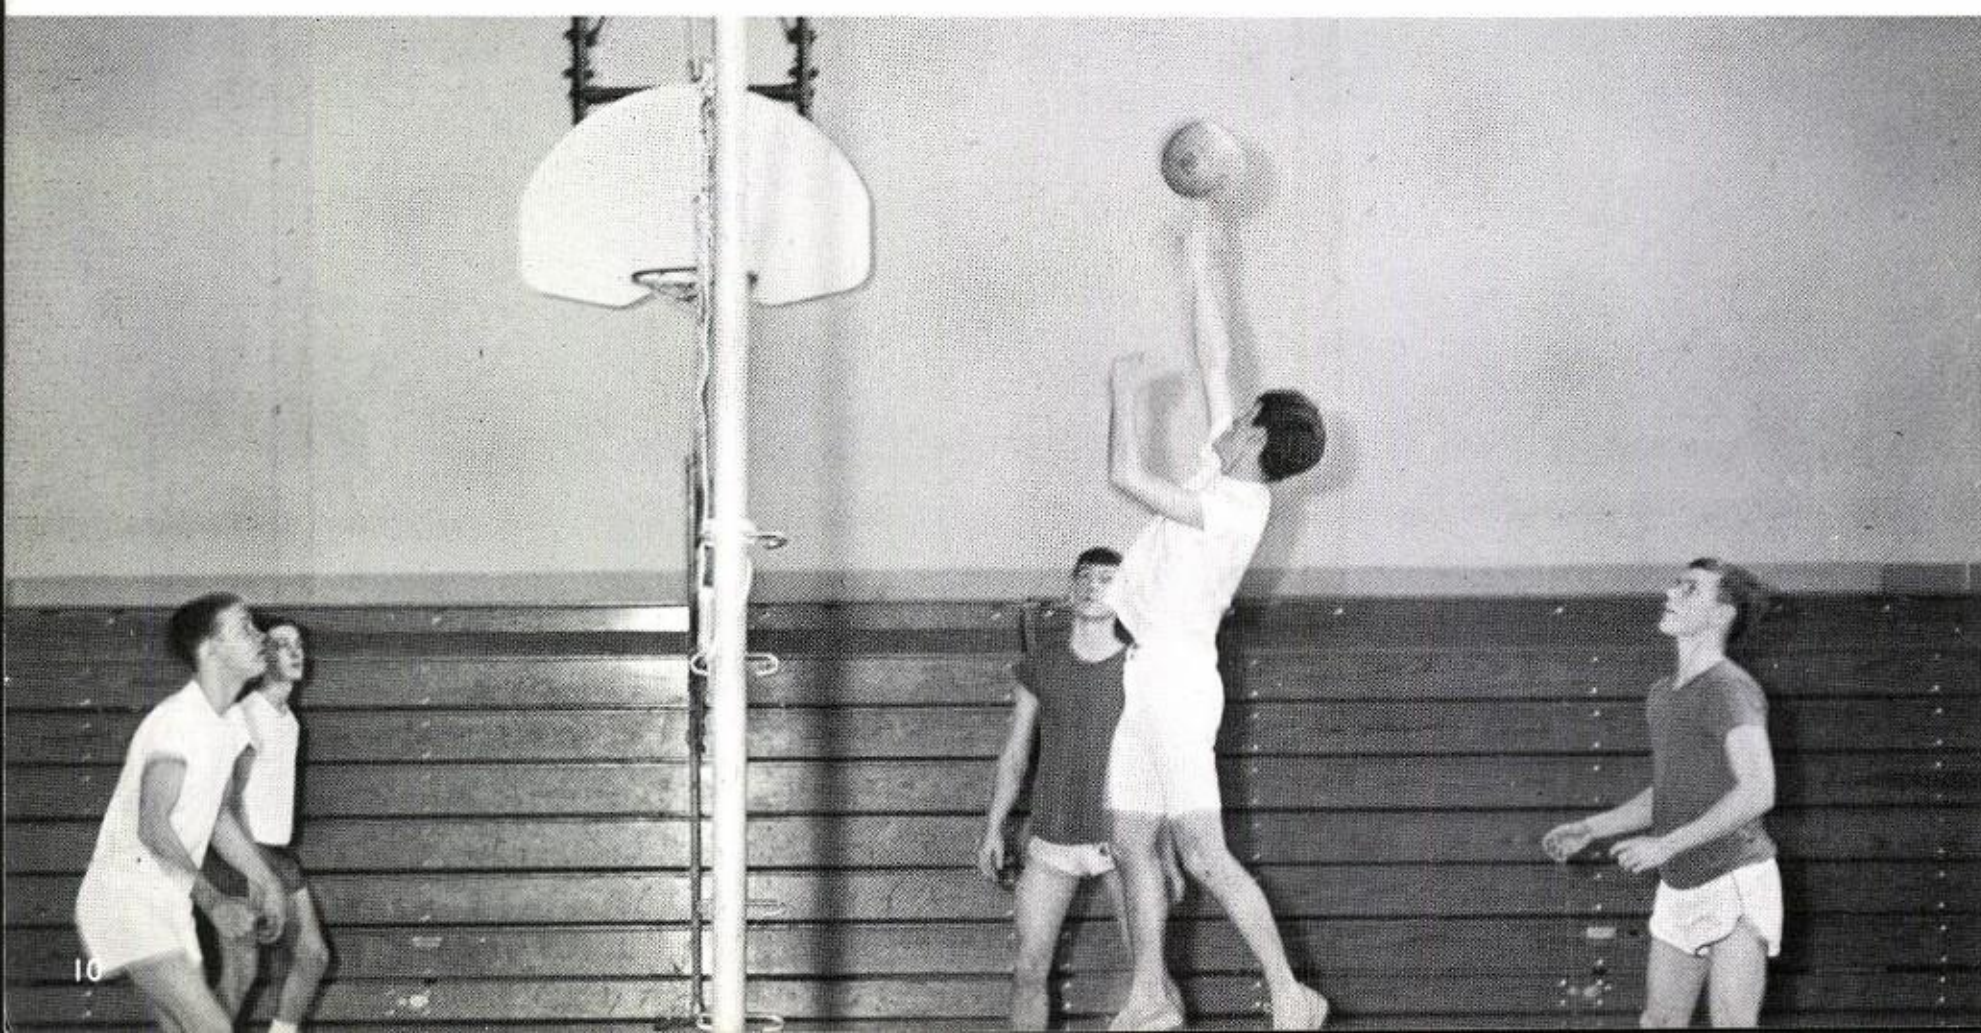

Athletic events and dances sponsored afterwards were well attended. For the latter, popular instrumental combos provided the music. These proved to be opportunities for students to release their tensions.

From the school calendar one day was set aside for students to take advantage of the opening of deer season. The woods were scattered with girls as well as boys during small and big game seasons.

Because of the lack of sufficient snow, skiing was rather poor this winter. But when good snow did break, the ski areas were packed with students. Improved slopes and tows made the activity even more popular. Many carefree hours were spent at ski resorts.

A form of relaxation employed by most students was incorporated into study habits.

... Skill

Gymnastics offered courses suited to everyone. Finding able bowlers and volleyball players was not difficult.

Many phases of advanced art produced students adroit in silk screening, loom weaving, pottery making, etching and designing. The students' results were displayed locally and were entered in contests.

Four industrial shops helped develop skill among vocational students. Mental keenness and manual dexterity brought awards to individuals, the school and the community.

Proficient musicians were boasted. Difficult instruments such as the oboe, bassoon and cello were mastered by a few. Vocal groups and soloists participated in county, district and regional concerts.

. . . Anticipation

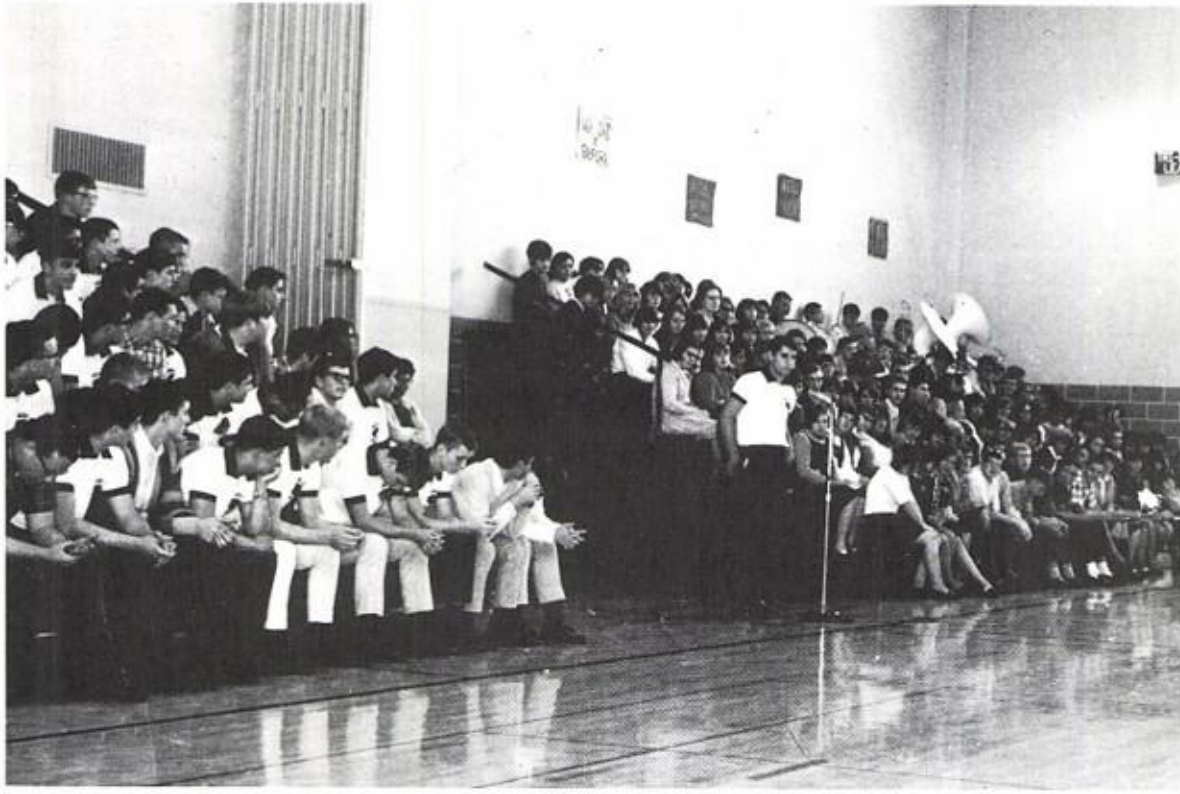

Athletic contests always sparked enthusiasm. On days of games or matches a newly formed sign committee plastered symbols of encouragement on the walls of Somerset Area High School. An injured player aroused anticipation from the team and the crowd. Frequent pep rallies helped spur varsity teams to victories.

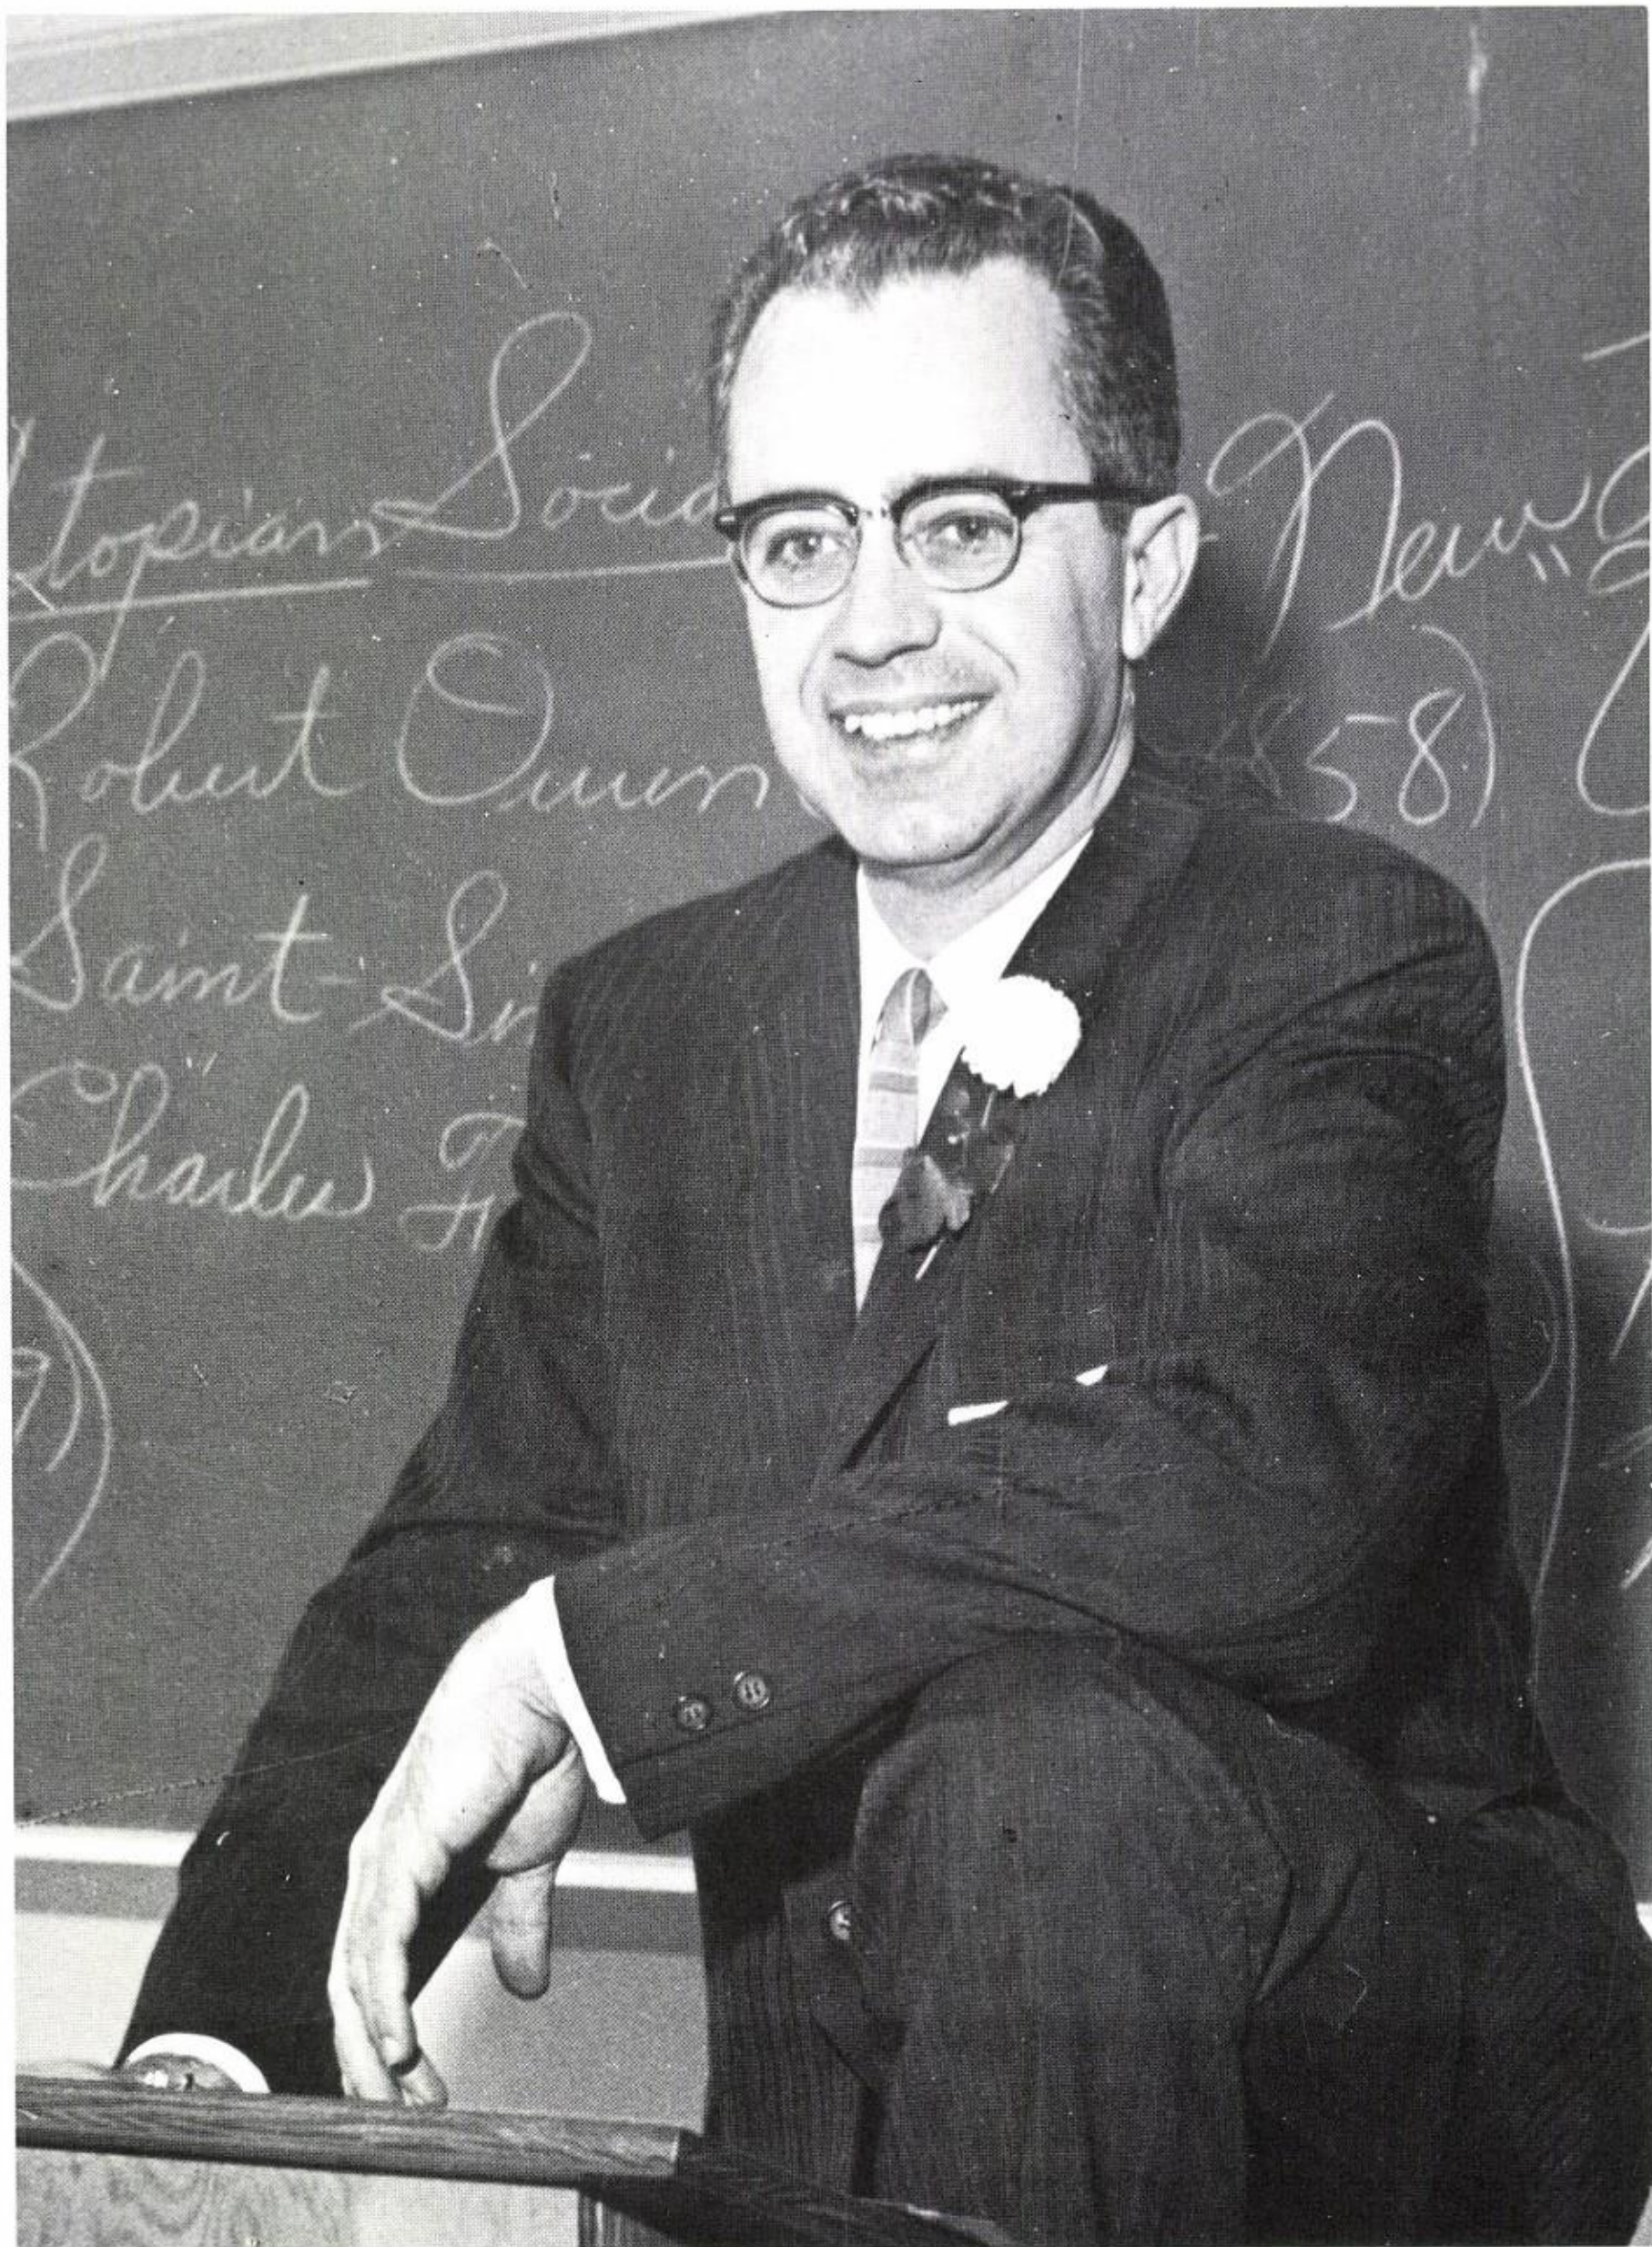

Even though stage fright had been anticipated, literature programs and class plays never went quite as expected.

Anticipation mounted until the winner of the Maple Princess Contest was announced. This anticipation was heightened at the Somerset County Maple Queen contest, in which our Princess performed.

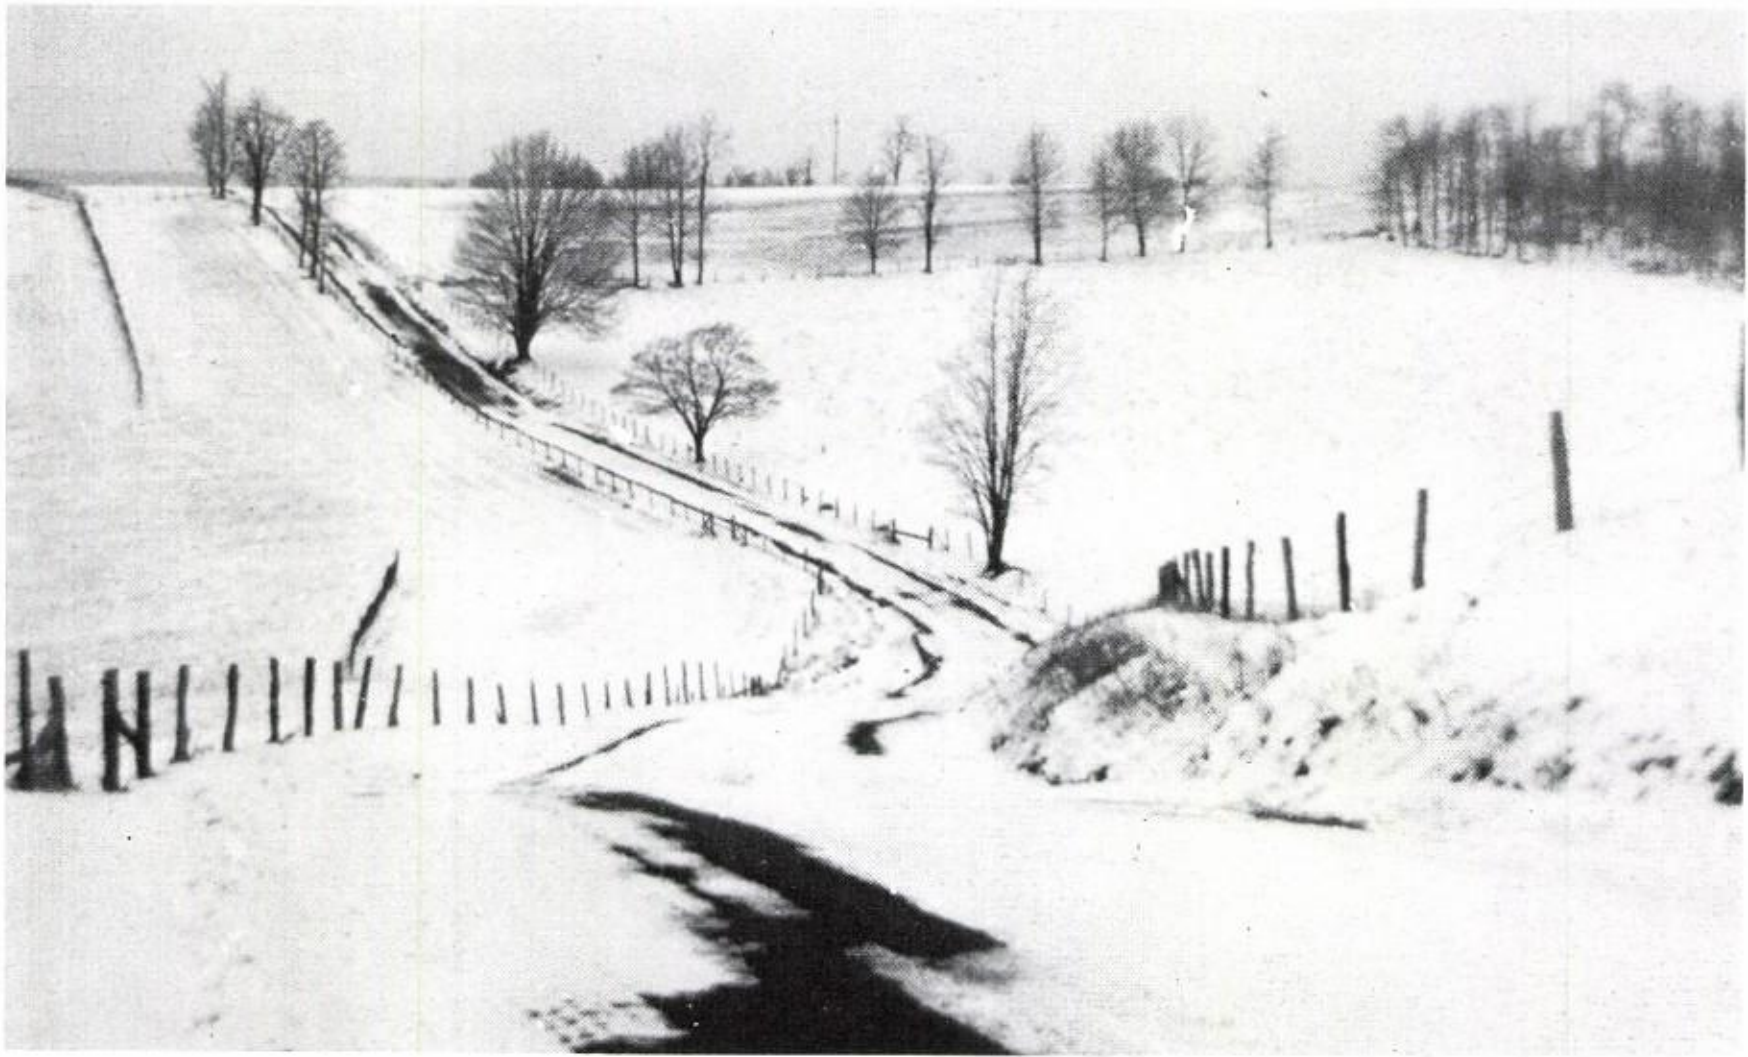

To some, the first day of school meant entrance to a new school. To others it brought anticipation of their final year at Somerset Area High.

Robert Sanner Remains a Part of Somerset High

To Robert Glenn Sanner, whom we fondly remember as a teacher of Problems of Democracy and senior English—each for four years—the 1961 Eaglet literary advisor and our friend, we memorialize the 1967 Eaglet.

Although we cannot understand why Death claimed his young life, we are comforted by the thought that God chooses the very best for His kingdom.

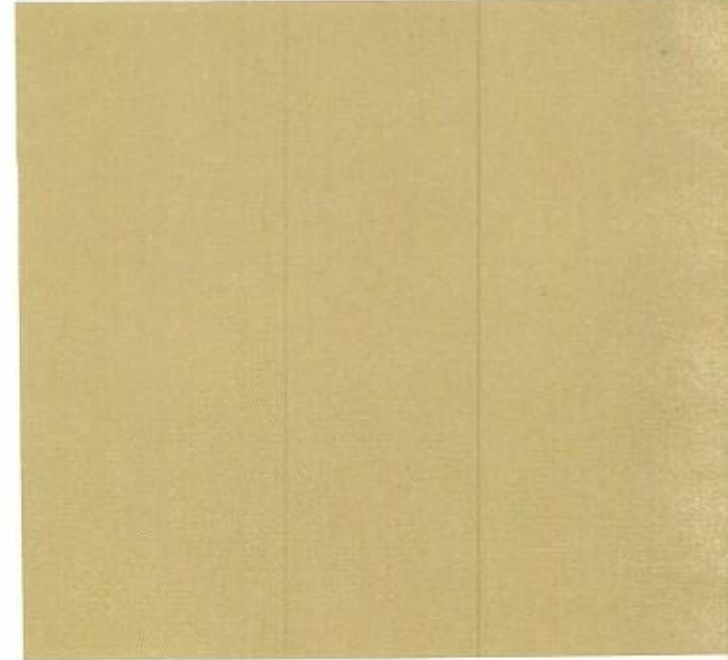

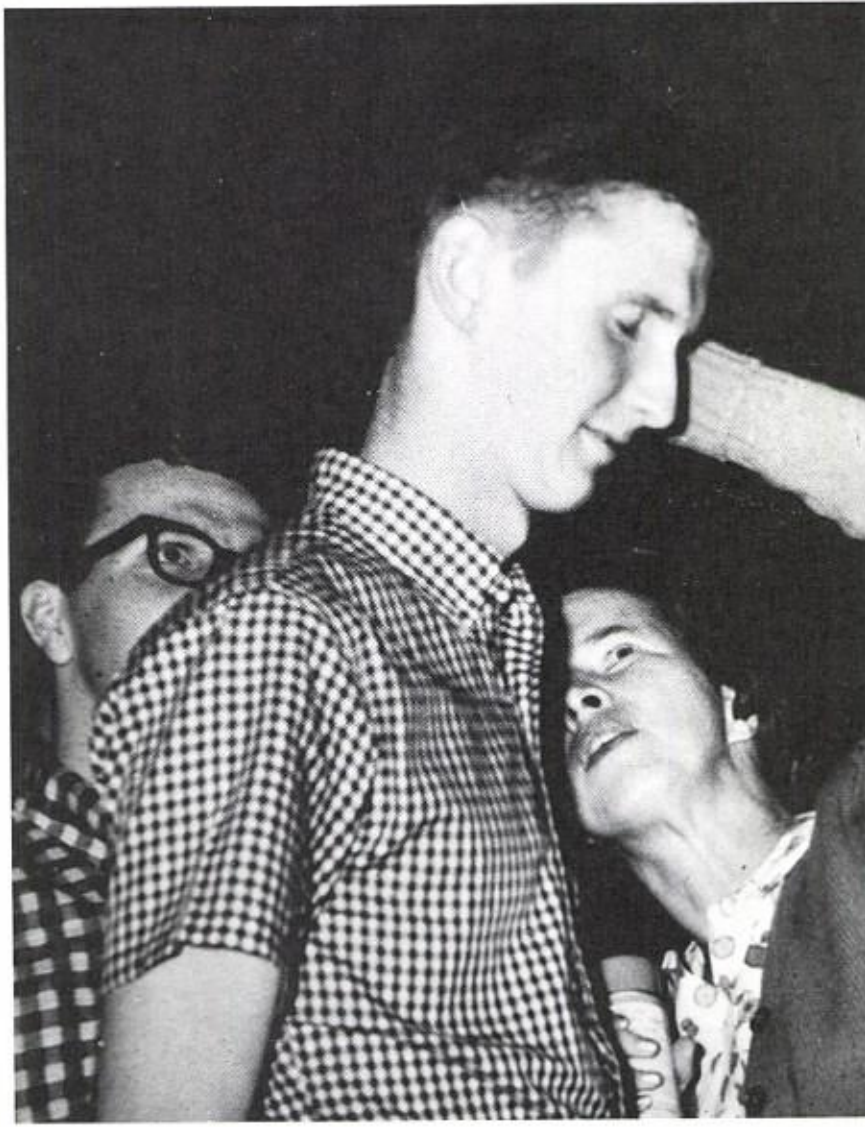

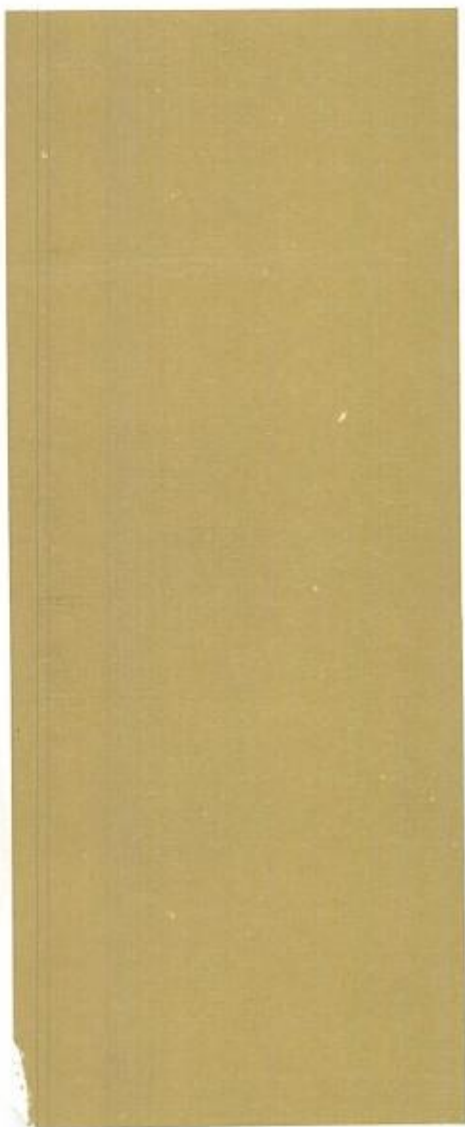

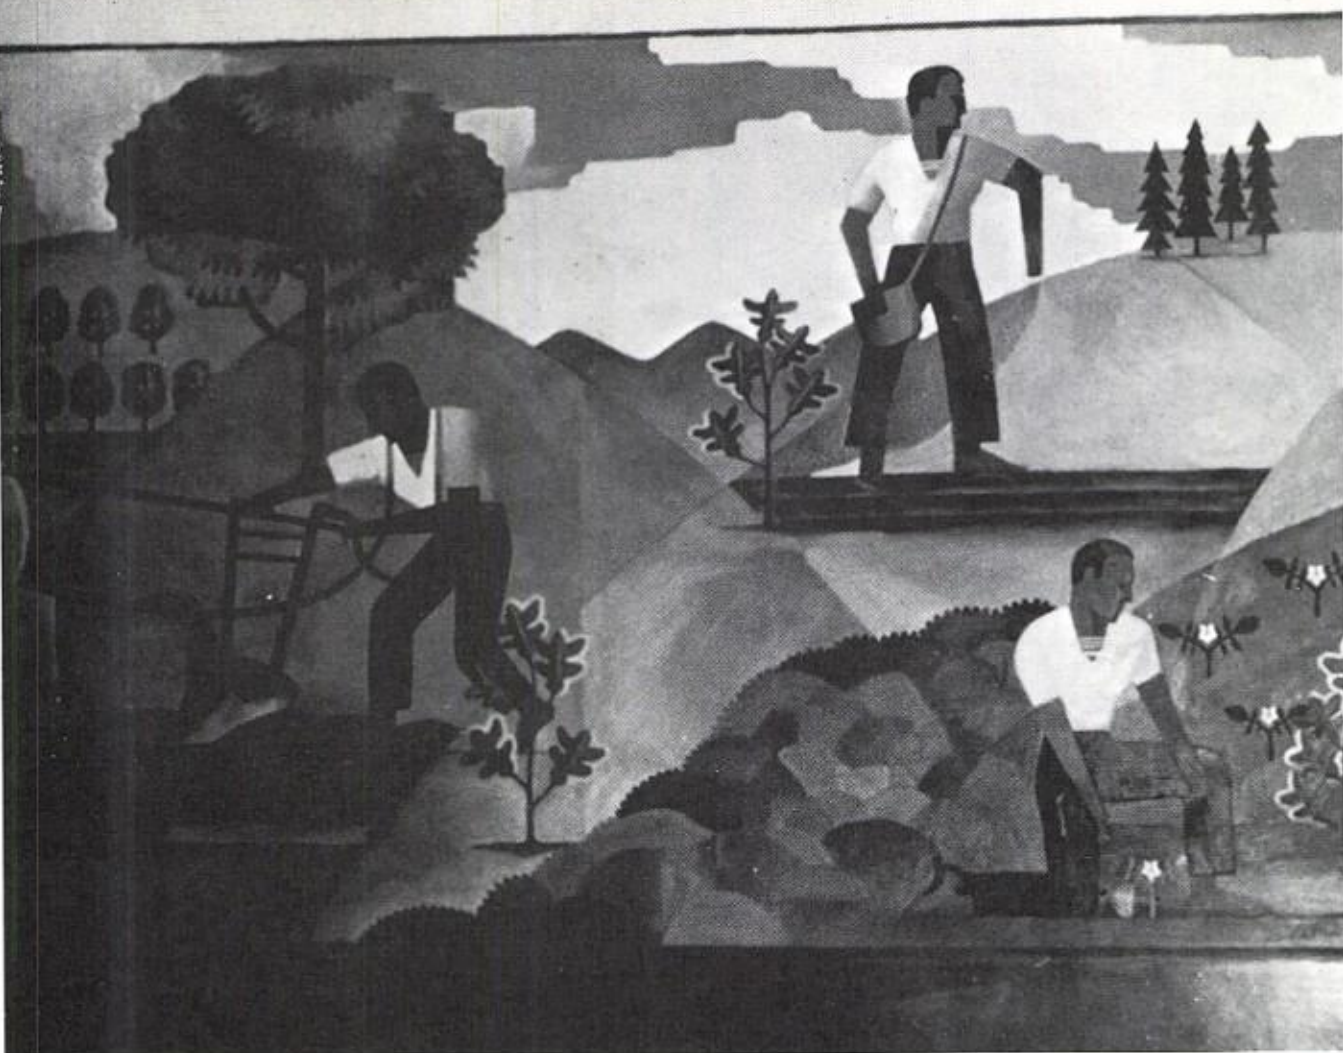

Death Be Not Proud

Death, be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so:
For those whom thou thinkst thou dost overthrow
Die not, poor Death; nor yet canst thou kill me.
From Rest and Sleep, which but thy picture be,
Much pleasure, then from thee much more must flow;
And soonest our best men with thee do go—
Rest of their bones and souls' delivery!
Thou'rt slave to fate, chance, kings, and desperate men,
And dost with poison, war, and sickness dwell;
And poppy or charms can make us sleep as well
And better than thy stroke. Why swell'st thou then?
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And Death shall be no more: Death, thou shalt die!

Administration Re-routes Outdated School Bus Lines

MR. DONALD RININGER
Assistant Supervising Principal

MR. MILO MOSGRAVE
Secretary to the Board of School Directors

Members of the Board of School Directors confronted the problems of running Somerset Area Schools. Their responsibility was to foster the functions of the school by providing progressive curriculum, faculty and facilities. By establishing the aims and policies of the school, their decisions affected the entire student body. After long and serious debate, the school board decided to increase the price of lunches in the cafeteria by five cents to cover the loss of capital caused by the discontinuation of surplus food subsidies from the federal government.

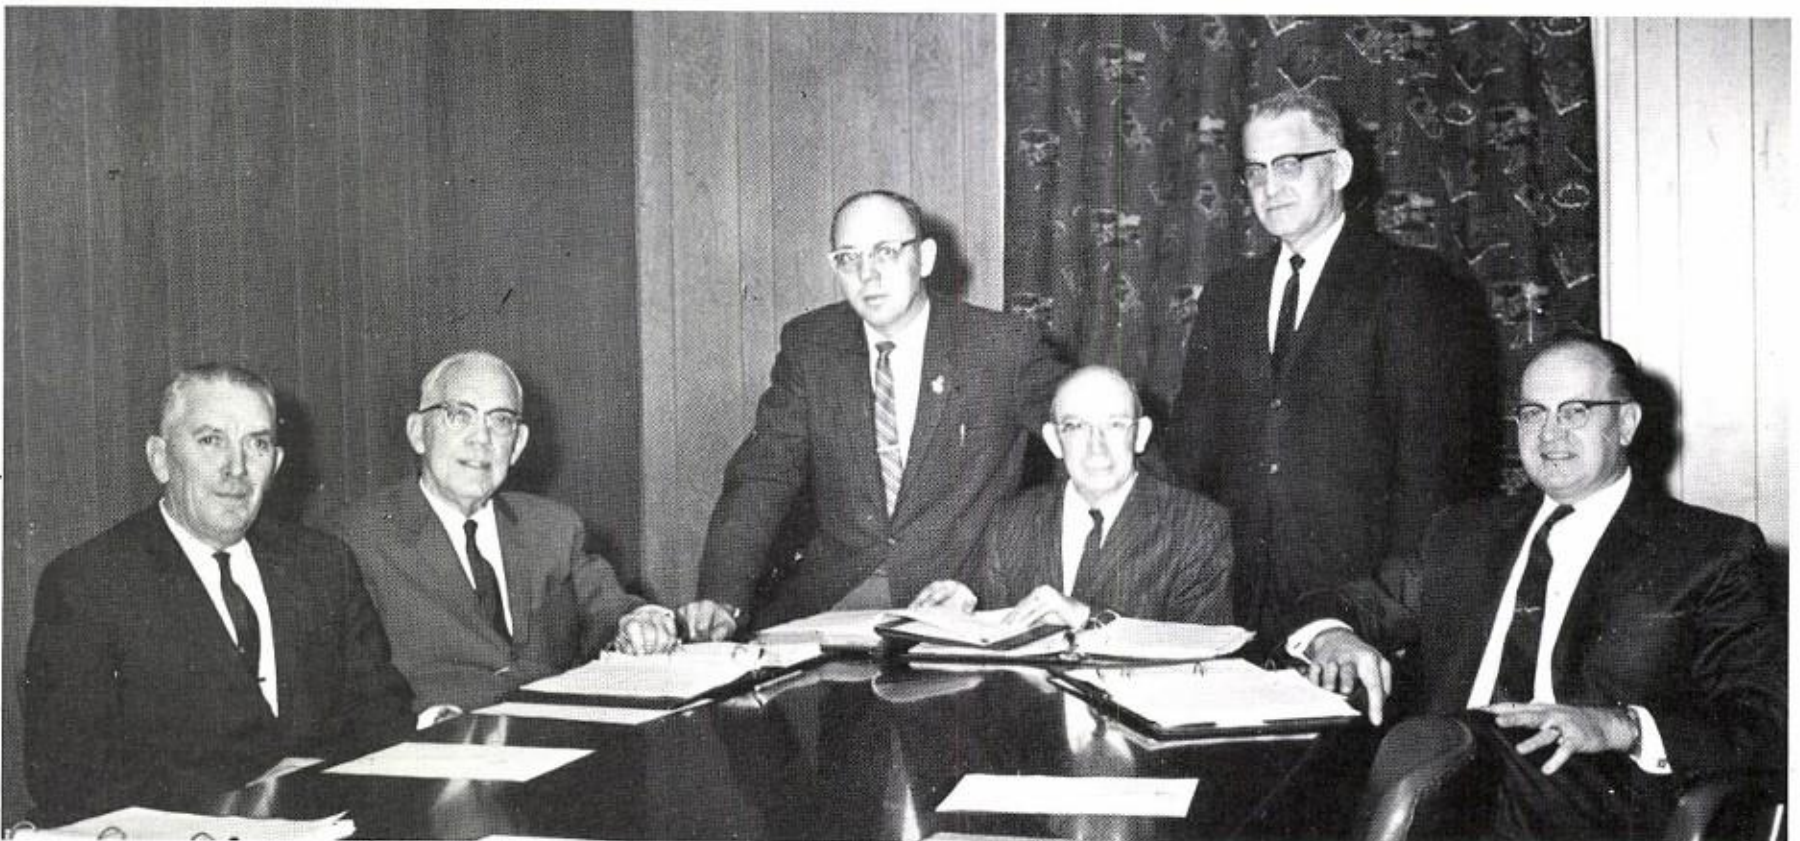

Incorporating the ideas and policies set forth by the school board rested in the hands of the administration. Their work consisted of supervising the faculty and attempting to ensure the smooth functioning of the school.

Conveying the ideas of the Board of Education and explaining the reasons for their decisions was the responsibility of the Supervising Principal Howard Trexel.

Acting on such varied situations as rerouting the bus lines and formulating a dress code policy, the Board of School Directors supported the efforts of the administration to solve school problems. This combination presented the students with a year of learning, a year that showed a profit for Somerset Area Schools.

Office Secretaries Aid in Solving Schedule Problems

Staff secretaries were responsible for keeping records in order. In addition they typed daily bulletins and issued announcements.

High school dieticians saw that Somerset students were offered nutritious lunches. They also aided with the Parent's Night banquet for basketball players and the Honor Roll banquet for junior high students.

Guidance counselors Mrs. Pauline Glessner and Mr. Richard Colliver aided students in selecting fields of study or vocation. Their work included advising college-bound students concerning college applications and entrance examinations as well as supervising and recording results of standardized tests.

High school nurses aided with physical and dental examinations as well as administering tuberculin tests for sophomores.

It was the job of vocational co-ordinator Mr. Rankin Jones to supervise the care of audio-visual equipment in addition to his supervisory work in the vocational department.

Mrs. Mary Manges, school psychologist, helped students and parents with personal problems.

Advanced Math Prepares

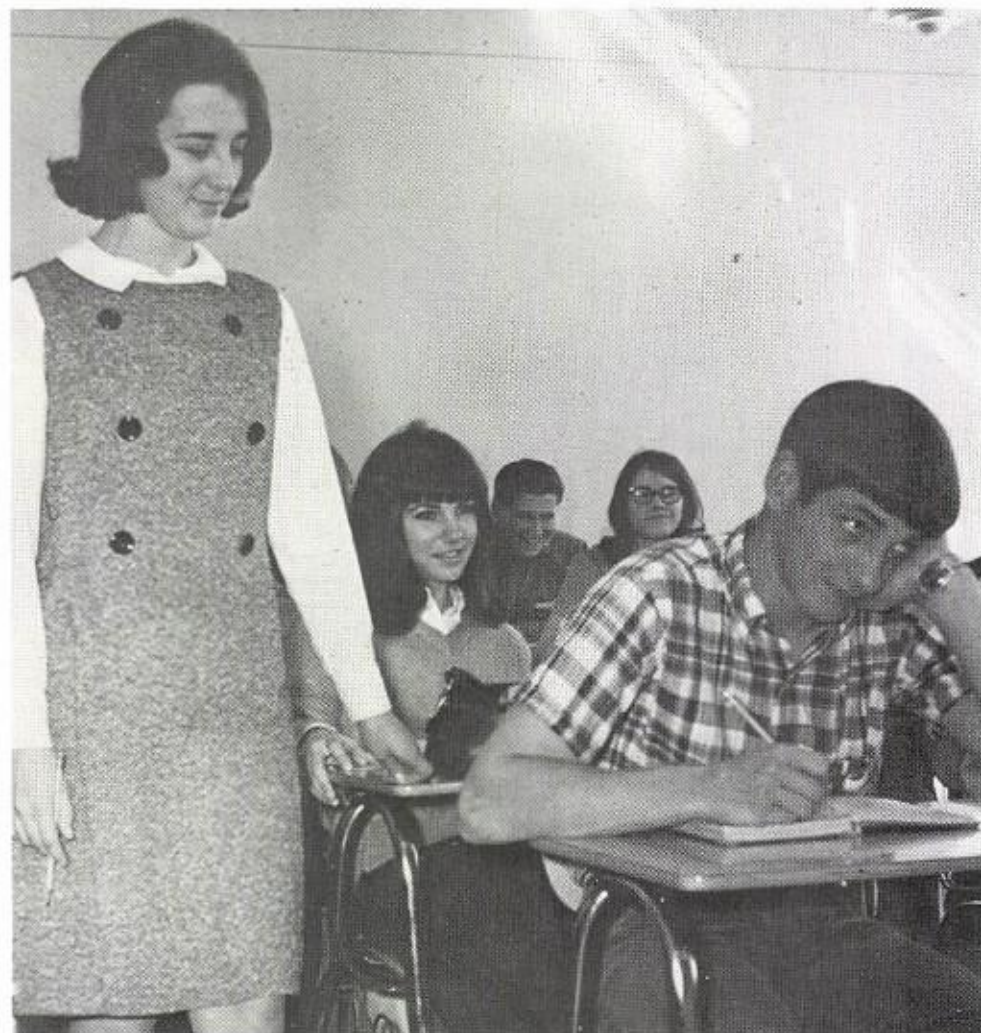

Junior high mathematics courses taught seventh graders basic structure, while eighth graders developed their skills in modern math. Freshmen met the challenge of Algebra I, which was the goal for junior high.

Senior high students had a variety of fields to examine. Those wishing specialization in mathematics undertook plane geometry, Algebra II, trigonometry and solid geometry. Nurses' math was offered, along with courses in surveying and indirect measurement. Business math was scheduled for students in the business education department.

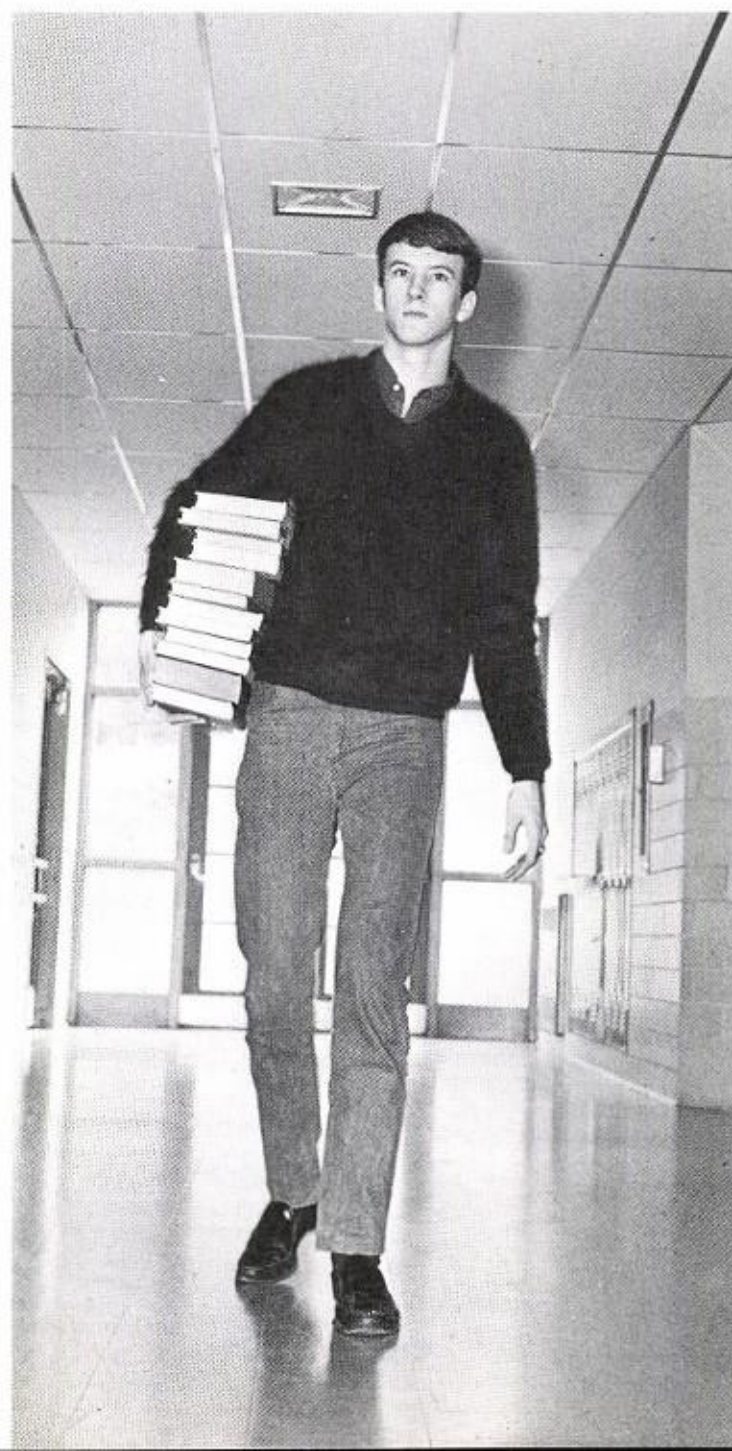

Advanced math was offered for the first time this year. To qualify, students were required to have maintained a 'B' average in their previous studies of mathematics. This course was designed as a continuation of solid geometry and an introduction to calculus. Its goal was to better prepare students for college. The math club, Mu Alpha Theta, was reactivated this year.

Mathematics was a field with vast opportunities for each individual. Some touched the surface; others dug deep to explore new levels, but each course contained values appropriate to the goals of its students.

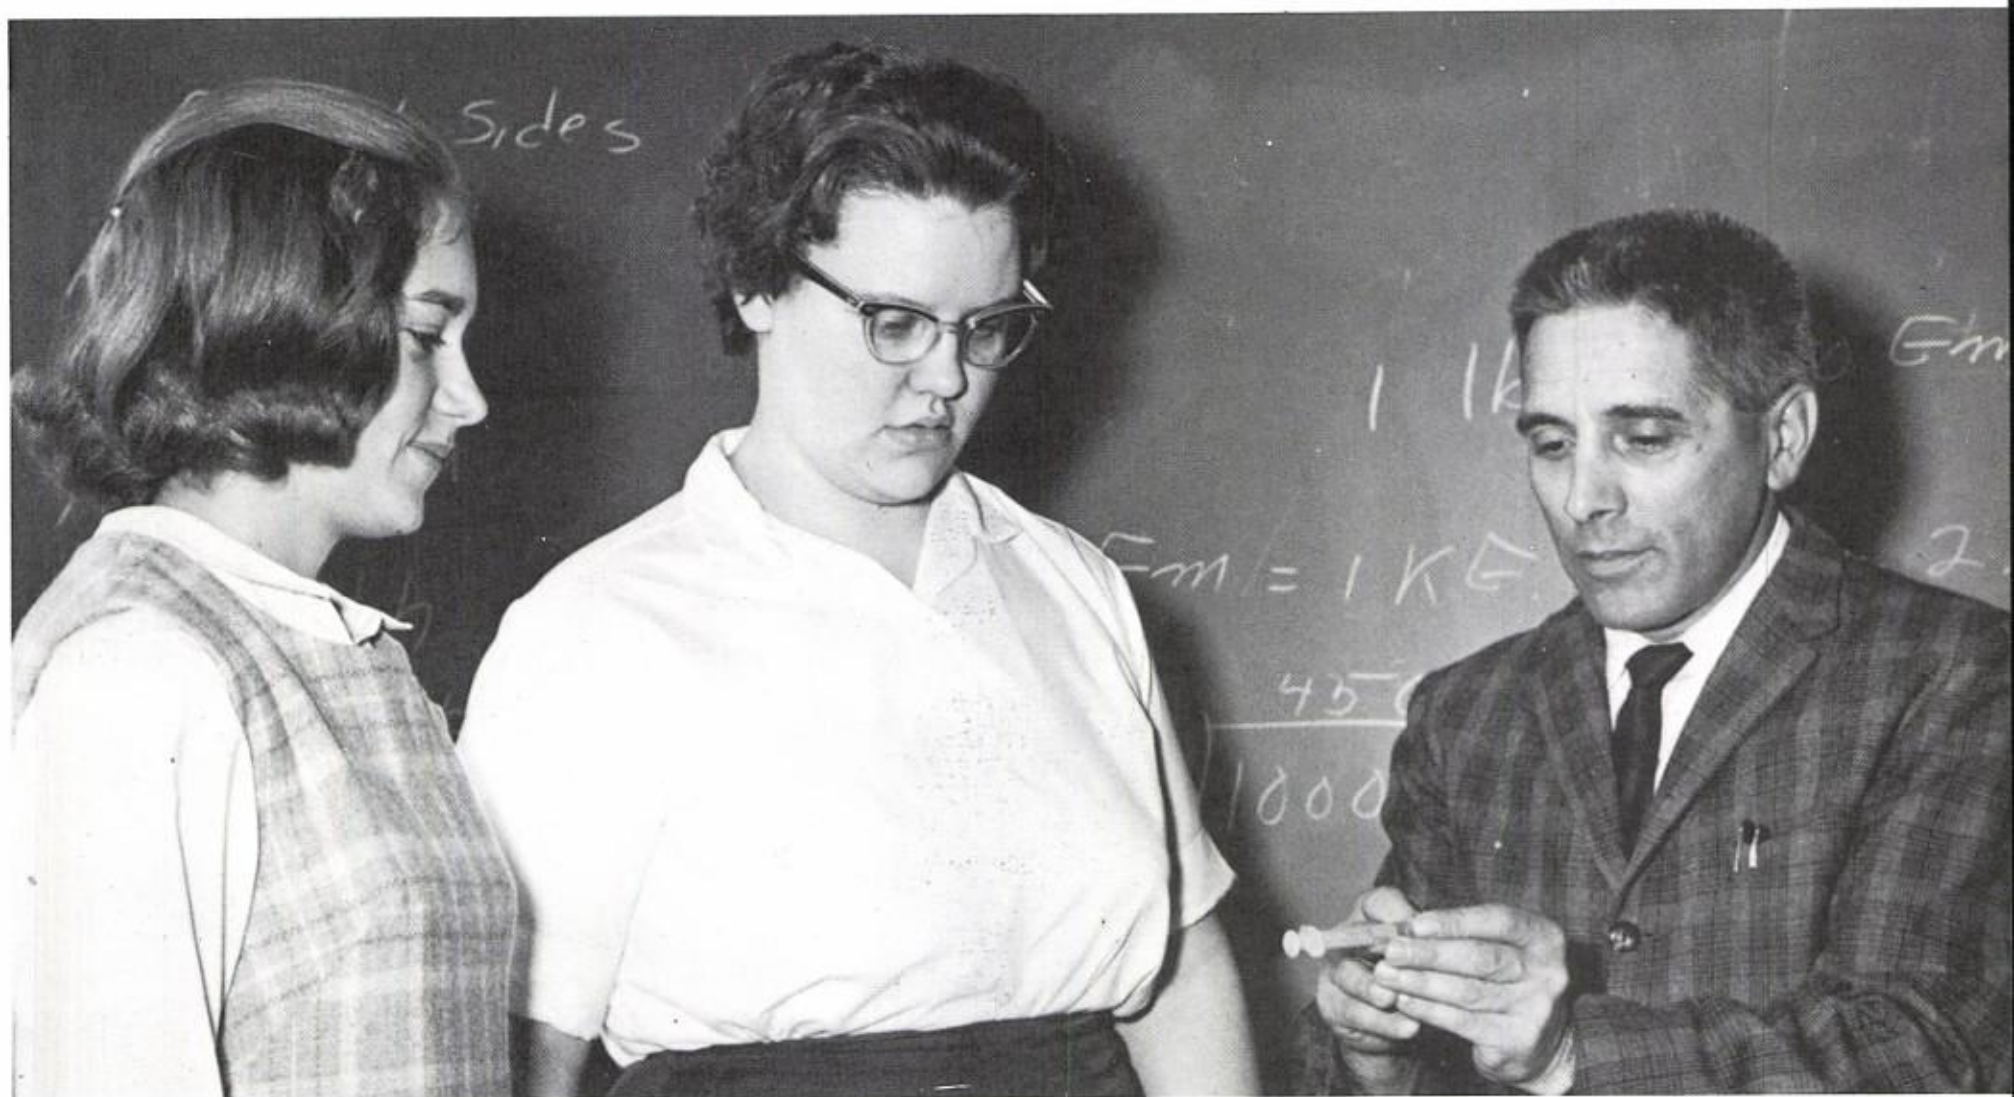

Mrs. Bruno suspects that Karl Bowser's daydreams do not include Algebra II.

Literature Classes Present Assembly Program of

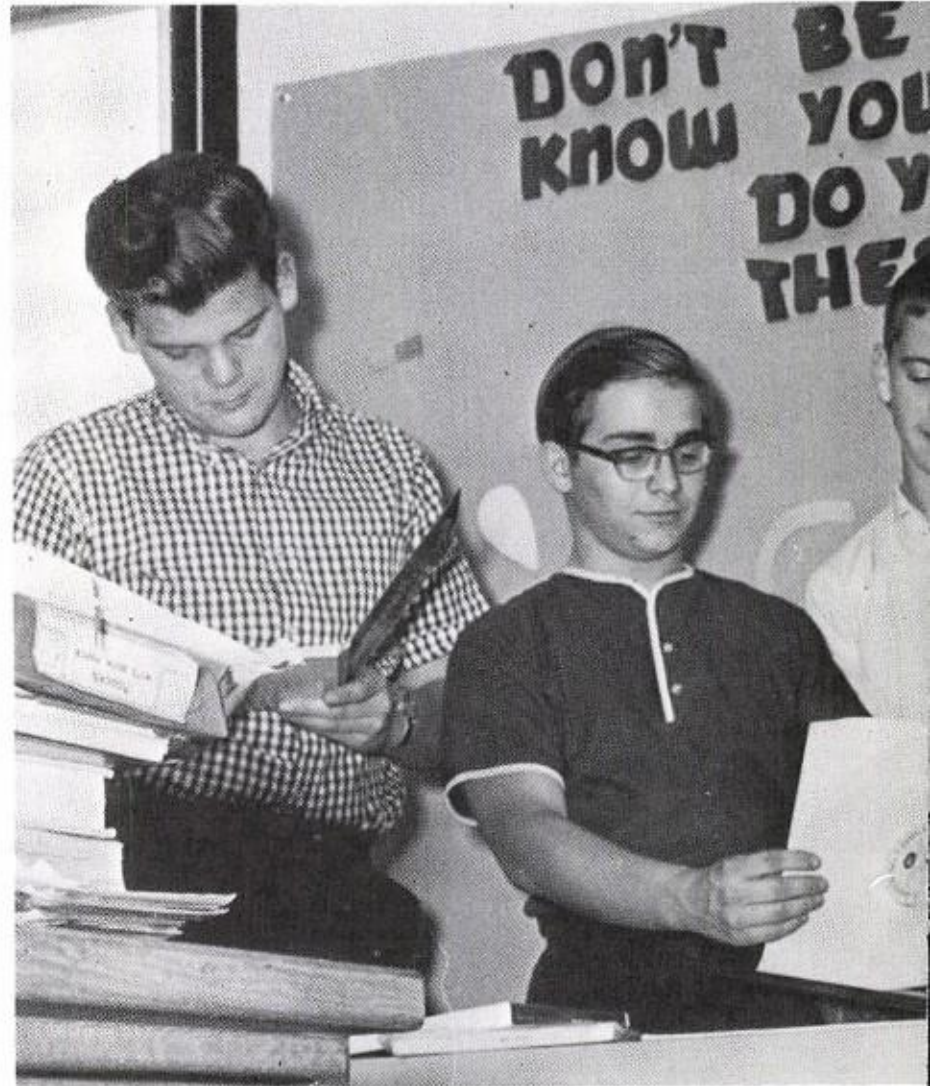

Students at Somerset Senior High became better acquainted with transitional grammar as phonemics, a modern method used to plot word pronunciation, appeared on blackboards in the English department. Preliminary work in structural linguistics and transformational grammar gave students an enriched view of spoken and written English.

Open to juniors and seniors was the split track course in English and literature. Academic students chose between year-book journalism, newspaper journalism or college preparatory English in addition to American or English literature. English and journalism classes included instruction in basic vocabulary, composition and speech.

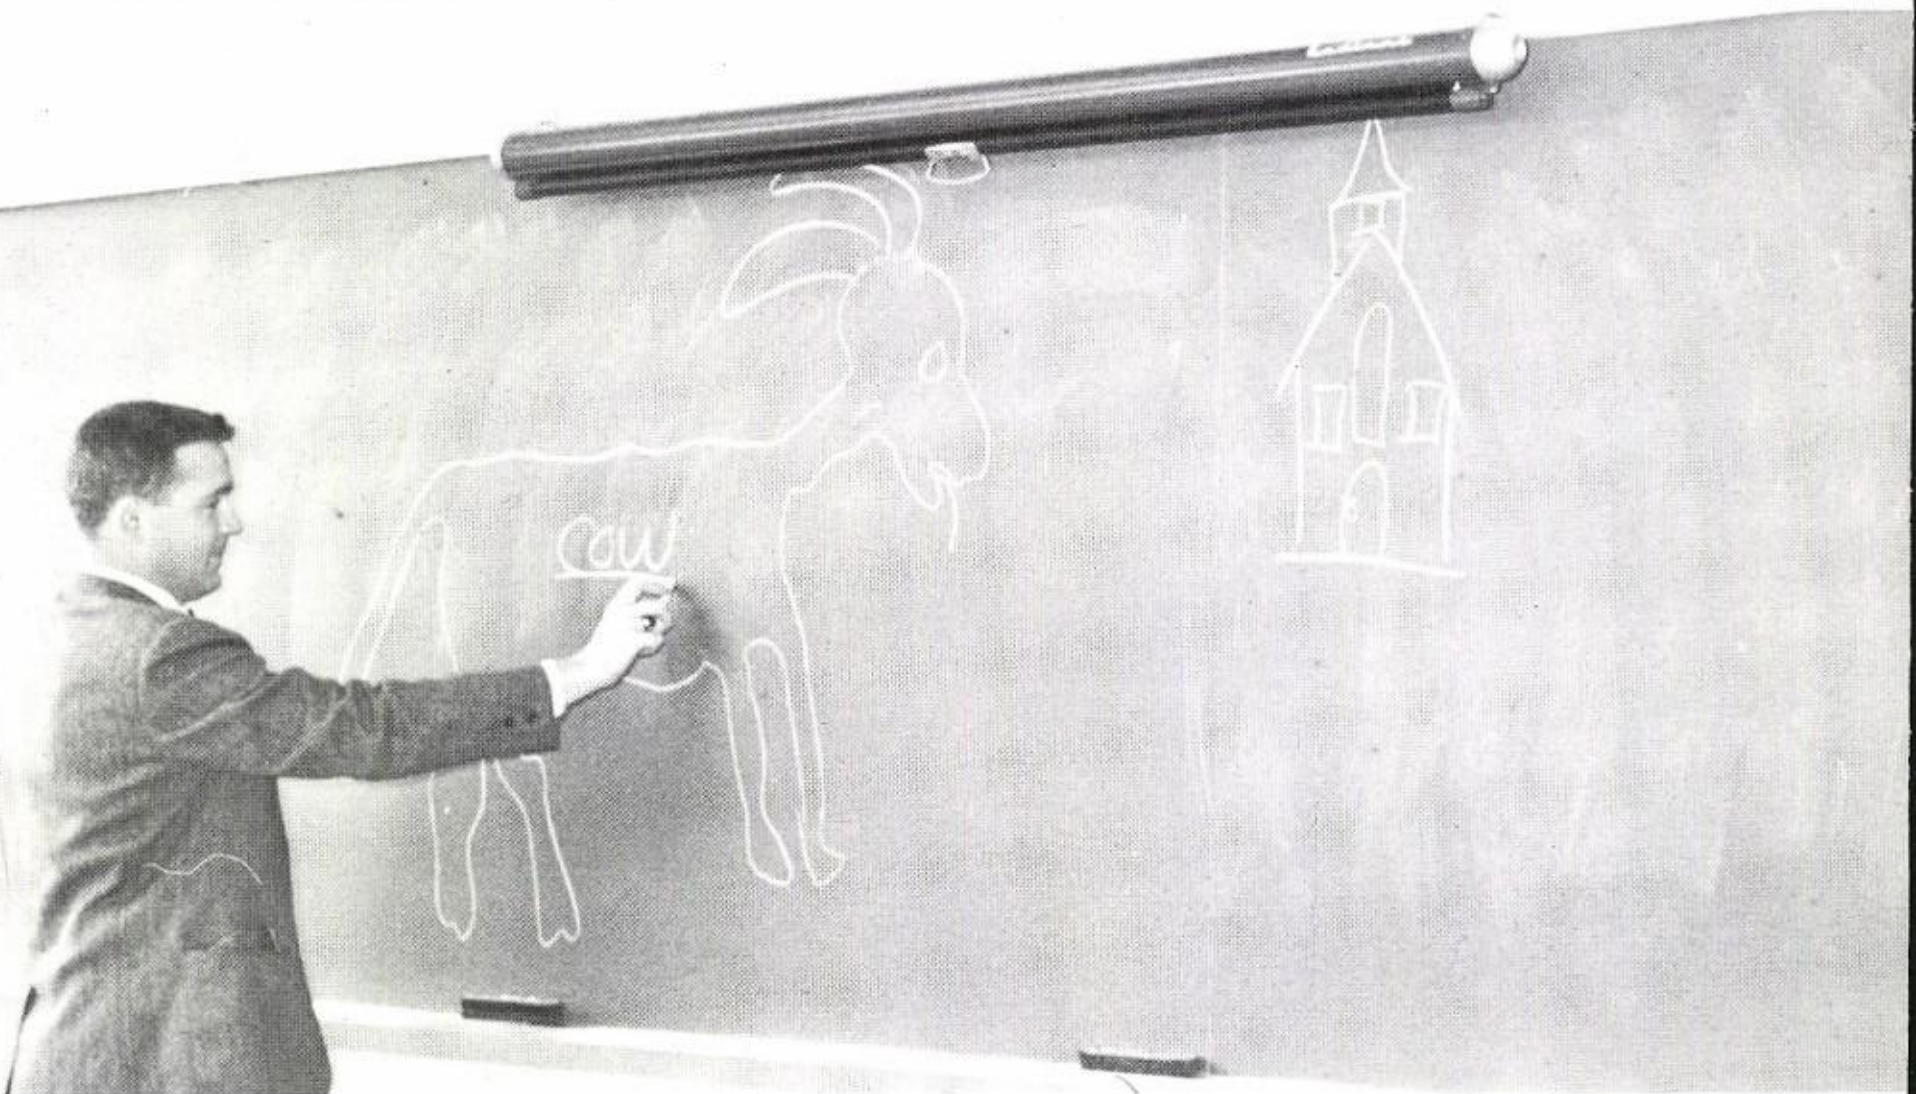

Paperbacks saw wider usage as student aids in English composition and English vocabulary. Literature classes used paperback editions of Henry IV and The Merry Wives of Windsor in the study of Shakespeare. More visual aids, including an opaque projector, were acquired for the exclusive use of the department.

In the junior high school, attempts were made to prepare students for structural linguistics by combining new and traditional approaches to English. Reading classes offered reading for understanding, word origins and listening skills.

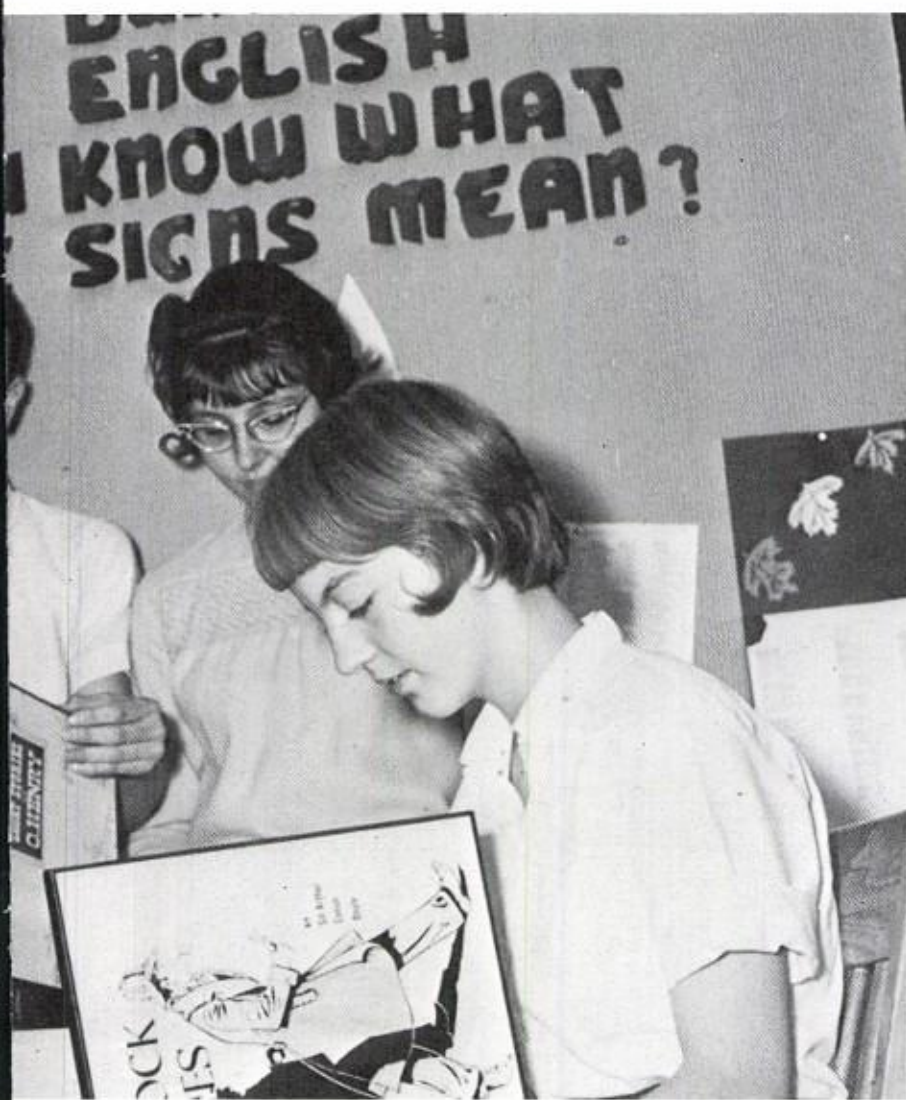

Junior high students built up their personal libraries of paperbacks through Tab book sales.

Students Measure Horsepower with Prony Brake

Mr. Baer demonstrates measurement of horsepower to Todd Spahn during a physics lab.

As science progressed in the world, so did the science department at Somerset High under the direction of Mr. Robert Rhodes, science coordinator. This year two courses were added: advanced chemistry and electronics. Their purpose was to aid students who planned to major in science. Advanced chemistry consisted of four-fifths laboratory study and one-fifth lecture. Students pursuing the electronics course built an oscilloscope, an instrument for measuring sound waves.

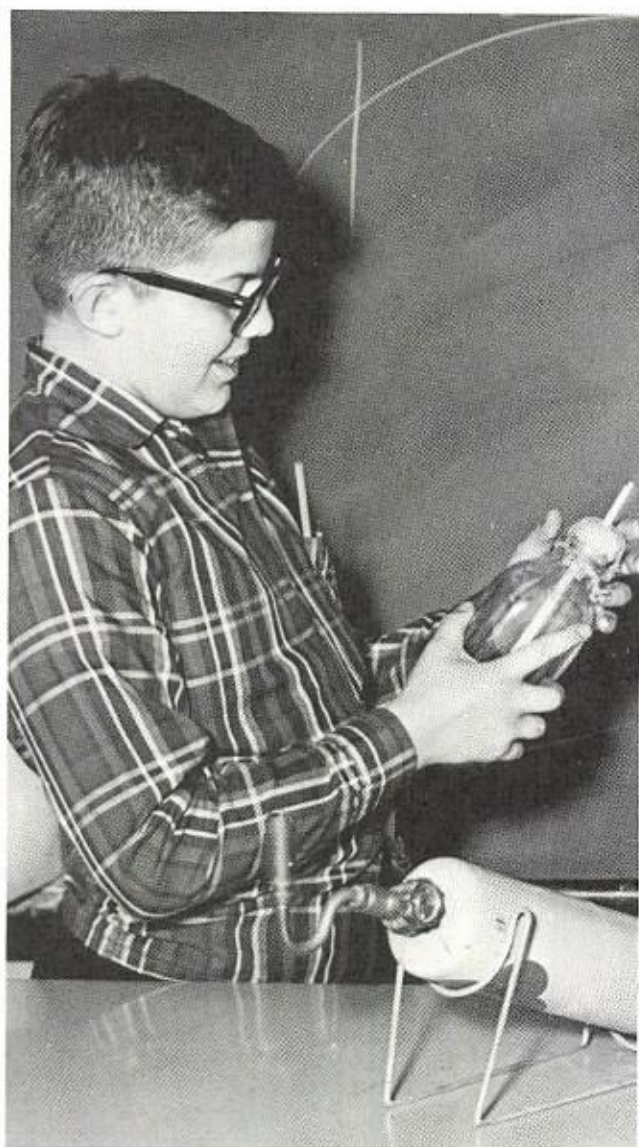

Physics students studied free falling bodies and the ballistic pendulum by experimenting in the laboratory.

The chemistry classes were introduced to the teacher-student design in the laboratory as a replacement of the laboratory manual. In contrast to previous years, emphasis was on the physical phase of chemistry. An emergency evacuation drill of the laboratory was a highlight of the year, when students carried out rescue procedures in cooperation with Somerset Community Hospital after a simulated explosion.

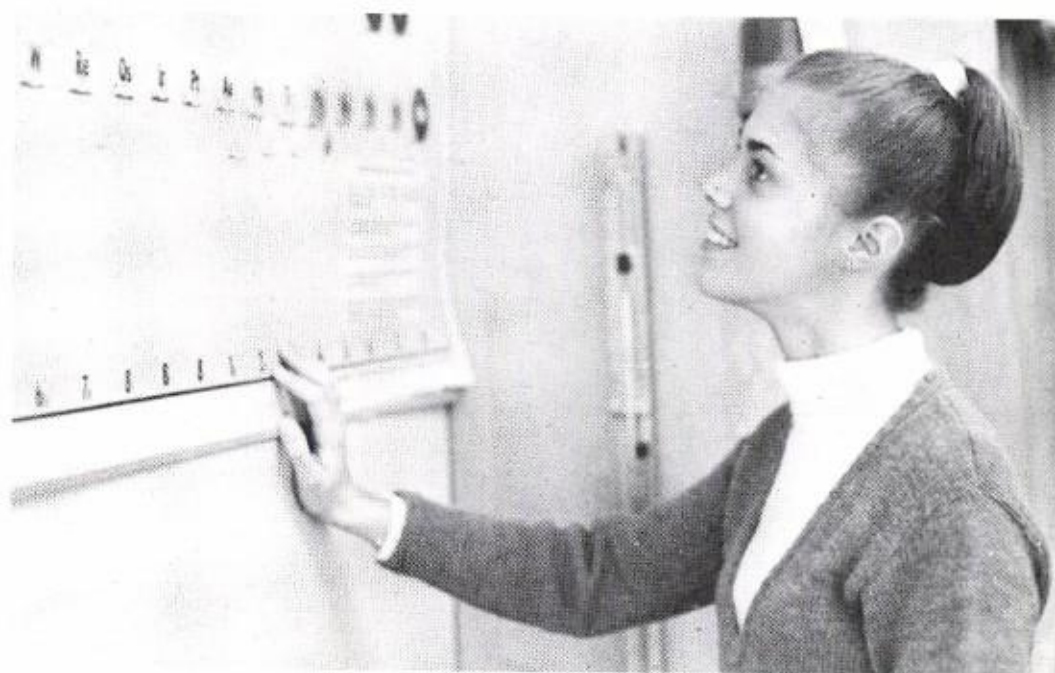

Laboratory biology featured work in bacteriology. Mr. Thomas Fridy commented, "Bacteriology gives time to concentrate on the main biological points, because it does not require much time or equipment."

Kevin Tag conducts a propane torch experiment in a general science class.

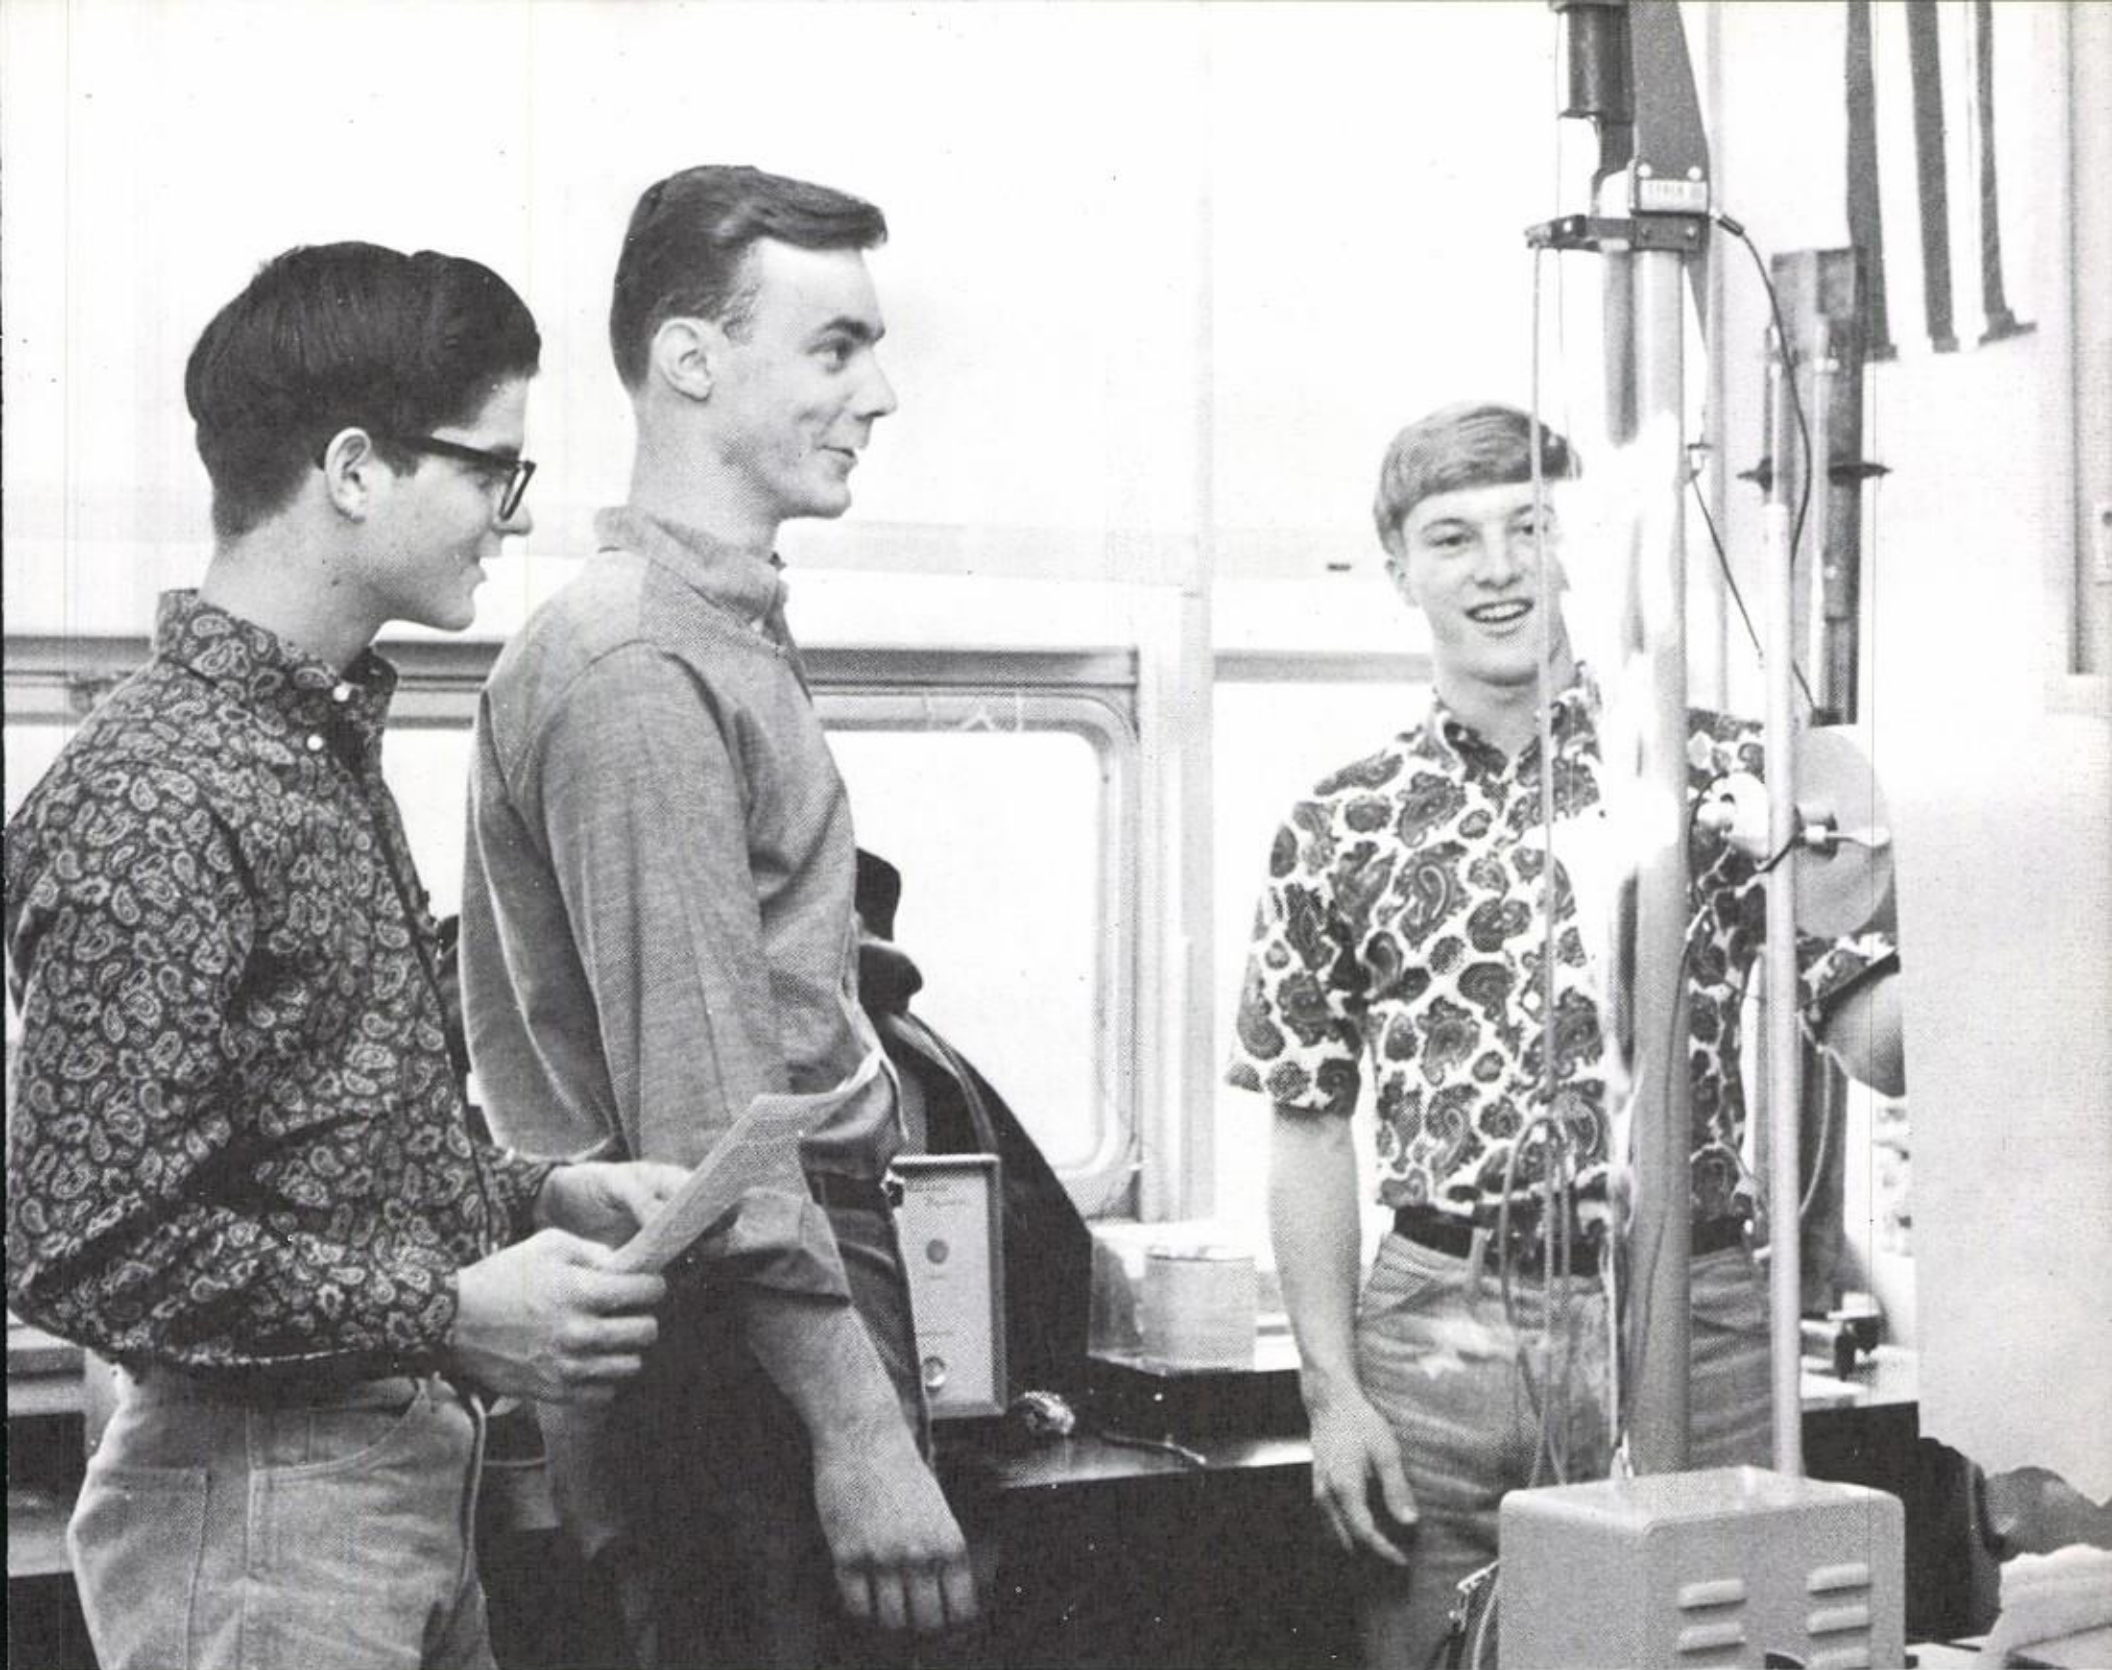

Beth Scharf learns the different sizes of ions by studying the chart in chemistry class.

Classes Imitate Gubernatorial Campaign, Voice

Tomorrow's history was in the making as students of Somerset schools learned of the past. Seventh grade students were taught ancient history of the world, while the history of America was discussed by eighth graders. Civics and Pennsylvania history had equal emphasis for freshmen.

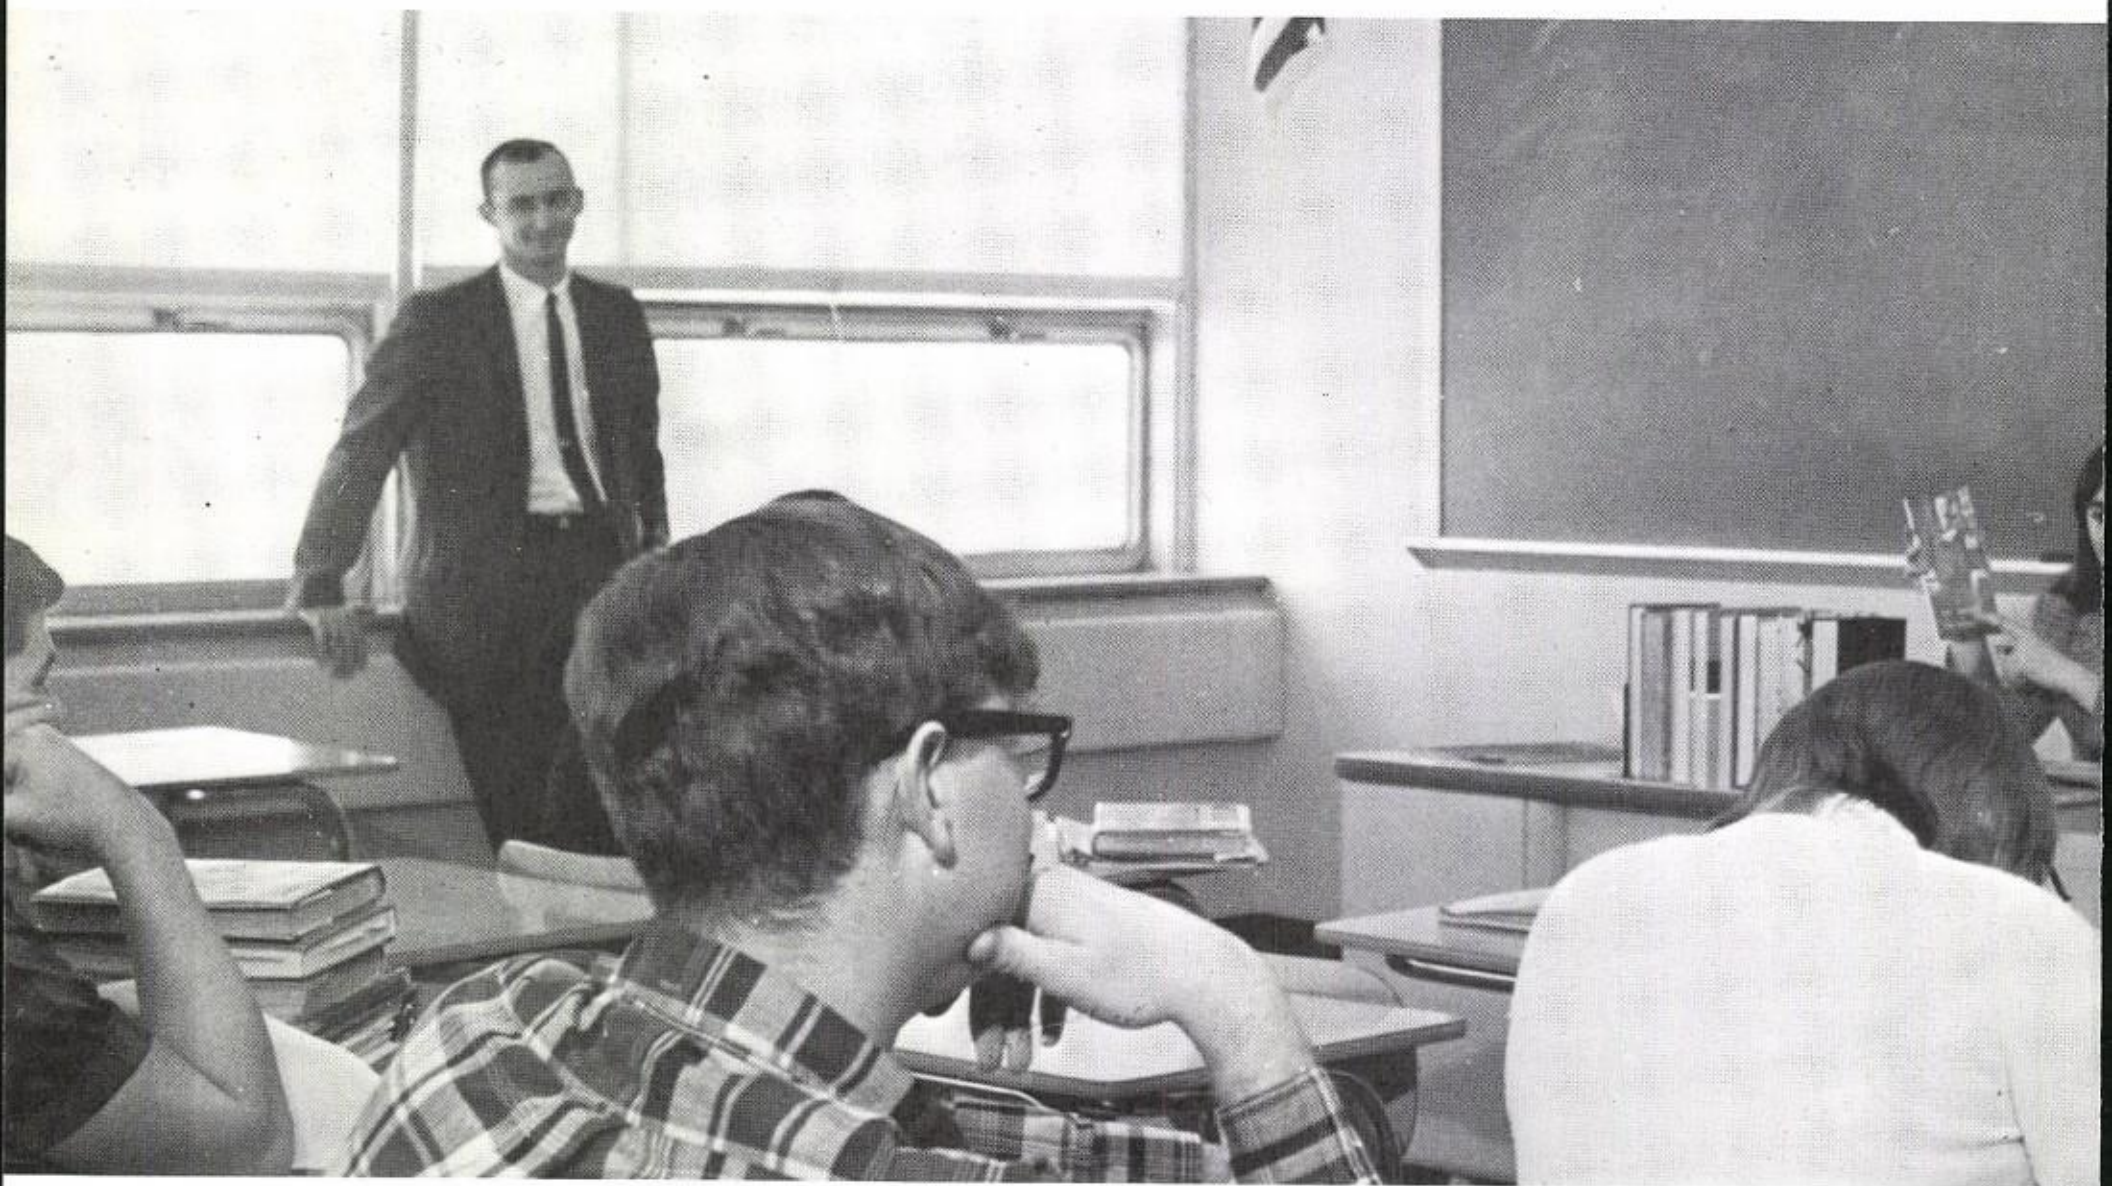

Mr. Ralph Egolf, history co-ordinator, headed the social studies department in the senior high school. Students found senior high history courses advanced versions of junior high courses. World cultures was studied by sophomores. Juniors were lectured on topics of American history. At the end of the year the boy and the girl who had shown the most proficiency in American history received the Sons of the American Revolution Award and The Daughters of the American Revolution Award. Problems of democracy and economics were pursued by seniors.

Geography courses were required for junior high classes. Movies helped the eighth graders review world geography which they had studied in seventh grade. Those who pursued the general course in the senior high attended an additional class in world geography.

German Summarizes Object of Student Teachers

Four languages other than English were offered to Somerset students. Included were Spanish, French, Latin and German.

Students began to seriously pursue the language of their choice beginning with their freshman year. Depending on the language, many continued with it for four years.

Spanish and French classes recently began forming clubs with the ultimate aim of visiting countries where their language is spoken.

Visual and audio aids, including film strips, tapes and records, helped students to gain proficiency in their language. Songs could be heard throughout the building as a portion of these countries' cultures were brought to the classroom.

This year students from Germany and Italy enrolled in our school. Through their wonderful personalities and unique backgrounds they were great helps in the German and Romance language departments.

Spanish classes were frequently visited by former residents of Mexico, Spain or South America. Among these were Miss Yothers, who had studied six months in Valladolid, Spain.

Student teachers Miss Bonita Dallas and David Fisher aided in instructing senior high German classes.

Seniors Experience Two Weeks at Work

Eyes on the book and not on the keys is emphasized in Typing II.

Determined students strive for speed and accuracy in Typing I.

Miss Brant points out the common pitfalls of operating the mimeograph machine to Renée Miller.

New teaching techniques and equipment aided business education students. A dictation lab and thirty listening stations were installed, permitting students to take dictation at their own speed. Sixteen new IBM selectric typewriters and one executive typewriter were used this year.

A new course was added in the business education department which benefited academic students as well as business students. A semester of Typing I was offered followed by a semester of notehand.

Work experience helped secretarial and clerical students to make the transition from school to job. As in past years, senior business education students worked for two different one-week periods in various business and professional institutions in the community.

Through several field trips, business students were given the opportunity to visit offices, manufacturing concerns and banks in Somerset and Pittsburgh.

650 Musicians Receive

Satisfying musical experiences marked the year's instrumental activity. Senior high band members were rewarded by the applause of audiences at football games and the spring concert. A new dance band entertained at Somerset's Winter Carnival. The orchestra provided music for Baccalaureate and Commencement. Newly organized, the Roof Garden Folk Singers performed at school and community functions, including Somerset's Maple Princess contest and County Institute.

Junior high football games were enlivened by the junior band. Music appreciation was stressed in junior high classes. 650 students took lessons in preparation for membership in musical groups and for personal musical growth.

"The learned understand the reason of art, the unlearned feel the pleasure."—Quintilian. Somerset art students felt satisfaction as onlookers admired their work.

Art classes under Mr. Beal spearheaded the Christmas decoration of halls, doors and windows in the senior high.

Students experimented with various media: ceramics, jewelry and papier mache. They demonstrated their talents by designing programs, bulletin boards and stage scenery.

Recently acquired at the junior high was a pottery wheel which has made ceramics an addition to the course. Mrs. Weible and Mr. Hinzy oversee the junior high art program.

Sportsmanlike driving was stressed this year as sophomores participated in highway safety classes. Driver courtesy and studies concerning "right of way" were introduced to future drivers.

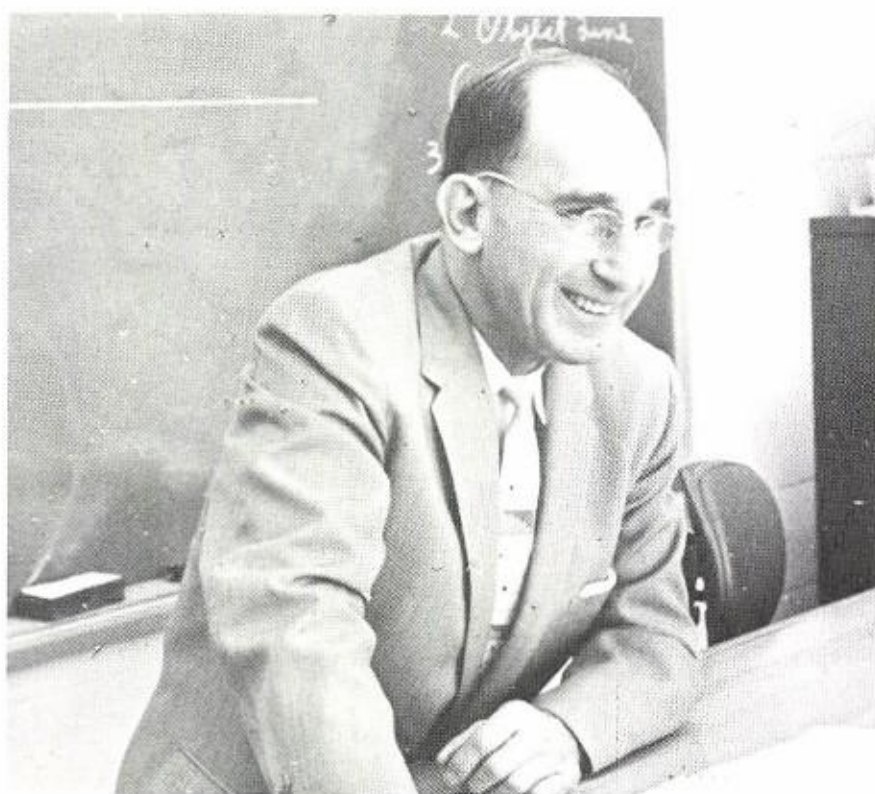

As elective classes, two courses in road training were offered to students. Actual behind-the-wheel experience in driving problems was gained by the participants. Upon completion of the course and a successful performance in the state drivers examination, students were presented with certificates of merit in the field of driving.

Industrials Manufacture Miniature Phone Parts

As nine-week courses offered to junior high students, wood shop or metal shop occupied the boys, while home economics was pursued by the girls. Correct procedures in the use of tools and utensils were stressed along with safety tips.

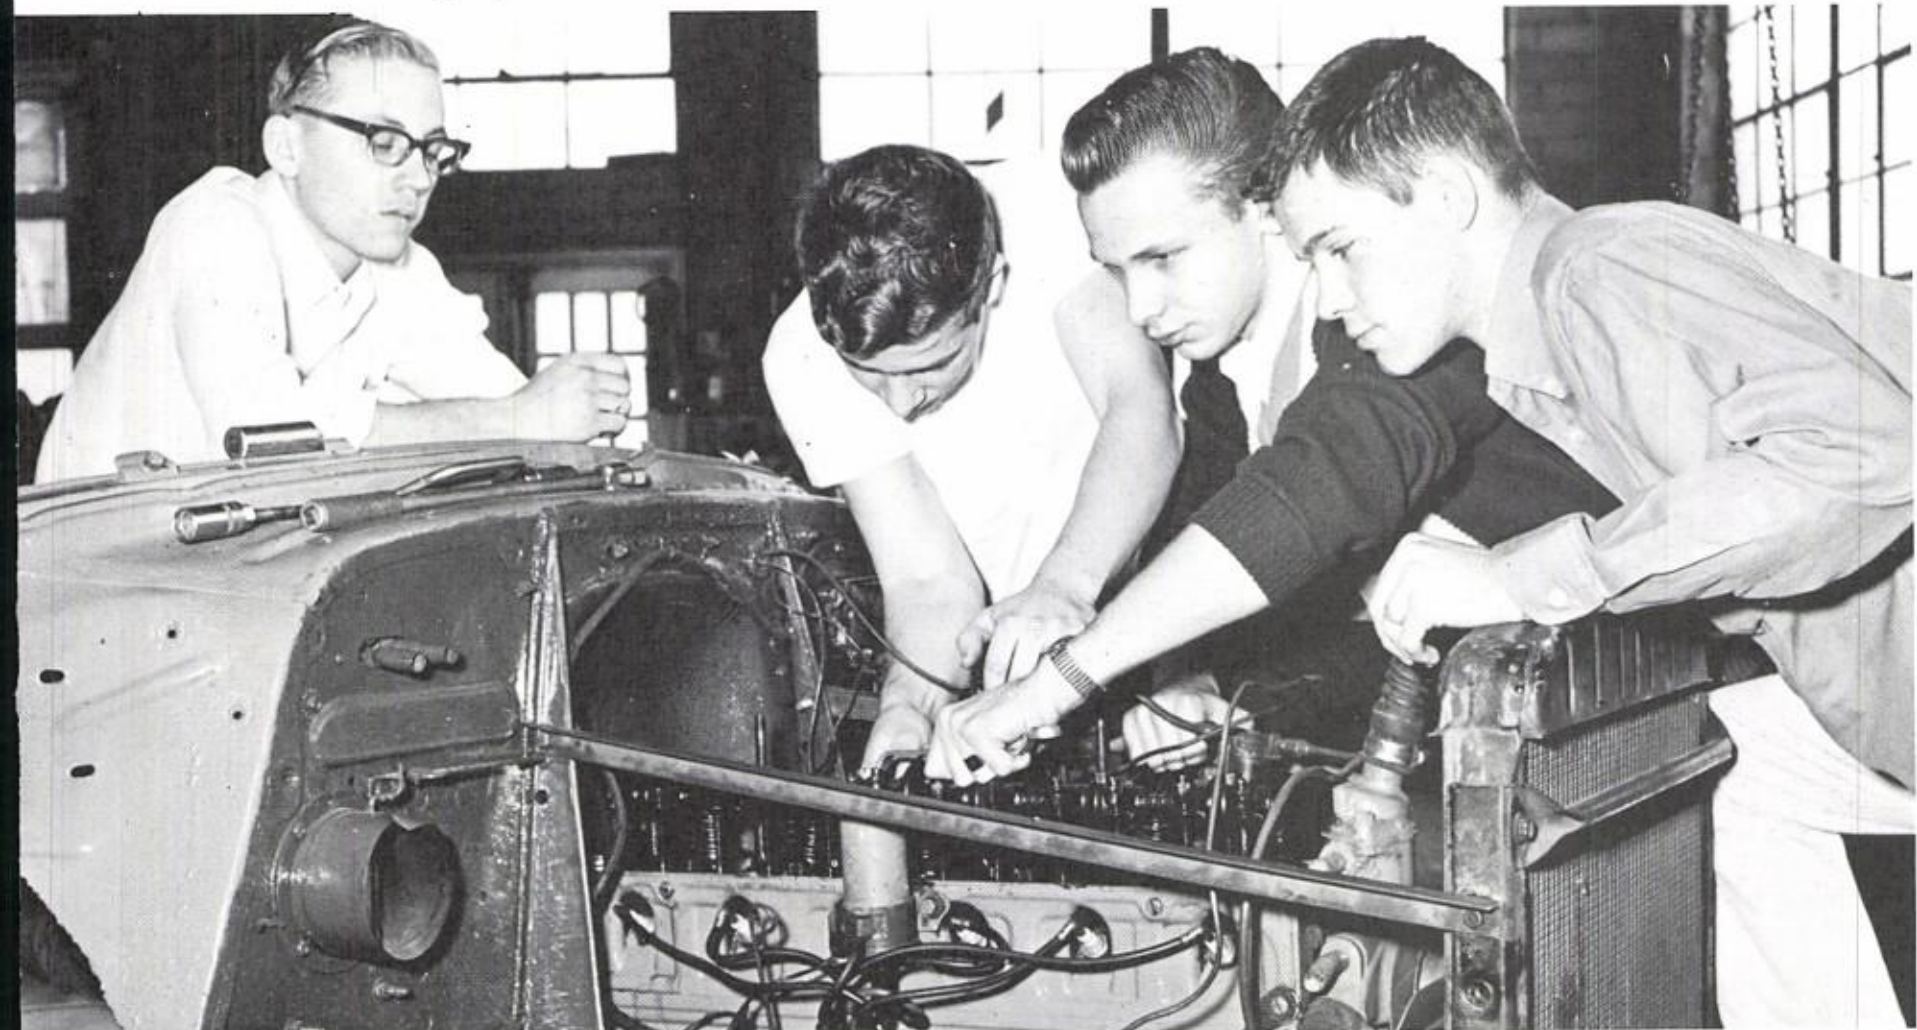

Students with a desire for vocational specialization elected such courses in the senior high. In the field of agriculture emphasis was placed on off-the-farm occupations. A miniature telephone was introduced to the machine shop to give the boys experience in the machining process. All boys participated, each developing his own assigned feature in the manufacture of the miniature phone. In the metal and wood shops students selected projects on an individual basis. An entirely new design for a disc sander and grinder was developed by the metal shop crew. For girls interested in home economics, the fields of advanced sewing and home arts were of prime importance.

Providing future employers with a supply of skilled workers was the goal of the vocational department. Its numerous rewards were highlighted by the feeling of accomplishment which came with the successful completion of work projects.

In preparation for physical fitness tests given at the end of the second semester, senior and junior high students began all gym classes with calisthenics.

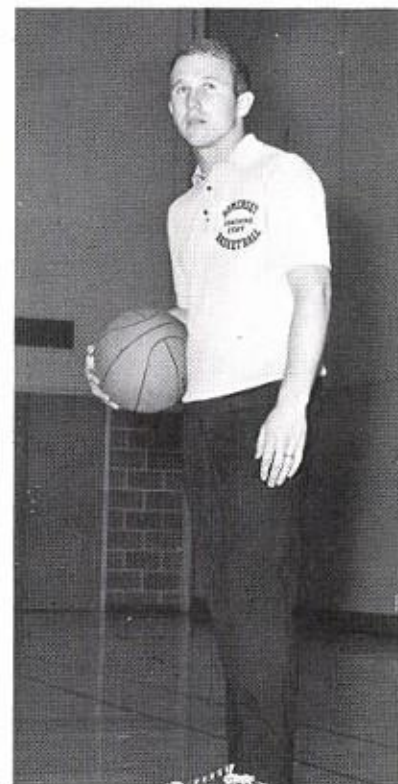

Senior high girls, directed by Mrs. Ruth Coleman, were taught sports that would benefit them after graduation. Correct form and procedures were stressed in archery, golf and bowling.

Emphasis on speed and individual concentration proved effective as Mr. Lynn Fraley taught speedball and handball to senior high boys.

Mrs. Betty Scharf stressed teamwork in teaching soccer and softball to junior high girls.

Sophomores Pursue Health

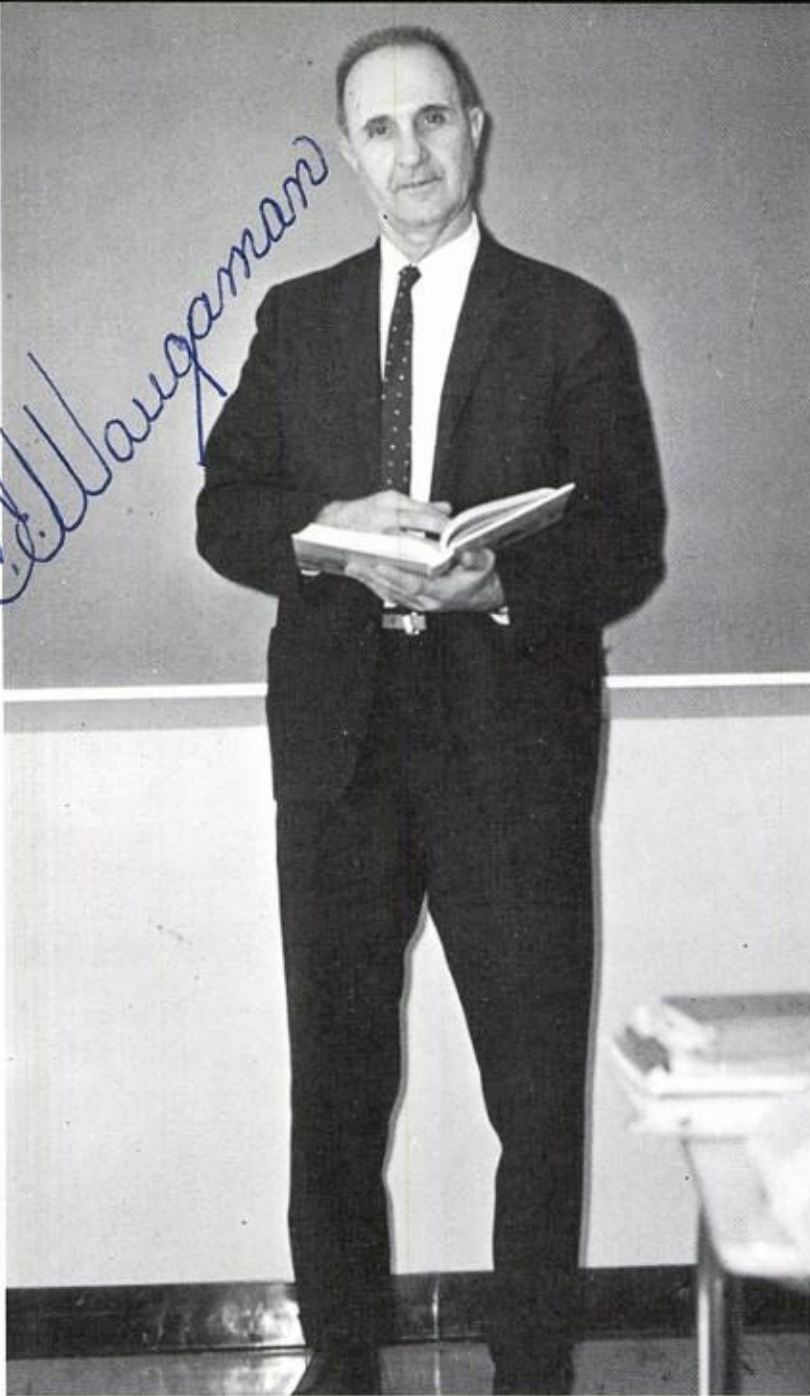

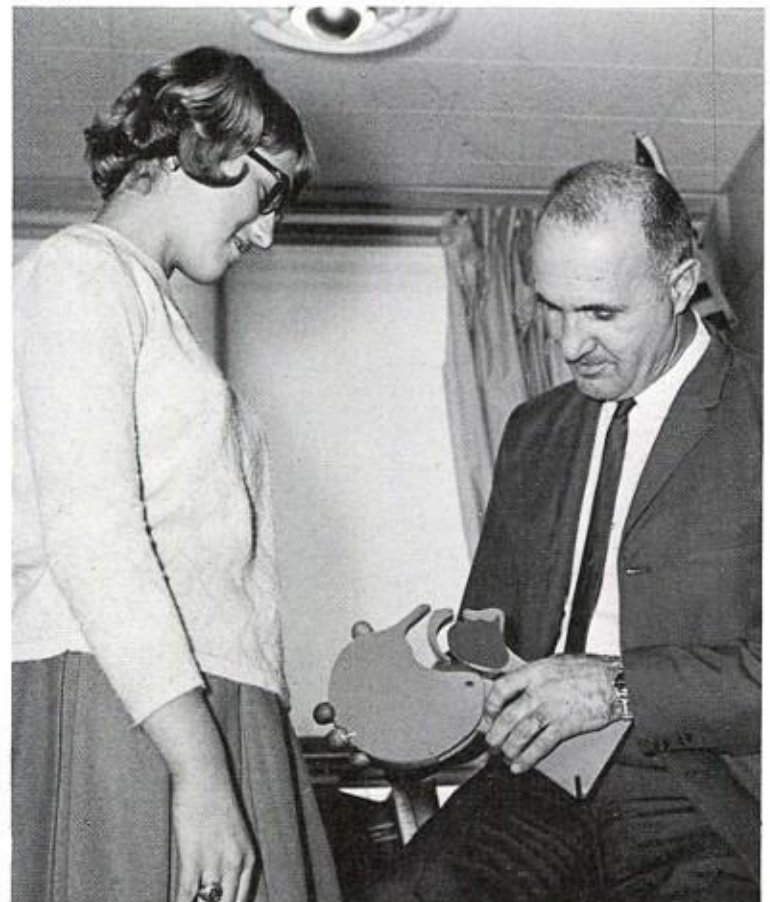

During their sophomore year, students learned the various systems of the human body and their functions. Emphasis was placed on first aid to prepare students for any emergencies they might encounter. The health dummy, known as the "Resusci-Anne," was used in teaching correct procedures in giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Your Health and Safety illustrated the structure of the human body and the design of the organs. Stress was placed on maintaining a good diet.

Junior High health was taught in a "block", which consisted of nine weeks. Seventh, eighth and ninth grade students studied the function and the structure of the brain. Another topic of interest was diseases and their cures.

By observing Miss Hardy's demonstration in health class, students become familiar with an organ of the body.

Class of '67 Hits $12,500 Mark in Magazine Sale

The 1967 seniors have met many challenges and achieved many goals.

Noteworthy were letters of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Foundation awarded to Julie Bowser, Beverly Fisher and Dawn Seese. Amy Hay was chosen Maid-of-Honor to Queen Maple XX. James Pritts attended the National Conference on the Atom. Karen Prokop and Jack Biancotti were winners in the University of Pittsburgh Scholastic Quiz.

Seniors went $1,290 over their goal in the magazine sales campaign. "Rally Round the Flag Boys" was a successful class play. The varsity cheerleading squad consisted entirely of seniors.

As a team the seniors accomplished much; now as individuals they will strive to attain their separate goals.

Senior Leaders Honored

Jim Pritts was the senior who led the class academically. Offices he held include treasurer of National Honor Society, president of Mu Alpha Theta and president of Deutscher Verein. A member of the Somerset County Science Seminar, he was named the 1966 Penelec delegate to the National Youth Conference on the Atom at Chicago. Jim will attend Penn State to study chemical engineering.

Mary Jane Shaulis, named the outstanding commercial senior, was president of the Future Business Leaders of America, Eaglet business manager and recipient of the eighth grade spelling award. As a secretary for the law firm of Fike, Cascio, and Boose, Mary utilized her skills through part-time employment. Her future plans include a continuation of her present position or attending Cambria Rowe Business College.

Outstanding vocational agriculture senior for 1967 is Wayne Yoder. He was president of the local Future Farmers of America chapter and sentinel of the county chapter. Wayne was awarded the Keystone Farmer Degree at the 1967 Pennsylvania State Farm Show in Harrisburg. Forming a farming partnership with his father is his goal for the future.

as Outstanding Students in Respective Courses

Outstanding seniors find that one thing they have in common is preparing a P.O.D. report.

Margie Barron was chosen as the senior student excelling in the field of vocational home economics. She was the active president of the Future Homemakers of America, a member of Health Careers Club and a participant in Pep Club. Square dancing, cooking and sewing are among her hobbies. Margie's future plans include studying practical nursing at Greensburg Hospital, followed by work in that field.

Roger Stahl was chosen 1967's outstanding senior in the industrial field. Since enrolling in the machine shop course, he has learned skills basic to any trade or occupation as well as traits of citizenship. In his spare time Roger enjoys hunting, baseball, football and other outdoor sports. His future plans are now indefinite.

Honored Seniors Accept Service Club Invitations

Seniors of Somerset High were privileged to speak at many community service club meetings during the past year. Monthly the Lion's Club, the Jaycees, the Rotary, the Kiwanis, the Soroptomists, and the Business and Professional Women's Club each invited a senior to attend their meetings. Representatives spoke on topics of their own choice.

Character, leadership, scholarship, and service to school and community exemplified these seniors. Guests of the B.P.W. were chosen by the faculty, while student Lions, Jaycees, Rotarians, and Soroptomists were elected by their classmates. Members of the Key Club selected senior Kiwanians.

Juniors Impatiently Await Arrival of Class Rings

Class members received their first college board scores in January. At the end of the first semester five percent of the class became members of National Honor Society. Qualified Journalism I students were inducted into Quill and

Anxiously the juniors awaited the arrival of their class rings in May. During the same month they were hosts at the Junior Prom presented for the graduating seniors.

Junior class officers are Mr. Paul Beal, sponsor; James Cascio, president; Henry Zuccolotto, vice-president; Douglas Berkley, secretary; and Donald Derencin, treasurer.

ACTIVITIES

Eaglet Rates "Medalist"

Editor-in-Chief Amy Hay and Copy Editor Rebecca Welch headed the literary staff of the 1967 Eaglet. Advised by Mrs. Phyllis Cindric, the staff endeavored to surpass the high standards established by previous yearbooks.

In preparation for work on the book, Journalism I students studied yearbook construction through the use of a new text, Creating The Yearbook. In August Amy Hay and Judy Lafferty received new ideas by attending a yearbook journalism workshop at Kent State University.

Seven sections composed the literary staff: academic, activities, athletics, index, seniors, underclasses and photography. Staff members reviewed the curriculum of classes and highlighted the main objective of school life, which is learning. Extracurricular events carried out by clubs and organizations were summarized and sports events covered.

Providing for the financial needs of the yearbook was the purpose of the business staff. Headed by Business Manager Mary Jane Shaulis and Assistant Manager Connie Hunter, the staff sponsored the senior sale of magazines, contacted individual and commercial patrons, and sold yearbook subscriptions. Miss Marie Brant advised this staff.

The 1966 Eaglet received an A+ rating from the National School Yearbook Association and a Medalist Award from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, the highest ratings these two organizations bestow on scholastic publications.

Candy Miller, photography editor, types a schedule for Mr. Gradler to follow in taking pictures.

The yearbook room becomes a busy place when staff editors meet with Mrs. Cindric to plan assignments and clear bottlenecks.

Stephanie White instructs staff members as to their assignments in the next edition of the Eagle's Echo.

A regular addition to the Eagles's Echo is a cartoon which Randy Spencer and Sharon Pyle work on jointly.

Editor Stephanie White admires the fine job her staff has done on the last issue of the Eagle's Echo.

Eagle's Echo Promotes Safety Week Competition

Published monthly by the Journalism II classes, the self-supporting Eagle's Echo informed students and faculty of current school events.

A section totally devoted to Christmas Greetings purchased by homerooms, organizations and individual students augmented the Christmas edition of the Eagle's Echo.

The staff sponsored Safety Week from February 5 to 11. Each day a sportsmanlike driver was chosen. Contests were held to determine the best bulletin boards, safety slogans and limericks.

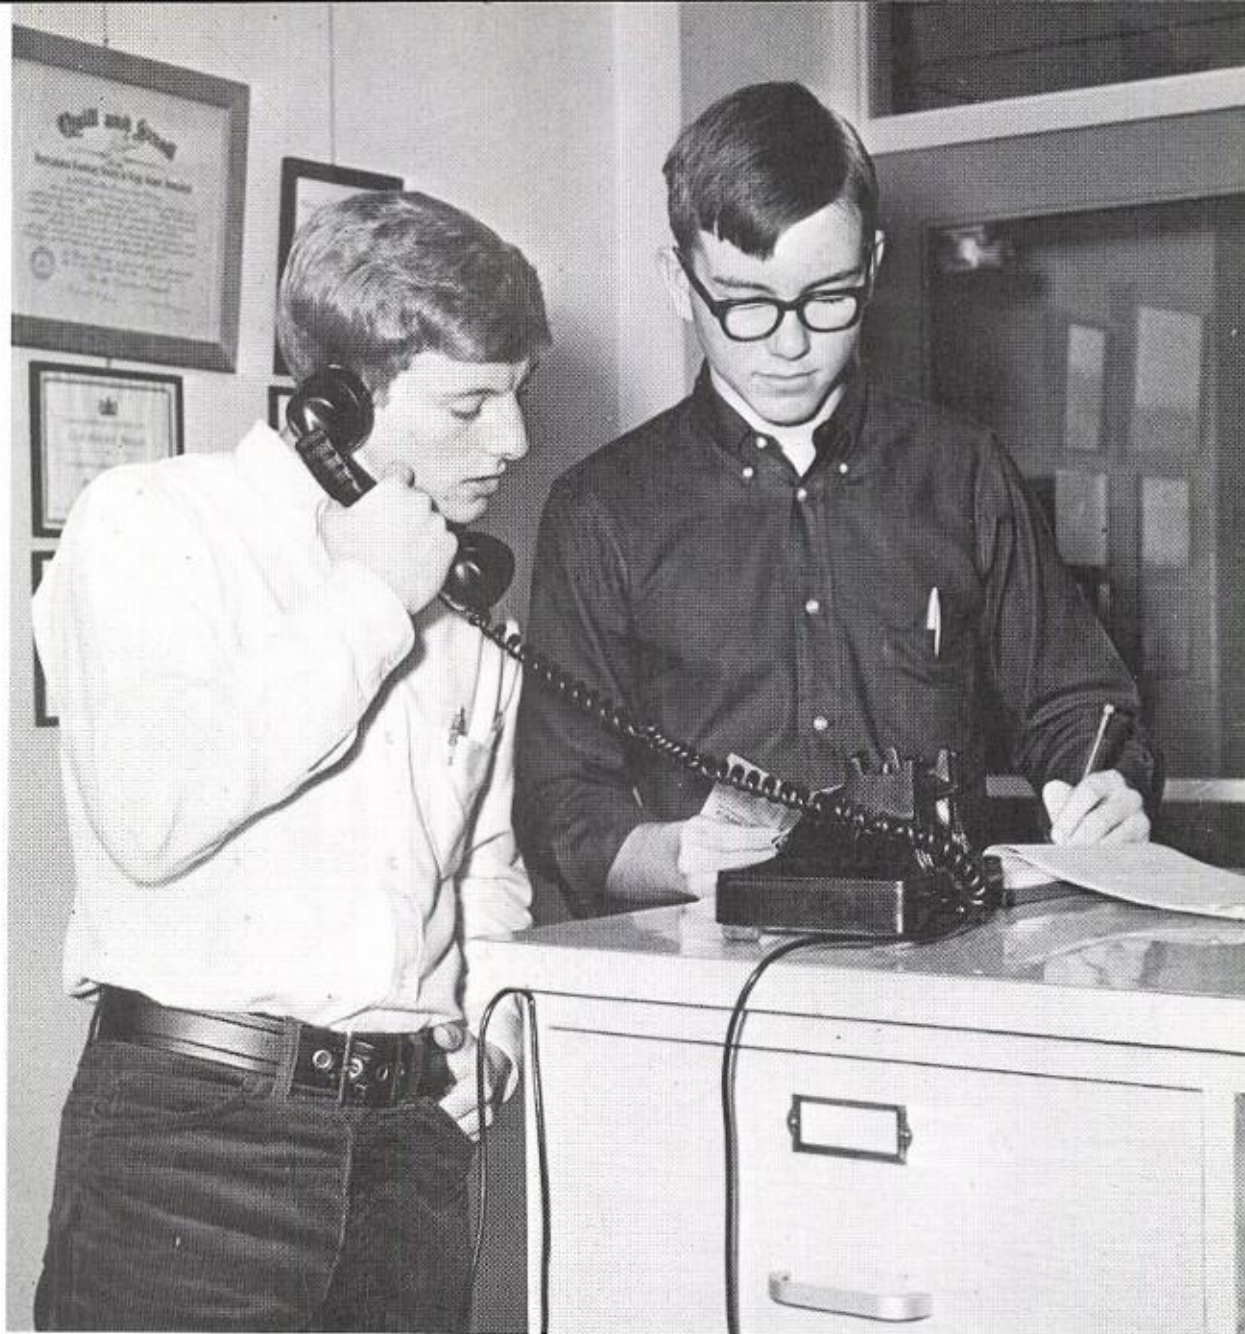

Circulated in both the junior and senior high buildings, the Eagle's Echo received first place in the International Honor Award ratings of the Quill and Scroll and the All-American award from the National Scholastic Press Association. Mr. Jay Christner advised the staff.

Key Club Assists Kiwanis With Halloween Parade

Ron Igou helps Mr. Joseph at the concession stand during a football game for the benefit of the Key Club.

Under the advisorship of Mr. Max Ankney, Key Clubbers enthusiastically served the school and the community this year. Members commenced the year by repainting the lines and numbers on the school parking lot. During the home football games they sold programs and worked in the concession stand.

Among other projects, club members held a rummage sale this summer and assisted the Somerset Kiwanis Club during the annual Halloween Parade and in the annual bell-ringing for the Salvation Army during the Christmas Holidays.

Every month the Key Club selected a senior club member to attend the Kiwanis meetings of that month as a guest of their sponsoring group.

Key Club officers include Dave Neilan, sergeant-at-arms; Jim Cascio, vice-president; Greg Pile, president; Glenn Miller, treasurer; and John Johnson, secretary.

Miss Ruth Barkley leads the club in the discussion of a Teen Talk topic at a meeting.

Tri-Hi-Y Heads CARE

Building good Christian character was the principal aim of the Tri-Hi-Y. Various speakers from Somerset County discussed the problems facing today's teenagers through the Teen Talk program.

Under the advisorship of Miss Ruth Barkley, the club sponsored its annual CARE drive. Money collected was sent to several overseas countries. Aiding in the Heart Fund Drive and the Poppy Sale were other service projects which the club carried out.

Barb Pile, Alice Hostetler, Donna Griffith, Lynda Barton, Karen Trexel and Debbie Barron served as officers in 1966-67.

Hi-Y Models Legislature

Sponsored by Mr. William Kuhlman, the Roof Garden Hi-Y Club endeavored to create and maintain high standards of Christian character throughout the school and community.

Officers attended a training program in Butler during the summer. Representatives participated in the annual model legislature in Harrisburg. The club pledged its support to the World Service Fund of the Y.M.C.A.

In conjunction with the Tri-Hi-Y the club sponsored Y.M.C.A. Teen Talk programs and CARE Week. During CARE Week the Hi-Y held a faculty-student basketball game.

Hi-Y officers were: president, Glenn Peiffer; vice-president, James Tall; secretary, Glenn Miller; treasurer, Richard Adams; and chaplain, Fred Oehling.

Hi-Y President Pete Peiffer and Sponsor Mr. Kuhlman discuss the Teen Talk program for February.

Seminar Hears Speakers

Seven students from Somerset Area High School participated in Science Seminar this year. Total seminar enrollment listed thirty-five students from ten schools throughout the county. The purpose of the program was to give interested advanced students deeper understanding in the field of science.

Twelve sessions were established for the seminar, each having a speaker who explained his field of work in depth. On field trips the students visited such places as the American Telephone and Telegraph towers near Jennerstown and the data processing center of Penelec in Johnstown. Mr. Thomas Fridy acted as co-ordinator of the program for the second consecutive year.

Dave Neilan becomes even more interested in fruit flies as Mr. Fridy explains the various possibilities for cross breeding.

Advanced Math Students Organize Mu Alpha Theta

Composed of advanced math students, Mu Alpha Theta met every Friday eighth period. Students presented programs on topics such as probability, pi, magic squares and analytic geometry. The club prepared a window display for American Education Week.

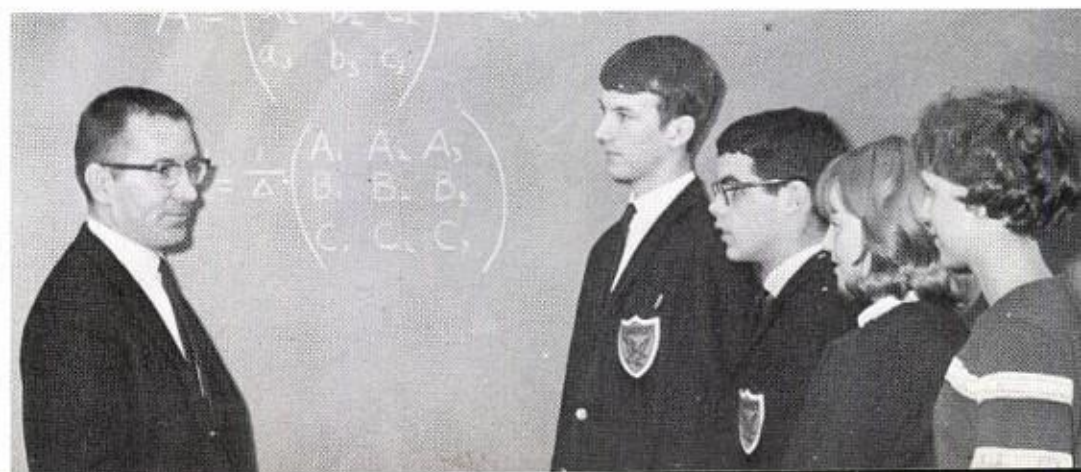

A touring college professor, Mr. George Novack from California State College, spoke to the club on opportunities in mathematics. A question and answer period followed his talk.

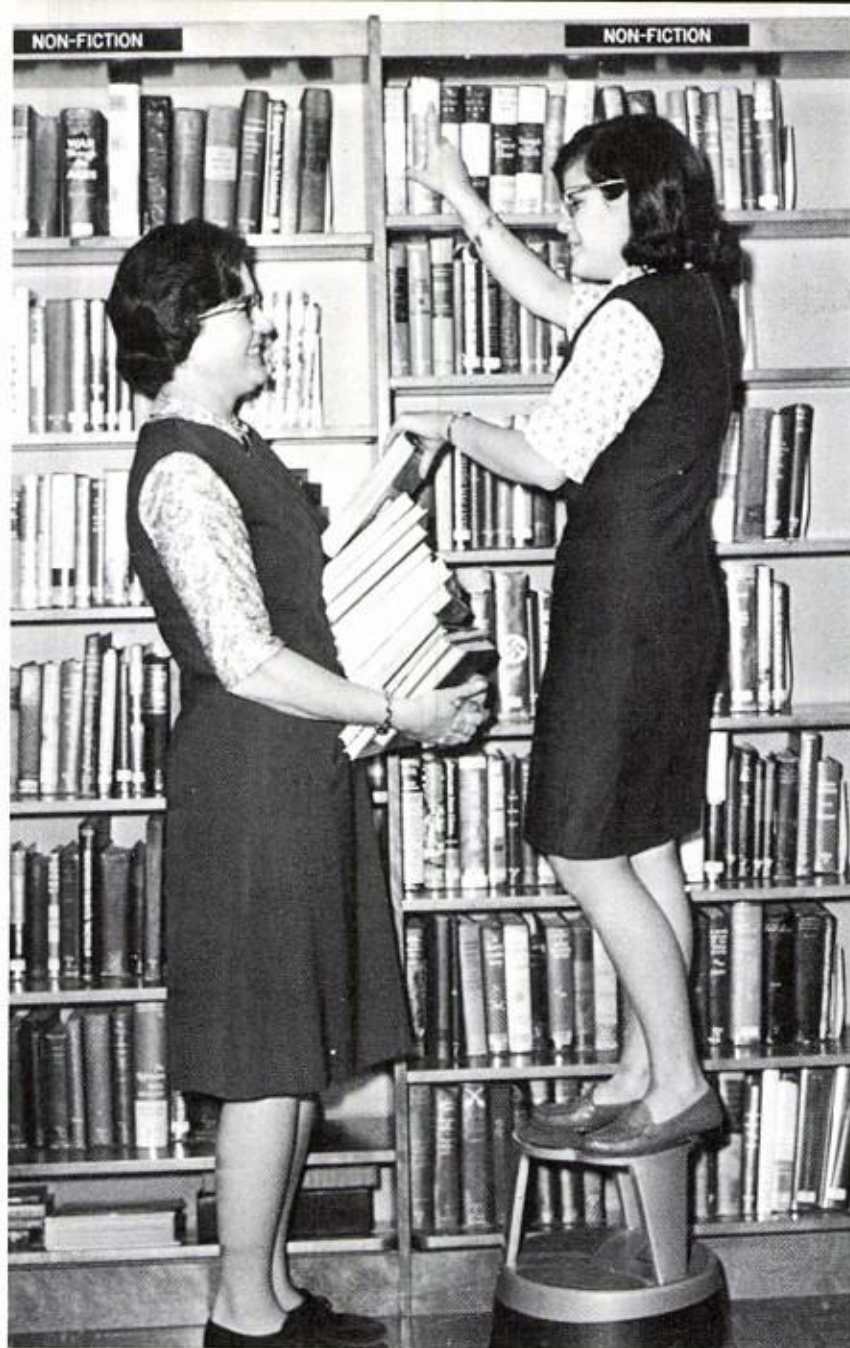

Mr. William Kuhlman advised the club. Officers were James Pritts, president; Karen Prokop, vice-president; Gregory Pile, treasurer; and Elaine Eichorn, secretary.

Members of Mu Alpha Theta Jim Pritts, Mike Devlin, Elaine Eichorn and Karen Prokop learn from Mr. Kuhlman of some methods used to solve advanced math problems.

Mrs. Halverson and Amy Pucci reshelve books returned to the library.

Stripers Aid at Hospital

Girls between the ages of fifteen and eighteen regularly assisted at the Somerset Community Hospital week nights and Saturday afternoons. Bedmaking, feeding helpless patients and serving juice and crackers after meals were several of the responsibilities of the Candy Stripers.

Awards were given for hours of service in the hospital. Girls who worked fifty hours earned a cap, while a pin and a cap were the awards given for one hundred hours of service. The highest aim of the girls was to work one-hundred-fifty hours and earn a pin, a cap and a bracelet.

Group sponsor was the Somerset Community Hospital.

Club Assists in Library

Members of the Library Club gained experience in library work by acting as student assistants. Each month a committee set up a bookcase display and a bulletin board in the school library. A monthly program featuring literary entertainment was presented. The group sponsored a Christmas door-decorating contest to create Christmas spirit. The club attended the Somerset-Cambria County Teenage Library Conference at Windber on May 5.

Mrs. Martha Halverson advised the club. Ramona Faulkner, Patricia Faidley, Linda Gnegy and Renee Miller served as president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Candy Stripers, Sherry Saylor and Linda Cober do everything to make their patient comfortable.

Crews Assist Bloodmobile

Helping with the annual membership drive of the American Red Cross headed the year's club activities. In addition to calling blood donors, the members assisted at the bloodmobile. Parties were also given for the patients of the State Hospital.

Grove City was the site of a workshop at which members developed communication, leadership and feedback.

Kiwanis Club was the sponsor of the group.

Red Cross worker Sherry Saylor stores bed linen at the State Hospital.

Club Visits County Home

Giving a Christmas party for occupants of the County Home at Berlin highlighted activities of the Health Careers Club. Visits were also made to Children's Hospital and Presbyterian Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Members of the club aided in the making and folding of cancer badges.

Guest speakers affiliated with the medical field showed films and gave demonstrations at club meetings.

Officers were Stephanie White, president; Joan Barnett, vice-president; Marlene Wilson, treasurer; and Leslie Kunkel, historian. Mrs. Ida Mae Barnett and Mrs. Shirley Keafer, school nurses, sponsored the club.

Kerrie Pile takes the temperature of injured football player Bob Dinsmore while Susan Saylor, Janice Sible and Gloria Shaffer watch intently.

Kendy Felgar earns valuable experience in child care.

Diane Talbert draws the name of her teacher guest for the American Education Week tea given by the club.

F.T.A. Members Experience Day of Cadet Teaching

FTA officers Marilyn Weaver, Pam Moyer, Debbie Barron and Elaine Eichorn study state conference program notes.

Dona Smith lists the entrance requirements at Indiana University during a club meeting.

Teaching as a possible career was explored by the Future Teachers of America under the sponsorship of Mrs. Pauline Glessner and Miss E. Marie Brant. The roll listed thirty-three active members and twenty-five associate members. Active members spent a day of cadet teaching in the elementary schools. During April, Teaching Career Month, each member spent one day with a teacher, observing and teaching. The F.T.A. went on a field trip to Juniata College and sent delegates to the F.T.A. State Conference at Harrisburg.

Officers were: Elaine Eichorn, president; Deborah Barron, vice-president; Pamela Moyer, secretary; and Marilyn Weaver, treasurer.

Mrs. Pauline Glessner discusses the county convention with County President Karen Trexel.

FHA officers Margie Barron, Diane Custer and Gloria Rhodes pause during a planning conference with Mrs. Llorra Moyer, their advisor.

Homemakers Sell Candy

By working on individual and group projects, members of the Future Homemakers of America prepared themselves for a future in the field of homemaking. Members set high standards and worked for maximum efficiency.

Activities included the making and selling of Christmas candy and the sponsorship of four faculty teas. The club planned to send delegates to the State Convention at Pennsylvania State University in June of 1967.

Mrs. Llorra Moyer sponsored the FHA. Officers were Margie Barron, president; Gloria Rhodes, vice-president; Diane Custer, secretary; Betty Thompson, treasurer; Linda Cober, historian; and Gloria Smith, reporter.

Somerset Youths Earn Keystone Farmer Degree

Through numerous projects the Future Farmers of America developed leadership and citizenship in rural life. State conventions at Penn State University and Harrisburg and the National Convention at Kansas City, Missouri, highlighted the year.

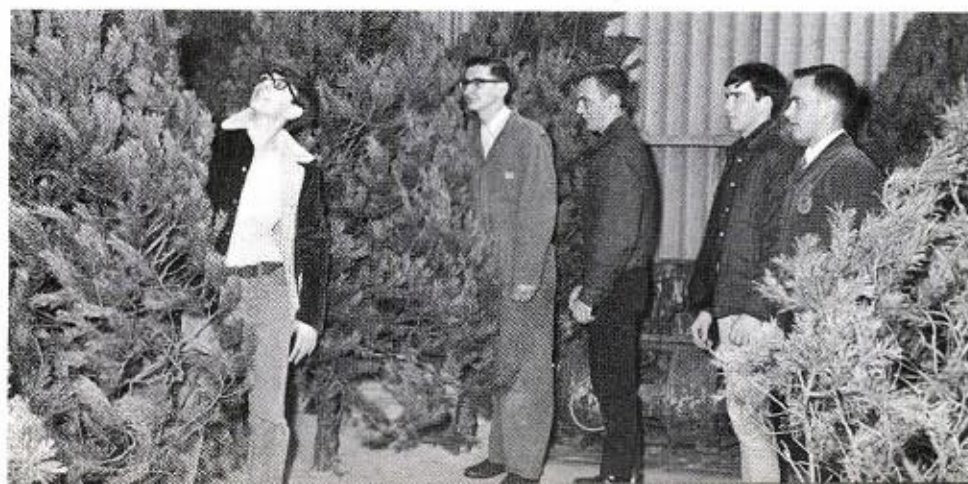

Five hundred flower bulbs were planted by FFA members at Maple Ridge School. Their annual sale of Christmas trees was a success. Outstanding FFAers Wayne Yoder and Barrie Barron received the Keystone Farmer degree at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show. Barrie also won the area Pennsylvania Electric Association Farm Mechanics Award.

Club Carols at Hospital

Under the direction of Mrs. Colette Sherren, the French Club published a newspaper, "L'Aigle Francais," ("The French Eagle") for distribution to French students. The club achieved a better understanding of France, its language and its culture through the paper's publication.

Club members spread the Christmas spirit by caroling at the State hospital. A trip to Quebec, Canada was planned for the summer of 1967.

Linda Latshaw, Stephanie White, Shari Schrock, Donna Griffith and Greg Rascona read the first edition of "L'Aigle Francais."

Verein Meets Monthly

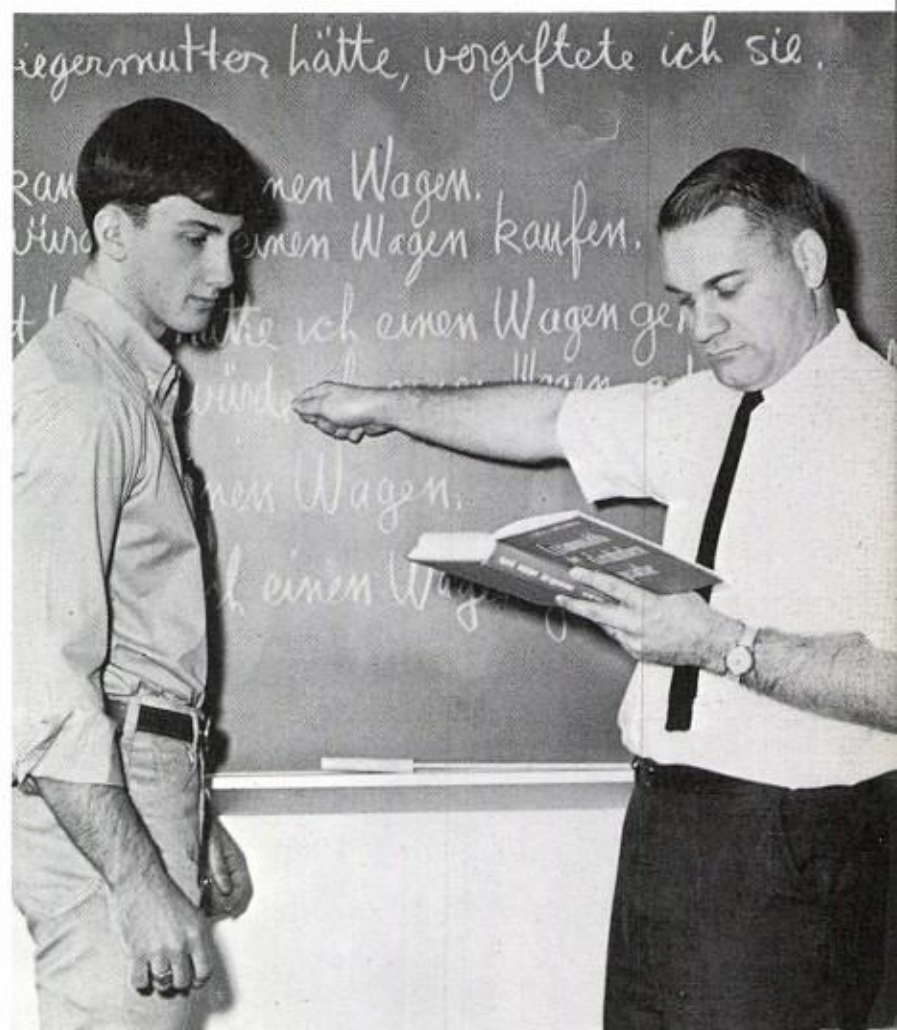

Deutscher Verein meetings were planned to foster an interest in the German culture and language. Members used their knowledge of German from formal classroom discussions to carry on extracurricular activities.

Mr. John Harris was club advisor. Officers were: James Pritts, president; Glenn Miller, vice-president; Cynthia Pile, secretary and Anthony Baglio, treasurer.

Mr. Harris tries to enrich Gary Rauch's German as he translates German sentences.

Jim Cascio tries to add to the trip as he encourages Tony Oppgard to vote for a weekend stay in Acapulco.

Mexico Travel Featured

To amplify an interest in the Spanish way of life was the purpose of the Spanish Clubs.

Projects undertaken by the Spanish II and Spanish III Clubs included a bake sale, a card party, a candy sale, a hootenany and a Christmas bazaar. Funds earned from these activities were used to finance several trips. The Spanish II Club traveled to Washington, D.C. Members of both clubs prepared for a trip to Mexico in summer, 1967.

Mrs. Antoinette Cesarone advised the clubs. Mary Ann Cascio served as president of the Spanish II club while Sally Rankin presided over the Spanish III Club.

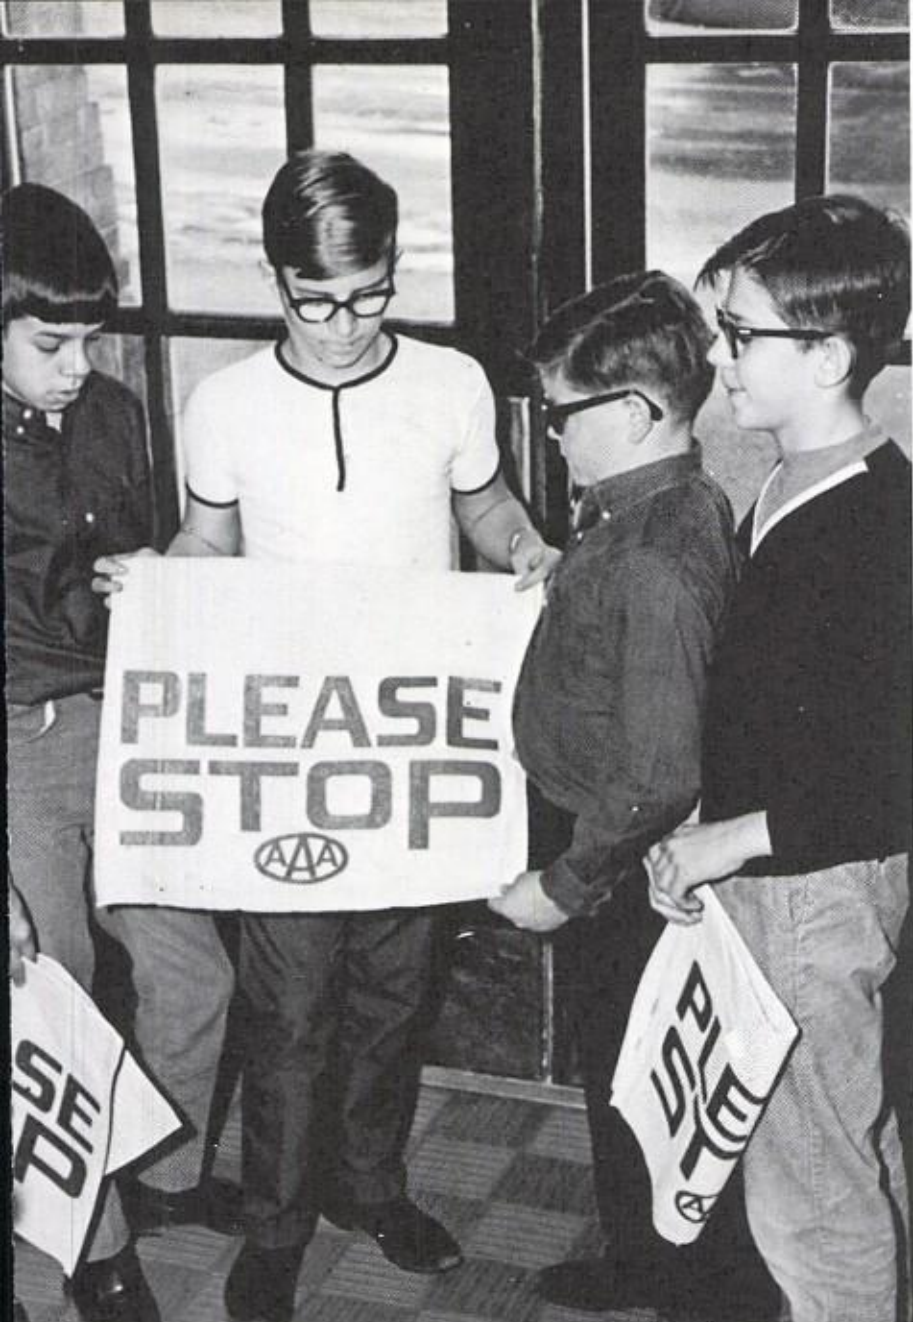

Spanish IV members reminisce about the friends they made and the good times they had during their stay in Mexico.

Spanish II members Sue Miller and Mary Cascio gaze longingly at travel folders of Mexico in high hopes of making the trip.

Juniors Donna Knupp, Donna Whipperman and Sally Rankin visualize their trip as they look at pictures from previous trips.

Junior high members of School Patrol admire the new flags they've received to help them in their duties.

Patrol Earns D.C. Trip

Approximately thirty boys served as bus and traffic monitors in the School Patrol. Another function of the patrol was to direct parking at home football games. Several members went on the annual trip, financed by the sale of window cleaner, to Washington, D. C. Members planned a trip to see a baseball game in Pittsburgh. Mr. Joseph Maslak served as sponsor.

School Patrol members Charles Smith, Larry Paxton and John Wagner map their trip to Washington, D. C.

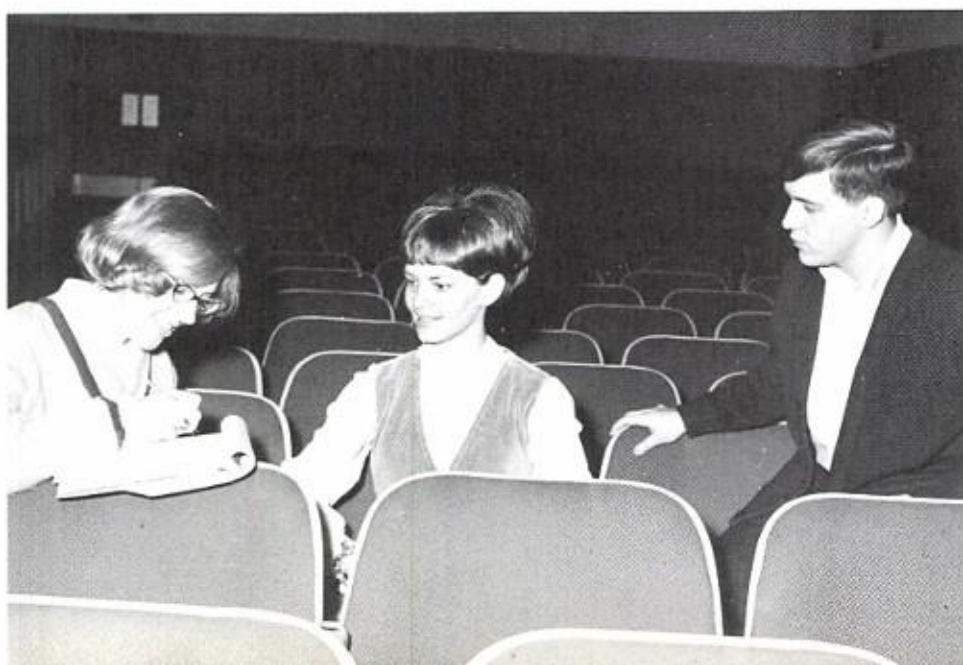

Radio Club Airs Monthly

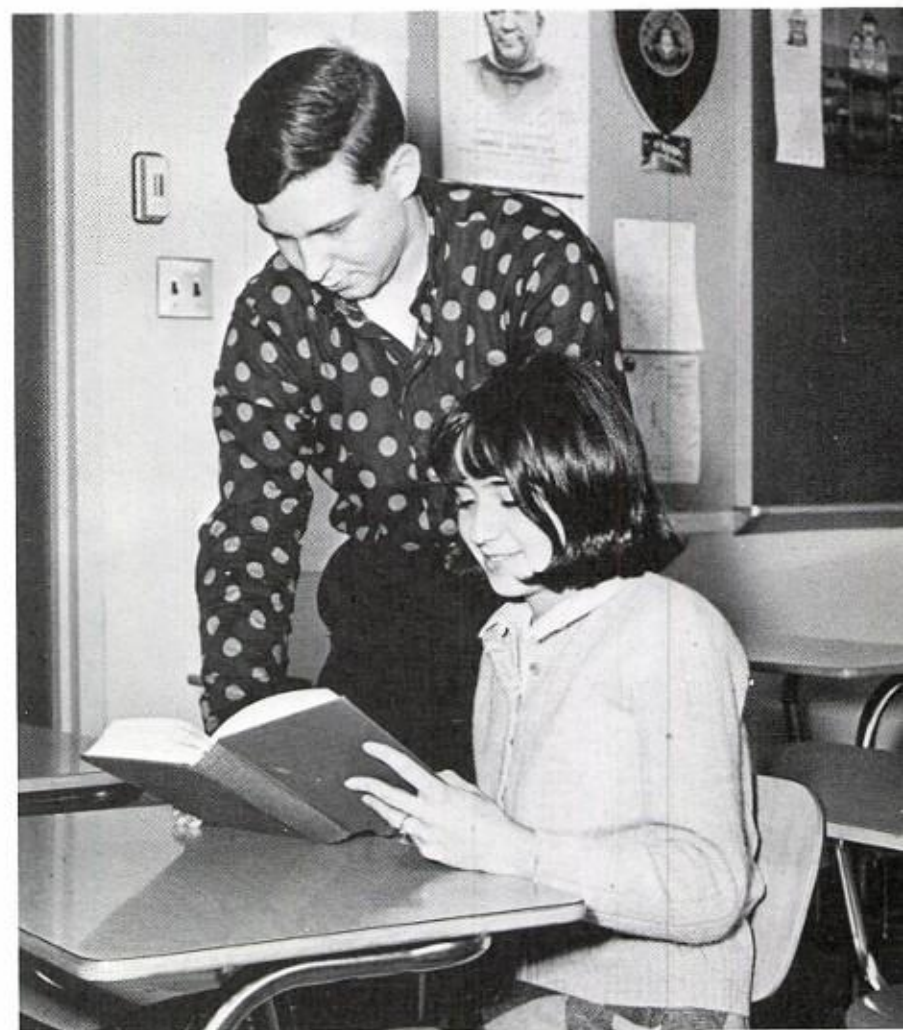

Programs of news, sports and musical entertainment presented monthly by the Radio Club made the listening audience of radio station WVSC aware of Somerset High School activities. Highlights of various programs included drama and personality interviews. The group was led this year by President Gregory Rascona, Vice-President John Kidd, Secretary-Treasurer Linda Cober, and Sponsor Jay Christner.

Gaining knowledge of radio broadcasting through actual experience was the club's principal purpose.

Cynthia Rock and Greg Rascona interview Maple Princess Amy Hay for a radio broadcast.

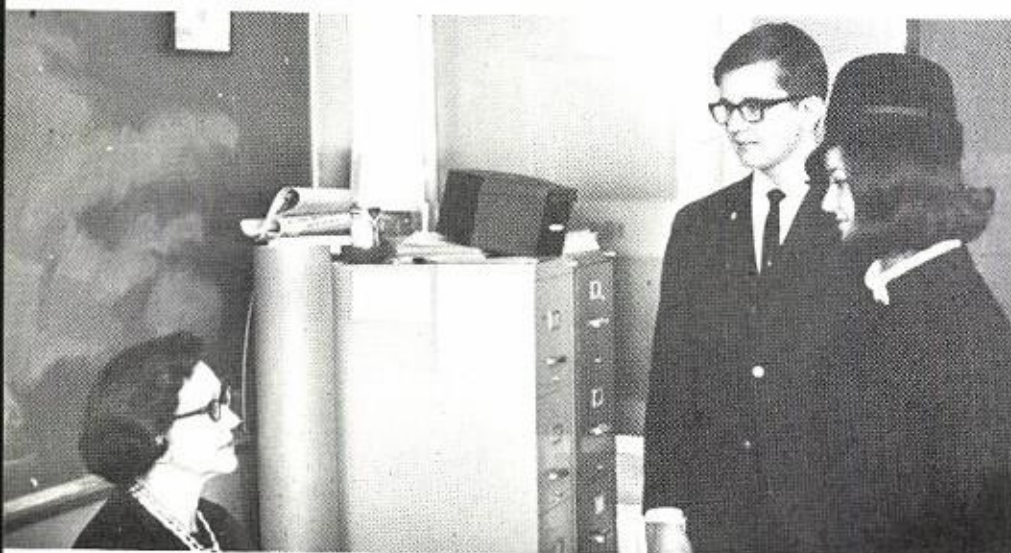

John Kidd and Linda Cober find it a pleasant task to select a play to present for their radio program.

A fashion show was presented by the F.B.L.A. during Dress Right Week in which members modeled the right dress for every occasion.

Mrs. Lilia Miller informs Wayne Henderson and Mitzi Mosholder that they've been chosen to represent the Somerset Chapter as Mr. and Miss F.B.L.A.

Qualified business sophomores and juniors are eligible to be voted into membership in F.B.L.A.

Directed by Mrs. Lilia Miller, the Future Business Leaders of America gave commercial students the chance to develop leadership and co-operation in the business field.

Members attended the F.B.L.A. state workshop at Seven Springs, the fall regional meeting at Monogahela and the spring regional meeting at California, Pennsylvania. The club made a trip to Pittsburgh and attended the state convention in Harrisburg.

F.B.L.A. members elected Wayne Henderson and Evonne Mosholder to represent the club as Mr. and Miss F.B.L.A. in regional competition. To finance its many activities, the club sold Easter candy. This year another water cooler, installed near the auditorium, was donated to the school by the F.B.L.A.

Officers were: Mary Shaulis, president; Wanita Walters, vice-president; Susan Trent, recording secretary; Dianne Meyers, corresponding secretary; and Bonnie Wiester, treasurer.

Camera Club members Charles Wilttrout, David Pickard and Dennis Dunmeyer examine pictures and negatives they've been working on during study hall.

Club Aids Eagle's Echo

To promote interest in photography while aiding in the production of pictures for the journalism classes was the purpose of the Camera Club.

A monthly contest was held within the club to choose the best picture taken by a member.

Mr. Robert Critchfield sponsored the group. Officers for the year included: Charles Wilttrout, president; Dennis Dunmeyer, vice-president; and David Pickard, secretary-treasurer.

Mike Kidd, Ed Troll and Sandy Weyant look with satisfaction at the football queen pictures they've taken, developed and printed.

Mr. Robert Critchfield, club advisor, repairs a camera for the Eaglet staff photographer.

Skiers Compete in Slalom

Under the guidance of Mr. Thomas Fridy and Mrs. Betty-jane Steiner, the Ski Club was organized to promote safe conditions on local ski slopes.

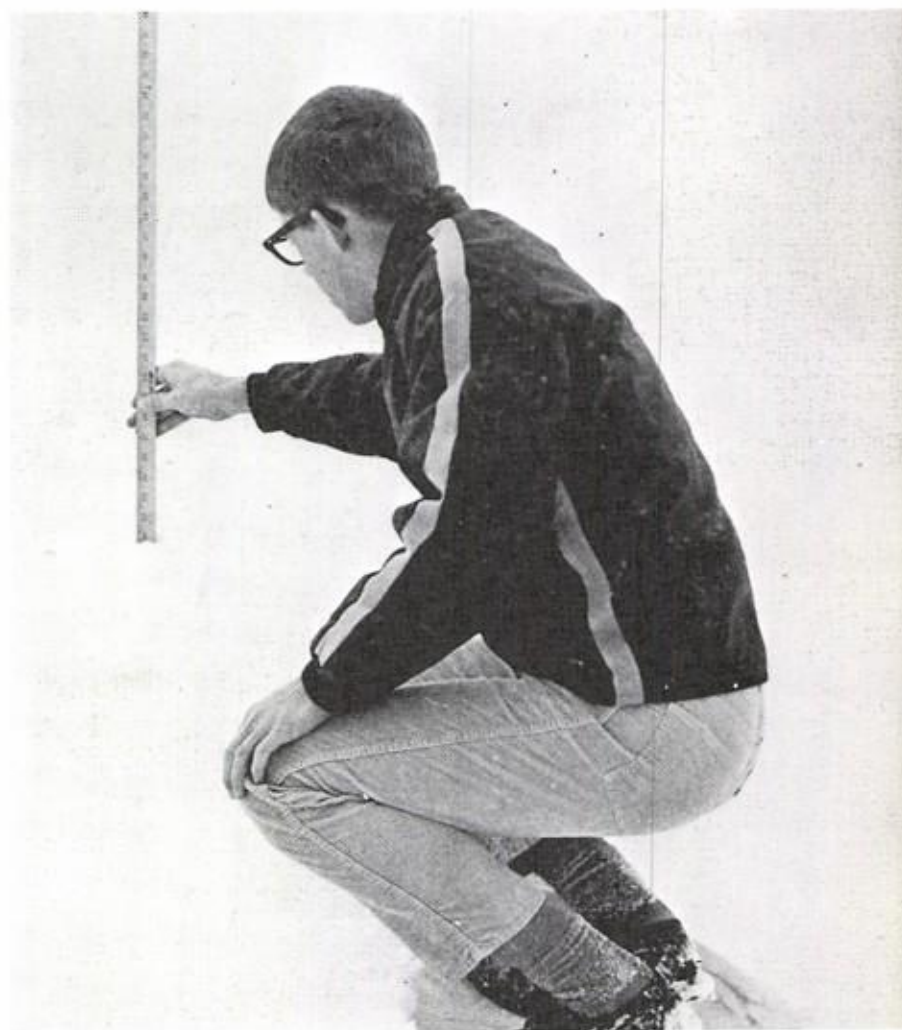

Dances were sponsored by the club at Hidden Valley during Thanksgiving vacation and after a home football game. Several members competed in the down-hill slaloms at Boy's Park, near Pittsburgh, and Bear Rocks, Ligonier.

Each member secured a pass to Hidden Valley and a patch signifying his club membership.

Henry Parks, Henry Cook, Roberta Korn, and Antoinette Anodide served as president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Officers of Ski Club include Henry Cook, Henry Parke, Tony Anodide and Bobbi Korn. Mr. Thomas Fridy is the club sponsor.

Happily, Hank Parke finds that the snow is deep enough for excellent skiing.

"Sammy Eagle" backs the cheerleaders in building school spirit.

Sammy Eagle, Cheerleaders Promote School Spirit

Directed by Mrs. Ruth Coleman, the cheerleaders galvanized our athletic teams to victory. The girls cheered at bonfires and pep assemblies to whip up enthusiasm throughout the school.

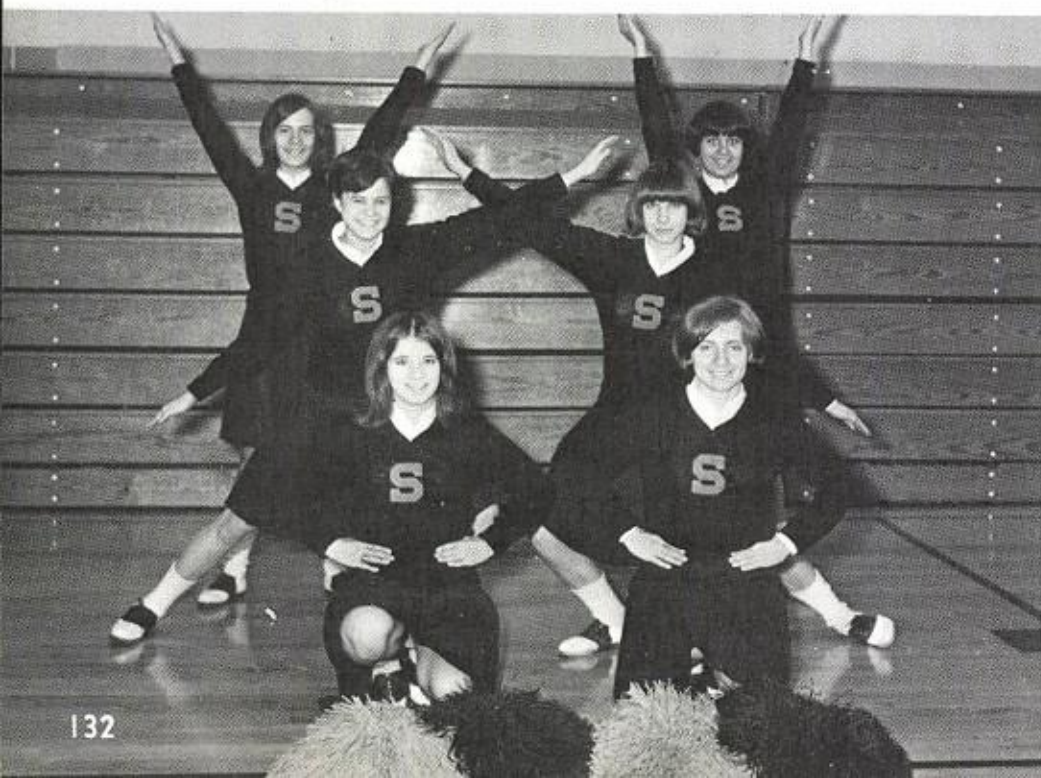

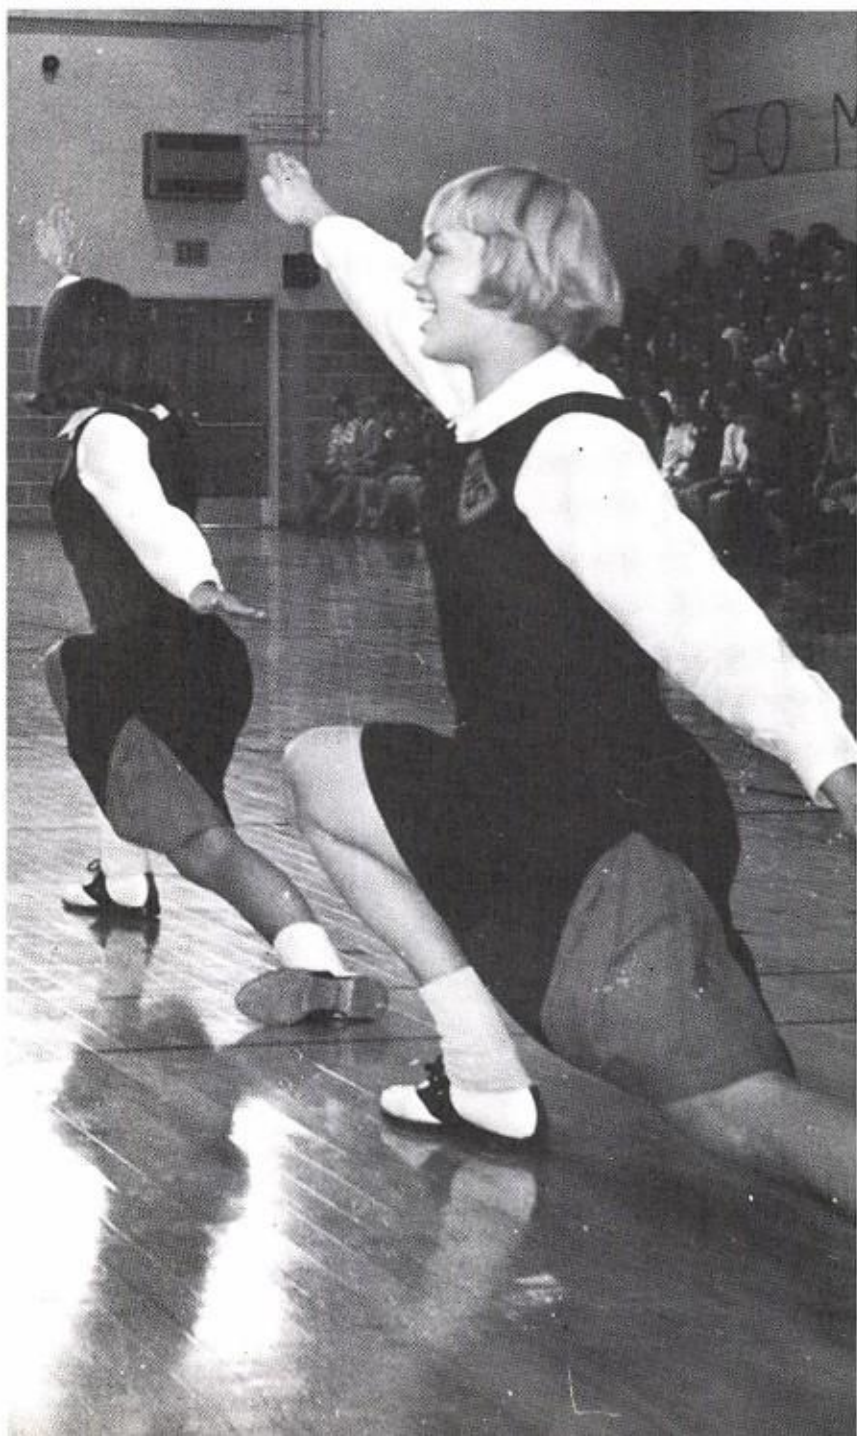

This spring the varsity squad again participated in the Somerset County cheerleading contest—the highlight of their year.

Members of the varsity squad were: Captain Karen Trexel, Marcia Ream, Connie Hunter, Rebecca Hitchman, Linda Latshaw, Alice Hostetler, Shari Schrock, Donna Griffith, and Substitute Barbara Pile.

Captain Beverly Brant led Geraldine Reffner, Gloria Shaffer, Gail Gorman, Gail Foust, and Susan Miller in junior varsity assignments. This squad was on the job at all junior varsity athletic events.

Junior varsity cheerleaders were (top) Susan Miller, Gail Gorman, (second) Geraldine Reffner, Gloria Shaffer, (bottom) Gail Foust and Beverly Brant.

Barbara Pile and Karen Trexel, varsity cheerleaders, take the floor at a football pep assembly.

Pep Club Rouses Spirit

With the help of sponsor Mrs. Ruth Coleman the Pep Club aimed to create school spirit by supporting the varsity and junior varsity athletic teams. In conjunction with this, the club sponsored bonfires and pep assemblies. A sign committee created and distributed signs throughout the school before every football game, basketball game and wrestling match.

A social event of the club was a hayride in November which all members enjoyed.

Kathy McClintock presided over the club. Other officers were Mitzi Mosholder, vice president; Susan Shaulis, secretary; and Heather Walker, treasurer.

Designing pep signs after school was a weekly task for Becky Crawford.

The Spirit Committee of the Pep Club, Gloria Shaffer, Kathy Knepper, Barb Pile, Kerrie Pile, Norma Thompson and Yvonne Bittner, plan a pep skit to be presented in an assembly after school on Friday.

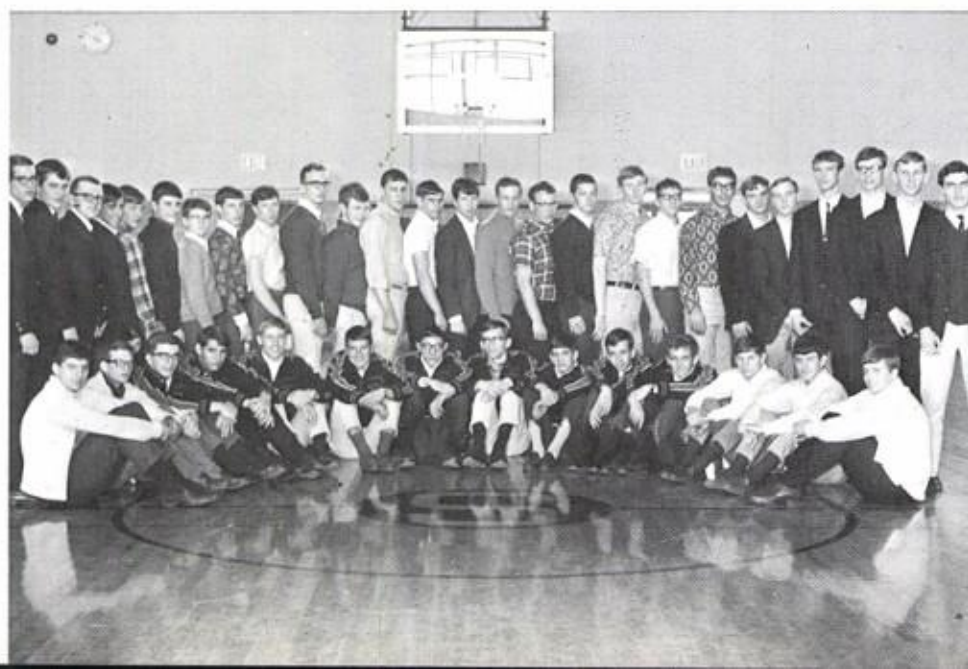

Club Honors Lettermen

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Carl Waugaman, the S Club proposed to emphasize good sportsmanship and school spirit. It honored all varsity athletes who had earned a letter in interscholastic competition.

Requirements for lettering in varsity competition were: participation in more than half of the total quarters of the football or basketball seasons; accumulating eleven points, participating in a majority of the matches, or winning a District V wrestling match; or earning a total of ten points throughout the track season.

Standing: B. Walker, R. Urban, D. Urban, D. Hansen, T. Findley, J. Foor, J. Mayak, J. Weigle, C. Mitchell, J. Welsh, J. Maust, H. Cook, L. Younkin, C. Francis, D. Derencin, D. Woy, D. Thomas, J. Pompettes practice after school for the home football game with Boswell.

Pompettes were Nancy Miller, Karen Ludy, Beverly Fisher, Verna Bevers, Dona Smith, Sally Rankin, Pam Moyer and Leader Sally Lynch.

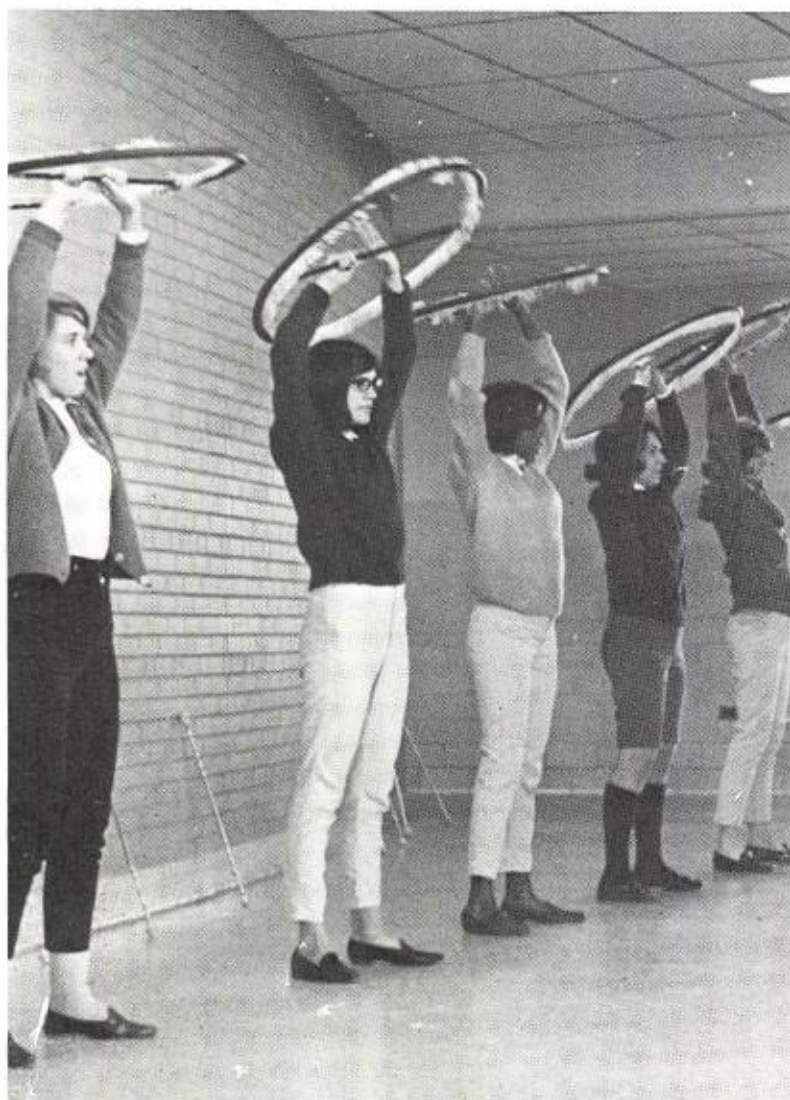

Pompette Performances Enhance Half-Time Shows

Experience spelled success for the Pompettes. Sally Lynch, who led the group for the second year, helped to give unique variation to the routines. Practice and exact timing were the keys to their achievements. By using flag baton routines and pompoms with their dance numbers, the Pompettes displayed their skills during the halftime intermission of football games and at parades.

This year's eight pompettes were seniors Sally Lynch, Beverly Fisher and Dona Smith with juniors Pamela Moyer, Verna Bevers, Sally Rankin, Karen Ludy and Nancy Miller.

During band rehearsal the majorettes practice twirling hoops in the hall, where they won't distract band members.

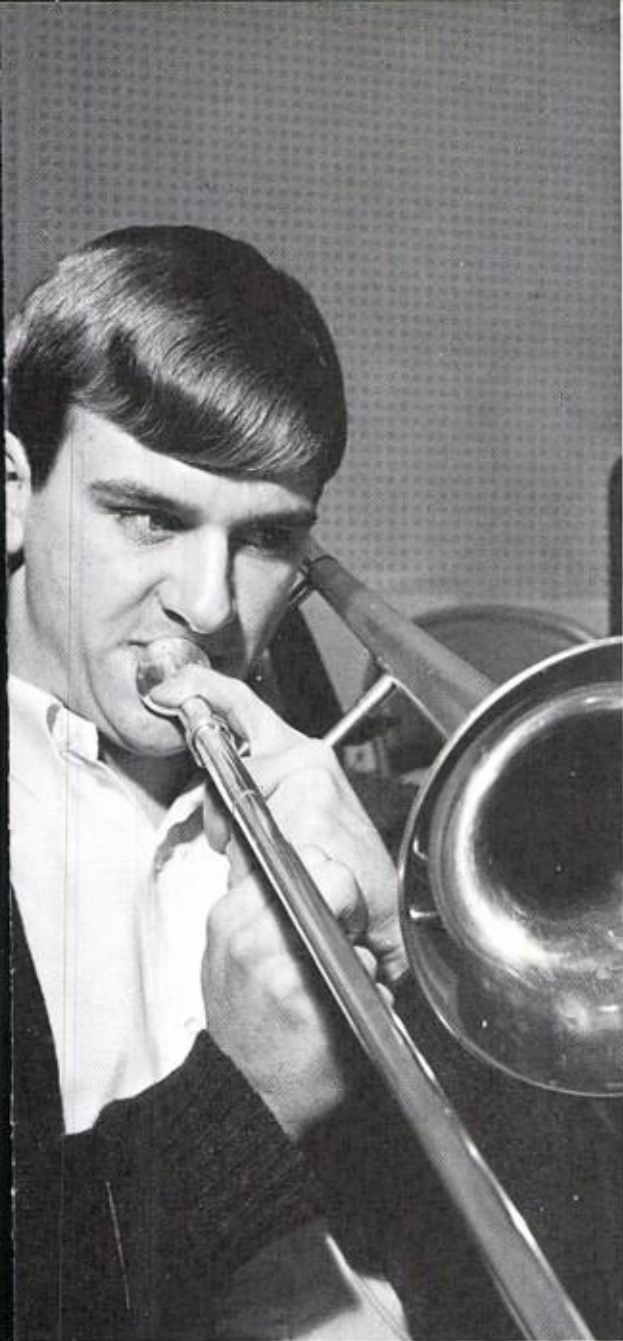

Twirlers Sport New Uniforms

For the second year Sienna Davis headed the majorettes of the Somerset Area Senior High School Band as they provided spectacular entertainment for all. Long hours of practice and drill enabled the girls to lead the band in parades with precision and skill and to present colorful half-time programs at the football games. Through the use of flag batons, hoops and sparkling fire batons, color was added to their novelty routines. Their newly made uniforms of red, white and blue enhanced the effect of their performances.

Somerset Area High School Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Chester Singer was represented by nine members at the Central and Central Western District Orchestra, held March 16, 17 and 18 in Johnstown Central High School. Students participating were Patty Dickey, flute; Denise Custer, string bass; Jane Bowen and Jane Hauger, cello; Martin Beech, Jack Biancotti, Christine Sawzik, Mary Cascio, and Patricia Pacifico, violin.

Somerset hosted the Regional I and IV State Orchestra on April 20. The nine district representatives also participated in State Orchestra.

Folksingers Make Debut at Soroptomists' Affair

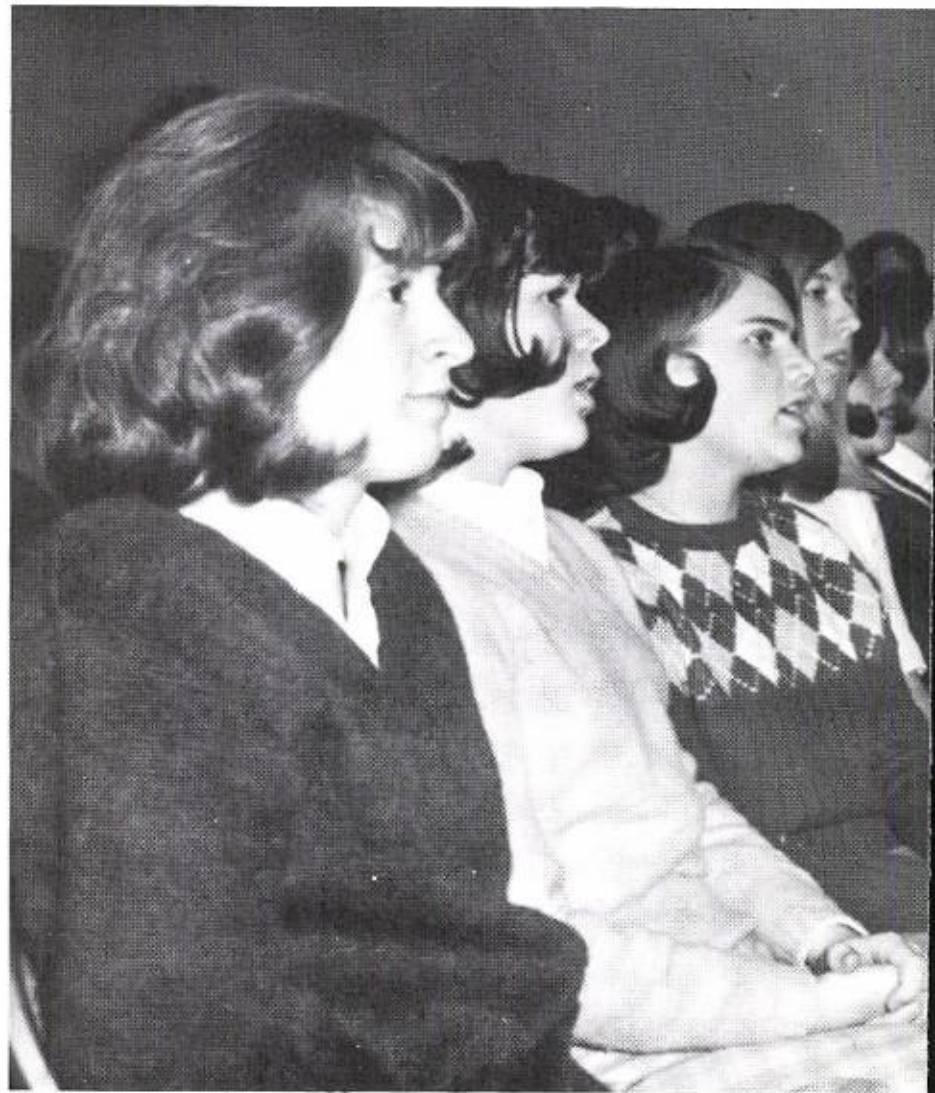

Mr. John Dice directed the Mixed Chorus in its two major appearances, the Christmas program and the Spring Concert.

Somerset was host this spring to both the County Chorus Festival, comprised of six schools from southern Somerset County, and the All-County Chorus.

Two new groups were formed from the one-hundred-thirty member chorus. A thirty-member choir sang at various religious services throughout the county, including the Week of Prayer Service. The twenty-member Roof Garden Folk Singers sang for Teacher's Institute, Lion's Club and Rotary, as well as for many school functions.

Entertainment was provided by the Boys' Octet and Girls' Octet, who sang during the Maple Princess contest and the Student Council music assembly.

Nancy Miller, Amy Hay, Beth Morocco, Nevin Miller, Randy Spencer, John Johnson and Roger Spoerlein attended District Chorus. From this group Roger, Amy and Randy were selected to attend Regional Chorus at Erie.

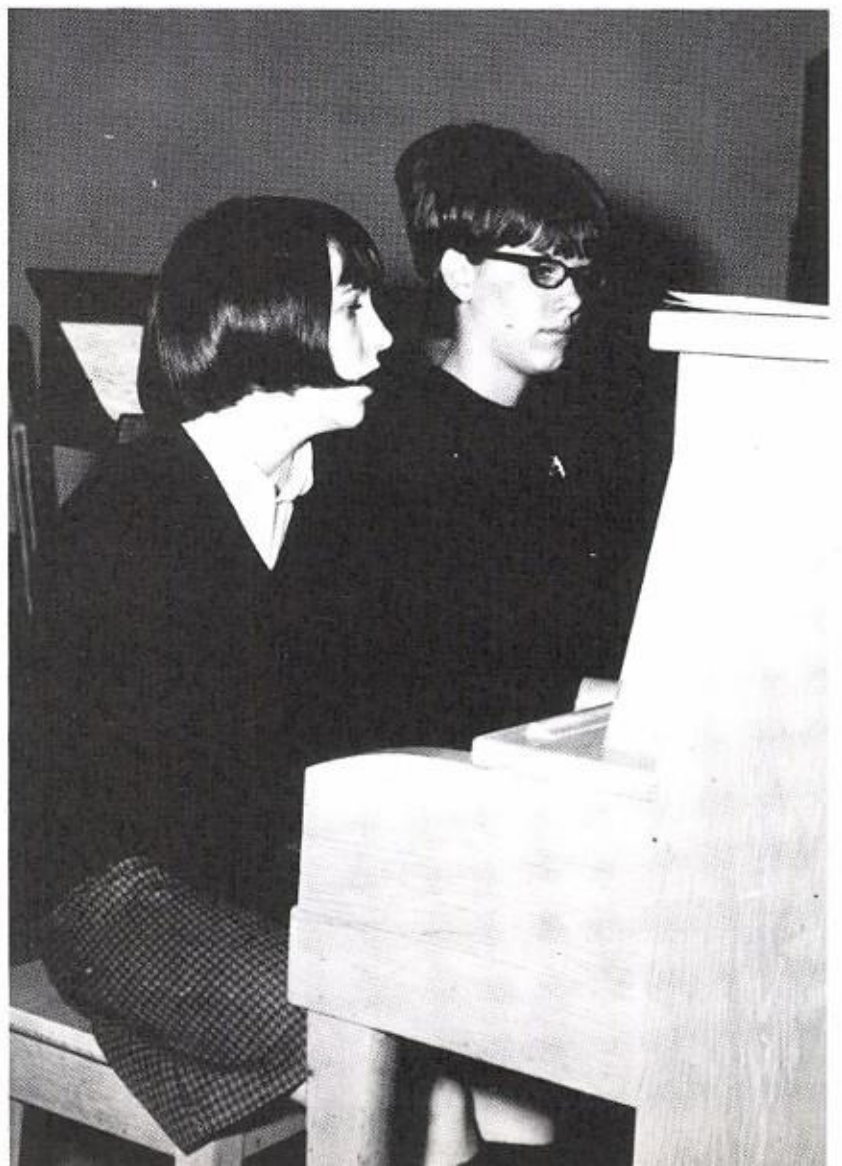

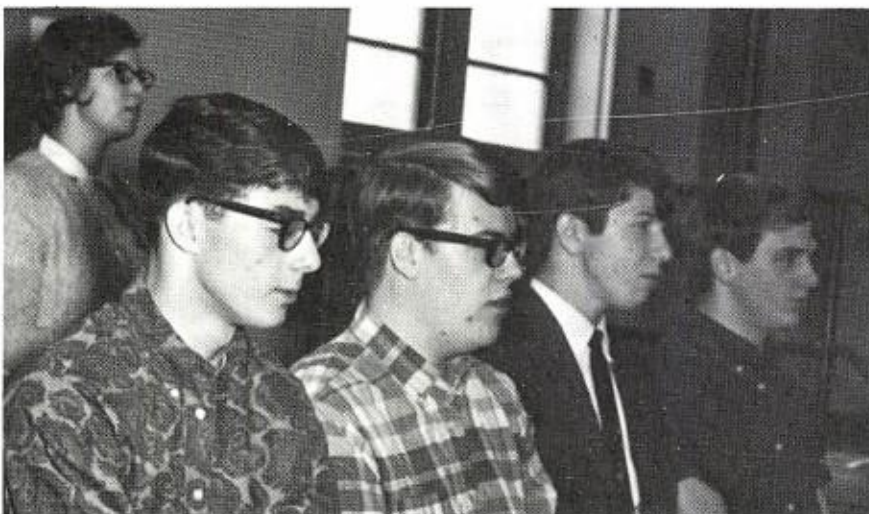

Members of the girls chorus practice a special number for the Christmas program.

Boys practice to achieve perfect harmony in "Ave Maria".

Department Directs Organization of Dance Band

Under the direction of Mr. Chester J. Singer the ninety-six member marching band continued its "new look." Hours of practice every Tuesday and Thursday prepared members for halftime performances at football games.

Nineteen members of the concert band were participants in County Band, held at Windber. Terry Saylor, Sally Lynch, Diane Talbert, Richard Friedline and Gary Wagner attended District Band at Indiana.

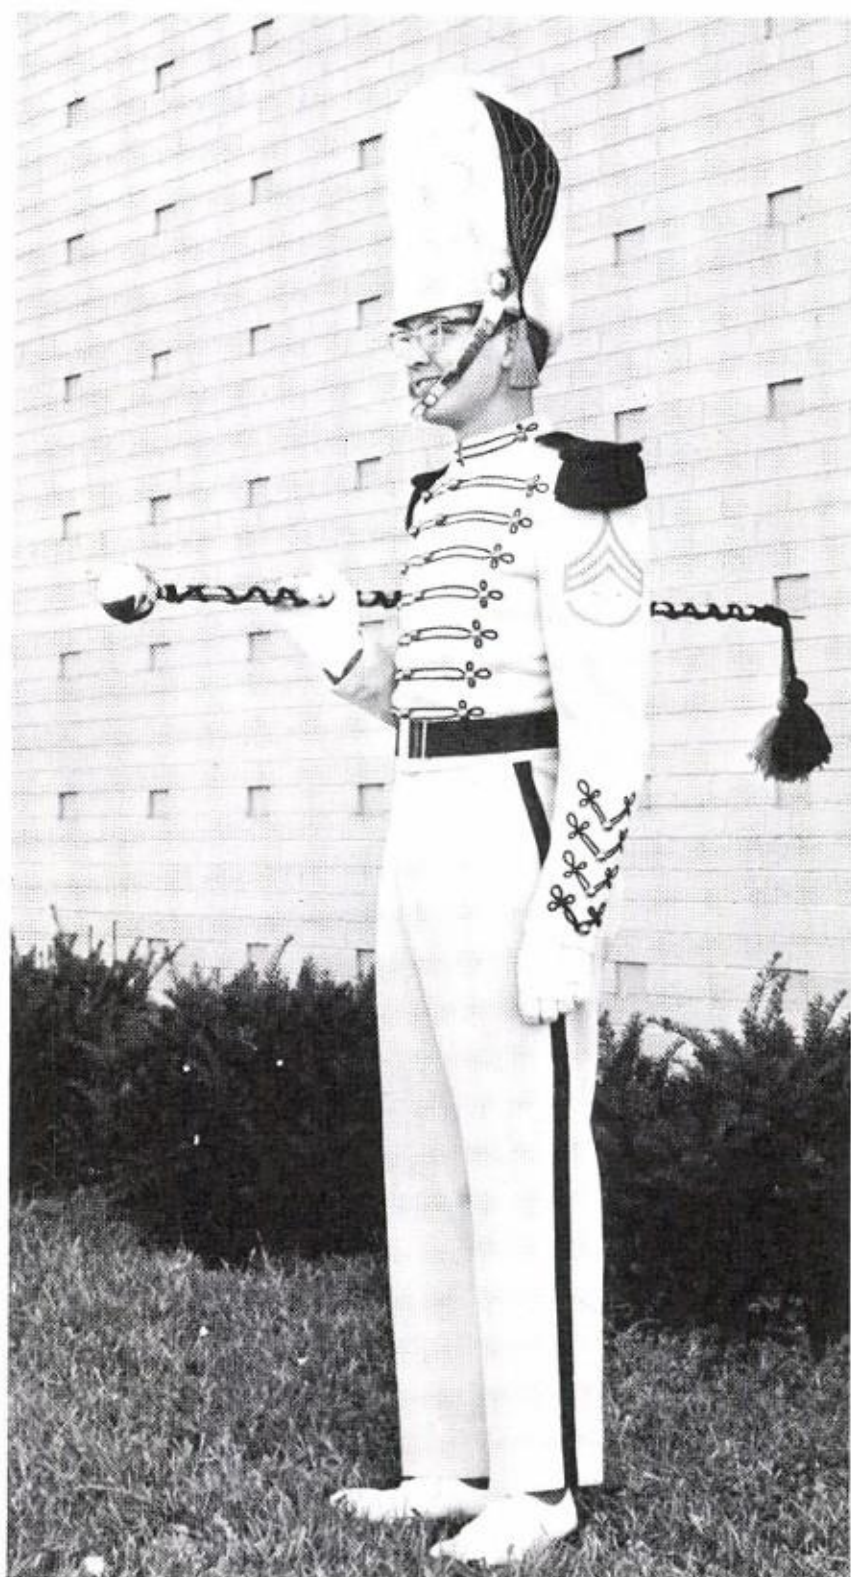

Six bands from the southern part of the county participated in the County Band Festival at Somerset. The band also took part in the annual Halloween Parade, the Winter Carnival Parade and the spring concert.

A newly-formed dance band played during the Maple Princess and Winter Carnival Queen contests.

This past fall under the leadership of Drum Major Randy Spencer the Somerset Senior High Band performed many unique formations.

Georgia Lichty and Susan Shaulis rehearse "Conquests" during concert band period.

Gary Wagner and Richard Friedline deepen the tone of the concert band with their baritone and tenor saxophones.

Mr. Singer reviews the formations for the final performance of the band at half-time, 1966.

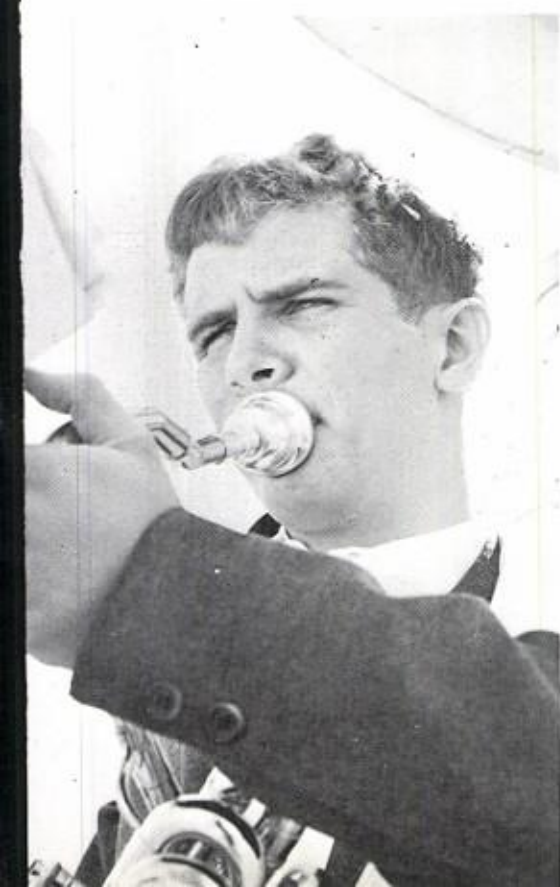

At a special rehearsal the brass section works on a difficult section of "Conquest"

Flute players Diane Talbert and Paulette Hostetter concentrate on dynamics as they play "Il Re Pastore"

Guido embraces Maggie after she promises no more child psychology.

As she drives him home from his daily train Grace Bannerman tells her husband that she's entirely too busy with her committees to go away for the weekend.

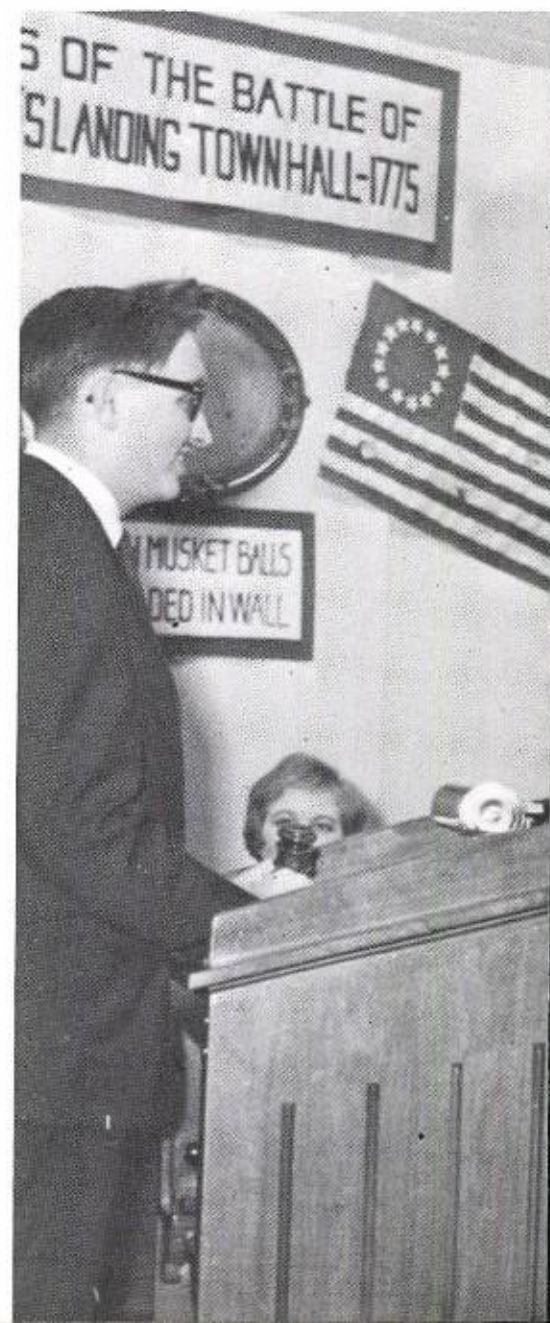

Colonel Thorwald demands that the missile base be a success or Captain Hoxie may lose his job ... and his head.

The highlight of the annual Fourth of July festival is a pageant portraying the Battle of Putnam's Landing in 1775.

At a party given by the townspeople, local girls become acquainted with the men of the base.

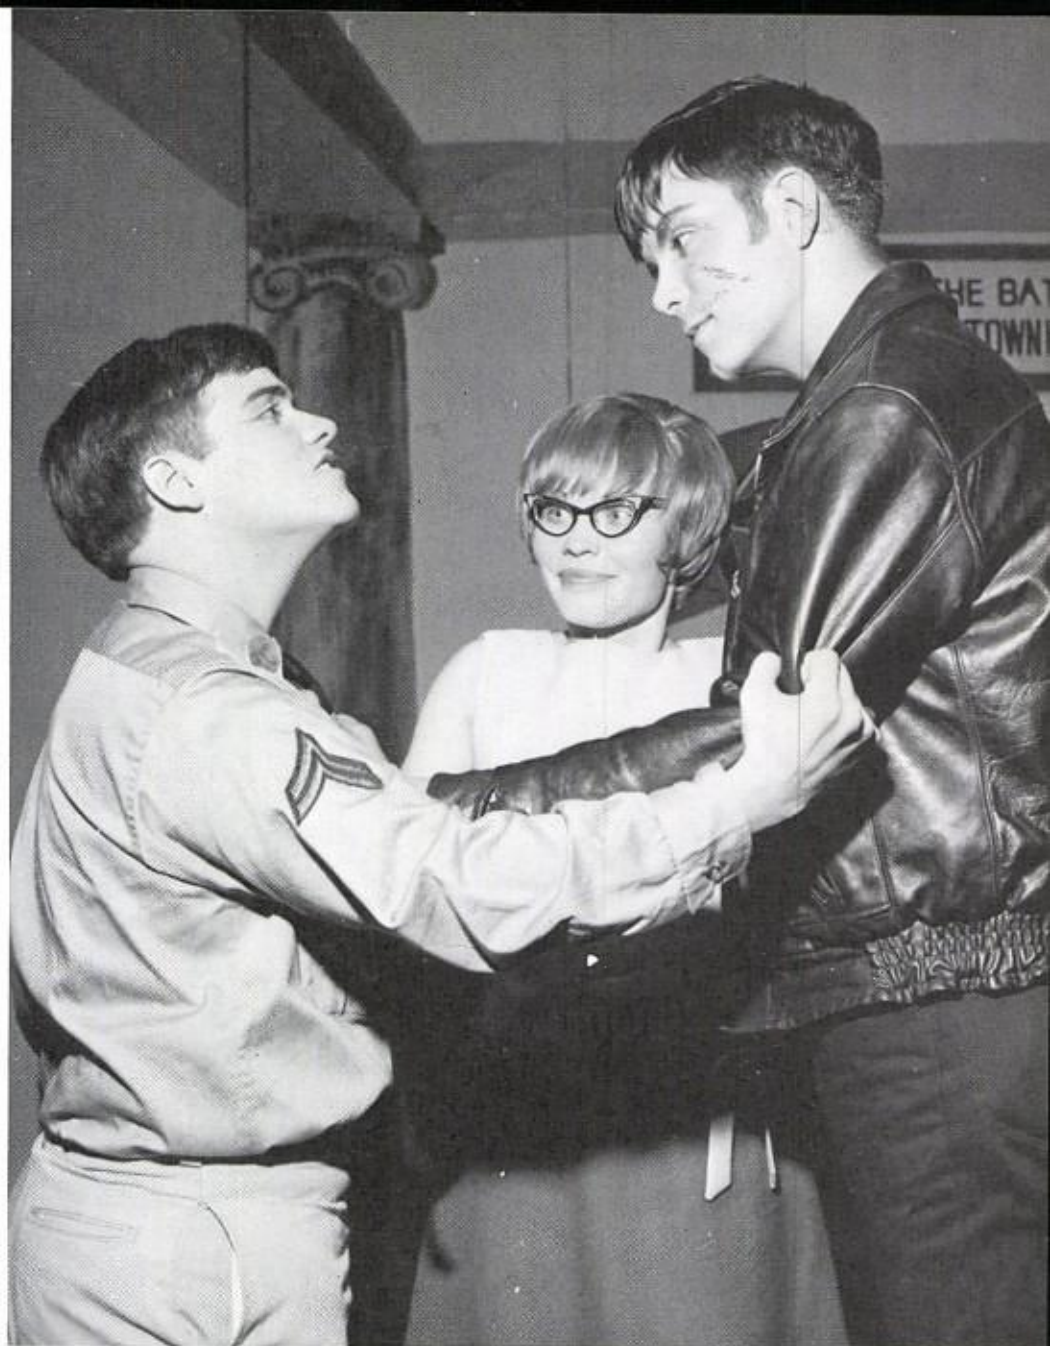

Forty-Member Play Cast Presents Rousing Comedy

Putnam's Landing, a quiet suburban town in Connecticut is chosen by the U. S. Army for a missile base site. The townspeople object and Guido DiMaggio, the public relations officer, is pressed to prevent civil war from breaking out between the citizens and the Army.

Grady Metcalf and his motorcycle gang are the heroes of the town girls until Corporal Opie Dalrymple and his battalion invade Putnam's Landing.

Grace Bannerman, a determined committeewoman, drives her husband from home when her historical pageant, designed to improve relations between Army and civilians, turns into a rumble just in time for the colonel's inspection tour. After having returned Guido's engagement ring at least six times because of different views of child psychology, Maggie accepts it for the last time when Colonel Thorwald orders Guido to Alaska.

A cast of forty members, directed by Mrs. Phyllis Cindric and Mrs. Roberta Antram, presented two performances of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" to packed houses on November 17 and 18.

Opie protects a thrilled Comfort from Grady, who insists she loves him and his motorcycle.

A town meeting is called in Putnam's Landing to discuss the construction of a missile base nearby.

Scholarship Characterizes Honor Society Members

Peggy Younkin excitedly reads the letter informing her of her new membership to the society.

Promoting scholastic achievement and leadership, encouraging development of character and creating enthusiasm to render services to the school and community were the goals of the National Honor Society. The faculty selected five percent of the junior class and ten percent of the senior class for membership on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership and service.

Mrs. Pauline Glessner and Mr. Richard Flick sponsored the society.

Quill and Scroll Honors High School Journalists

On an international level Quill and Scroll rewarded and encouraged high school journalists for individual achievements. To qualify for membership a student must have been in the upper third of his class and either an active worker on the yearbook staff or the author of fifty printed inches of newspaper copy.

Qualified newspaper journalism students were admitted during their junior year, while yearbook journalism students were inducted during their senior year.

Quill and Scroll members strived to fulfill and maintain a high degree of performance in the field of journalism.

By Student Council Provides for Adopted Filipino

With the leadership of President Thomas Findley, the Student Council undertook projects which helped maintain and improve the general welfare of Somerset High students. This governing body, comprising a representative from each homeroom and a president elected by the entire student body, discussed with the administration numerous student requests and suggestions.

Various activities sponsored by the Council included the schools' continued support of our adopted child, Juanito Gambito.

This was the first year in which an alternate day was held. At that time alternate delegates accompanied the regular representatives to a Student Council meeting.

Intramural volleyball games and a talent show were organized. A suggestion box was placed in the cafeteria so that students could express their ideas to the Council. A highlight of the year was the revision of the Student Council Constitution by a special committee. The revisions dealt principally with the president's term of office and the election of the remaining officers.

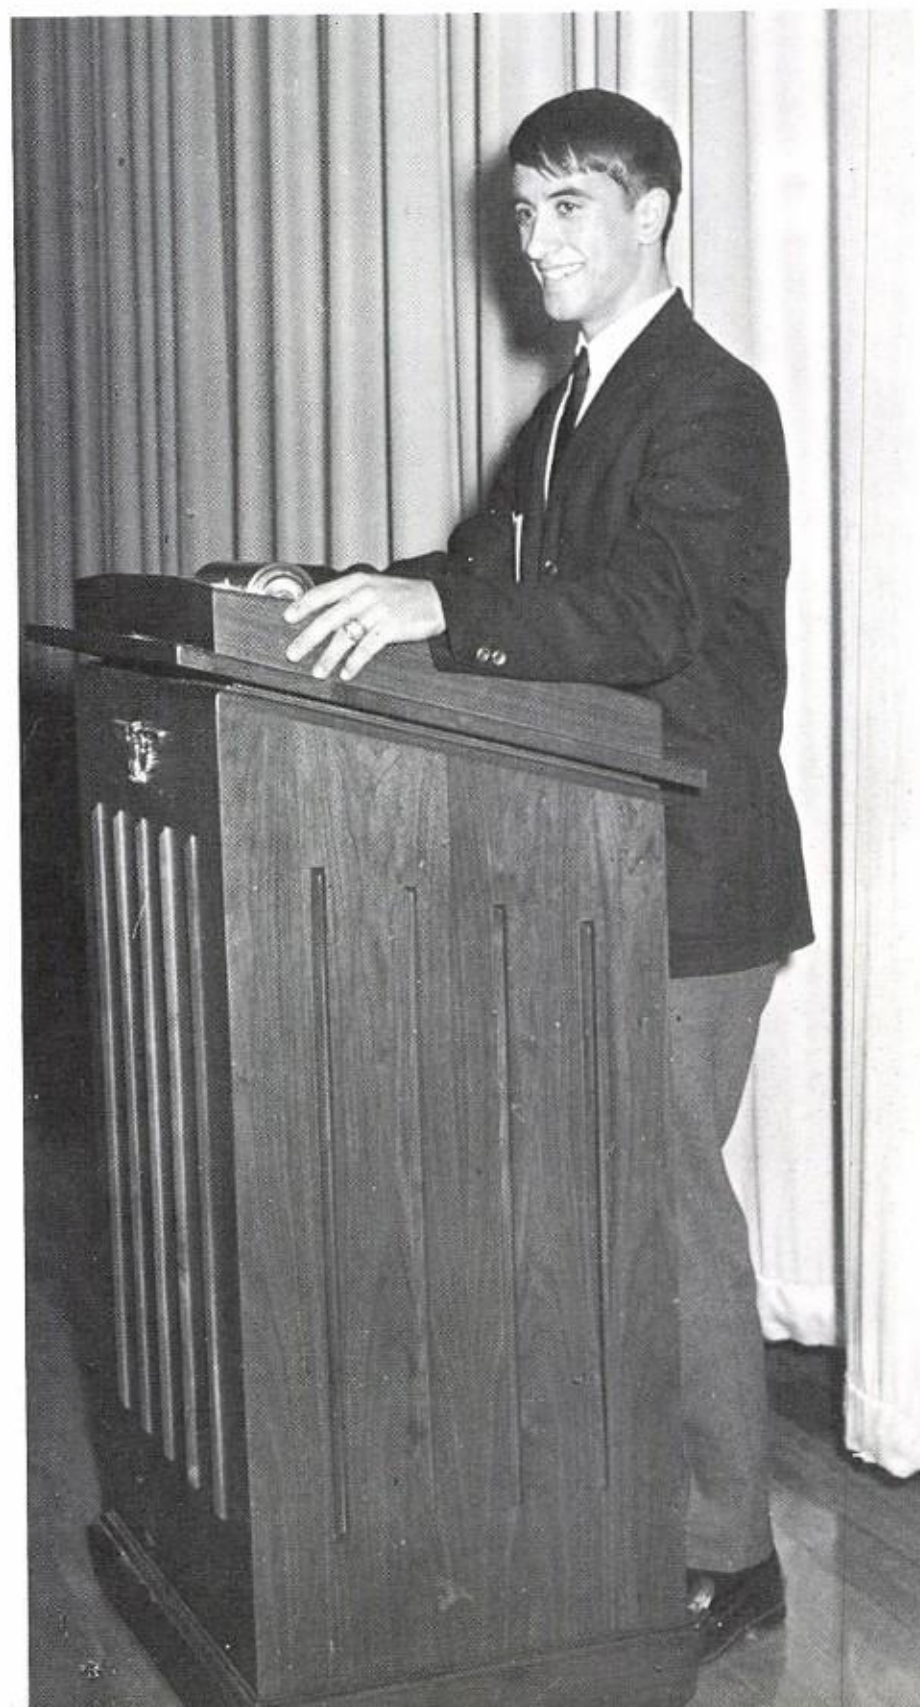

Other officers this year included vice-president, Donald Derencin; secretary, Shari Schrock and treasurer, David Hansen. The sponsor was Mr. Ralph Egolf.

Patty Brocht, Sally Lynch and Jeannine Baer share a letter the Student Council received from Juanito Gambito, our school's adopted Filipino child.

ATHLETICS

Inexperienced Gridders

Lacking size and experience, the 1966 football squad posted a record of three wins and six losses. The Eagle team had eight returning lettermen with only two starters from the year before, giving head coach Carl Waugaman and his assistants Wilson Weaver, Dean Bowman and Richard Colliver a job of building a sound club around these few experienced players.

Coach Waugaman felt that although the team was small, inexperienced and lacked depth—they were no pushover, allowing only one team to score more than two touchdowns against them. He said, "This shows the aggressiveness of the squad and their constant desire to win, regardless of the score, until the final whistle sounded."

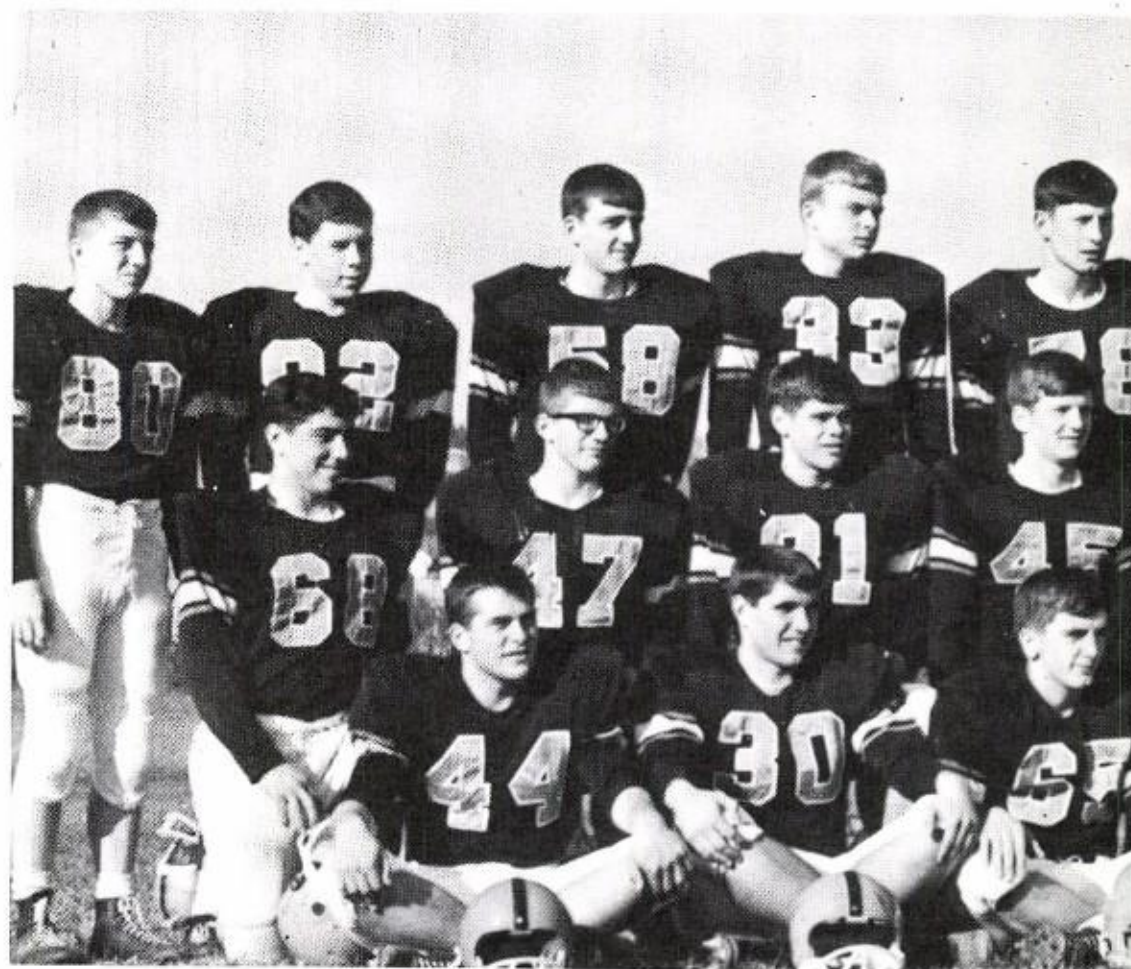

The Eagle club was stronger than their record showed. In the second half of the Everett game it became a solid unit outplaying Everett statistically, but losing the game by one point. The Birds then upset an overconfident Ferndale team by three touchdowns. Displaying a tough defense, Somerset limited undefeated Westmont to just two touchdowns.

With a fine showing of offensive power the Eagles ended the season by overpowering a spirited Conemaugh Township team.

Basketball Squad Closes Season With 15-5 Slate

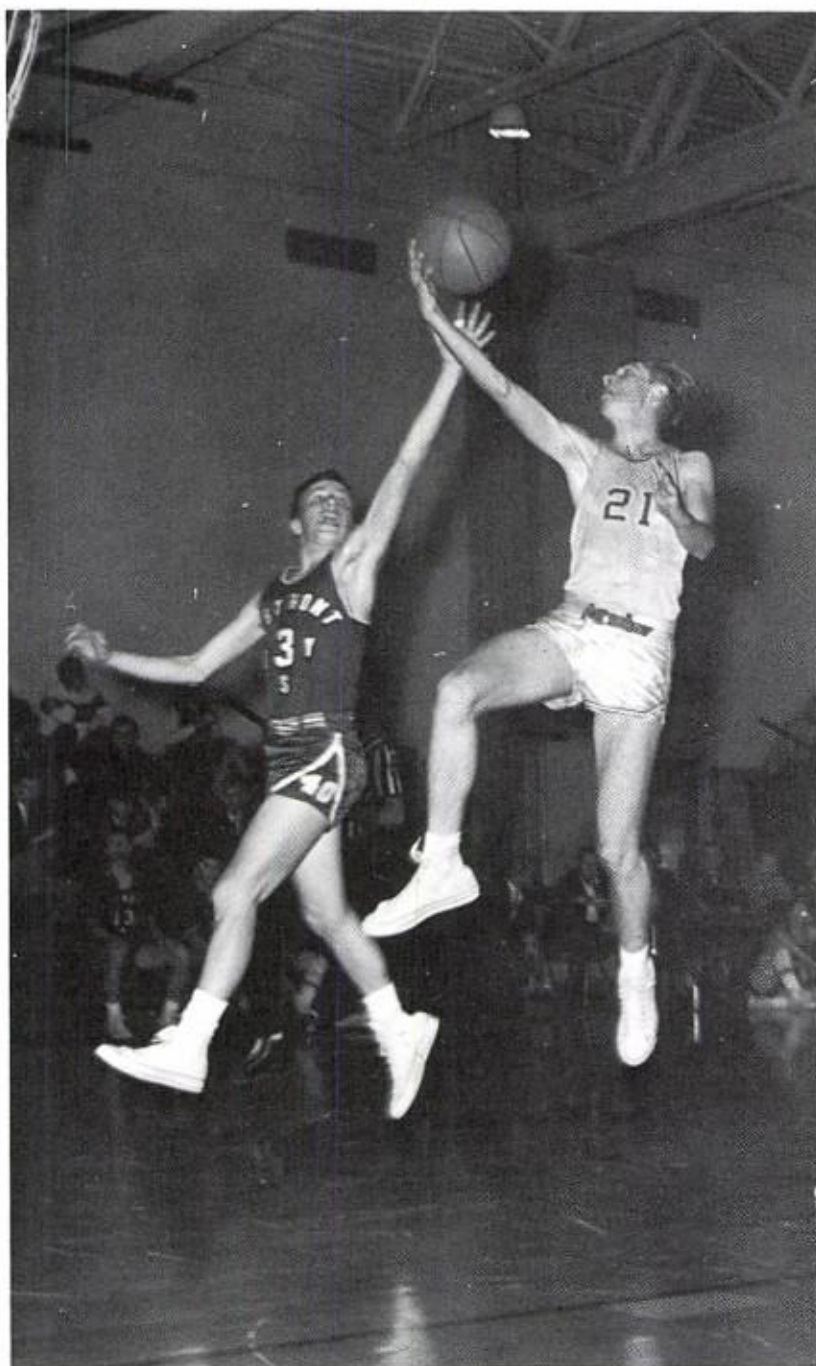

Fighting their way to the District VI play-off with Altoona, the Eagle varsity sported a 15-5 record for the regular season. Coach Chester Pfeffer led the team.

For the second year the Golden Eagles competed in the Tri-County League. They rounded out the season with a 10 and 2 league record. Two losses to Richland Twp. cost the Eagles the Tri-County League title.

Non-league contests on the slate were highlighted by a hard-fought 88-72 defeat at Uniontown. The only other losses came at the hands of Johnstown Central's Trojans.

Eagle hoopsters were well supported by the student body throughout the close race for the league championship. For the first time in school history, patrons had to be turned away from a game. The Richland contest drew a well-over-capacity crowd, as the two teams came to a showdown in the Tri-County League race.

Under the coaching of James Pfrogner, the junior varsity squad paced its way to a 14-6 season record. They fought to a first place tie in the Tri-County competition, sharing honors with the Windber Ramblers.

5 Returning Lettermen Push Wrestlers

Dave Thomas attempts a single leg takedown on his opponent.

Sporting a winning season, the 1967 wrestling squad compiled a record of six wins, four losses and one tie. The training of head coach Joseph Maslak plus the experience of five returning lettermen gave the Eagles the leadership needed to carry them through their rough schedule.

Charles Smith in the 95-pound class, Marlin Miller in the 112-pound class and Ray Boland in the 154-pound class each suffered only one defeat during the regular season.

Winning four of the first five matches, the Eagle matmen started the season impressively. However, they had a hard time through the last half of the season, winning only two of the last six matches.

Highlighting the season was a hard-fought match against Everett in which Somerset pulled through for a 22-20 victory.

'66 Relay Team Shatters Previous Two-Mile Record

With over half its members sophomores and only eight lettermen returning, the '66 track squad was lacking in experience. Wet weather, which held pre-season practices to a minimum, gave the season a slow start. Despite these drawbacks a sound, competitive squad was developed by coaches Richard Colliver and James Pfrogner.

The Eagles captured four first places and two second places, one of which came in the District Five meet.

In the May third meet with Richland Twp. and Bedford, a new record was set by the two-mile relay team, comprised of Kenneth Shaffer, David Hartman, Thomas Gross and Leroy Baker. The record setting time was 9:11:0, topping by seven seconds the previous record, set in 1965.

Somerset High's gym team under the direction of Mr. Edward Joseph started their second season of statewide competition. The team is a member of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union.

Gymnasts performed for the March of Dimes Benefit on January 11.

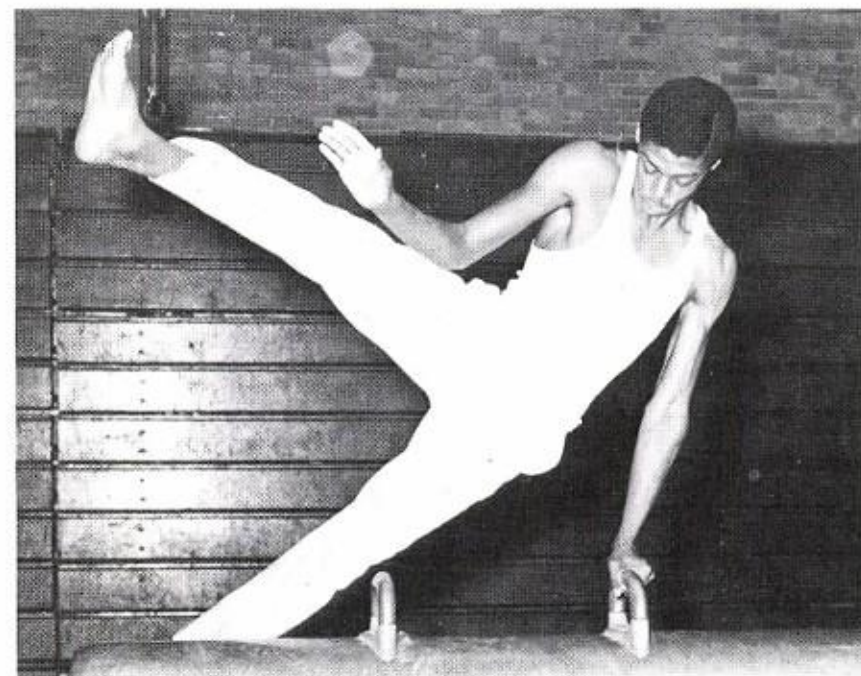

Ronald Yancey placed eighth on the sidehorse at the first competitive meet for boys on January 21 at Belle Vernon. On January 28 the girls competed at Bethel Park in the elite division. Gretchen Stumpf placed eighth in free exercise and sixth on the balancing beam out of a field of seventy girls.

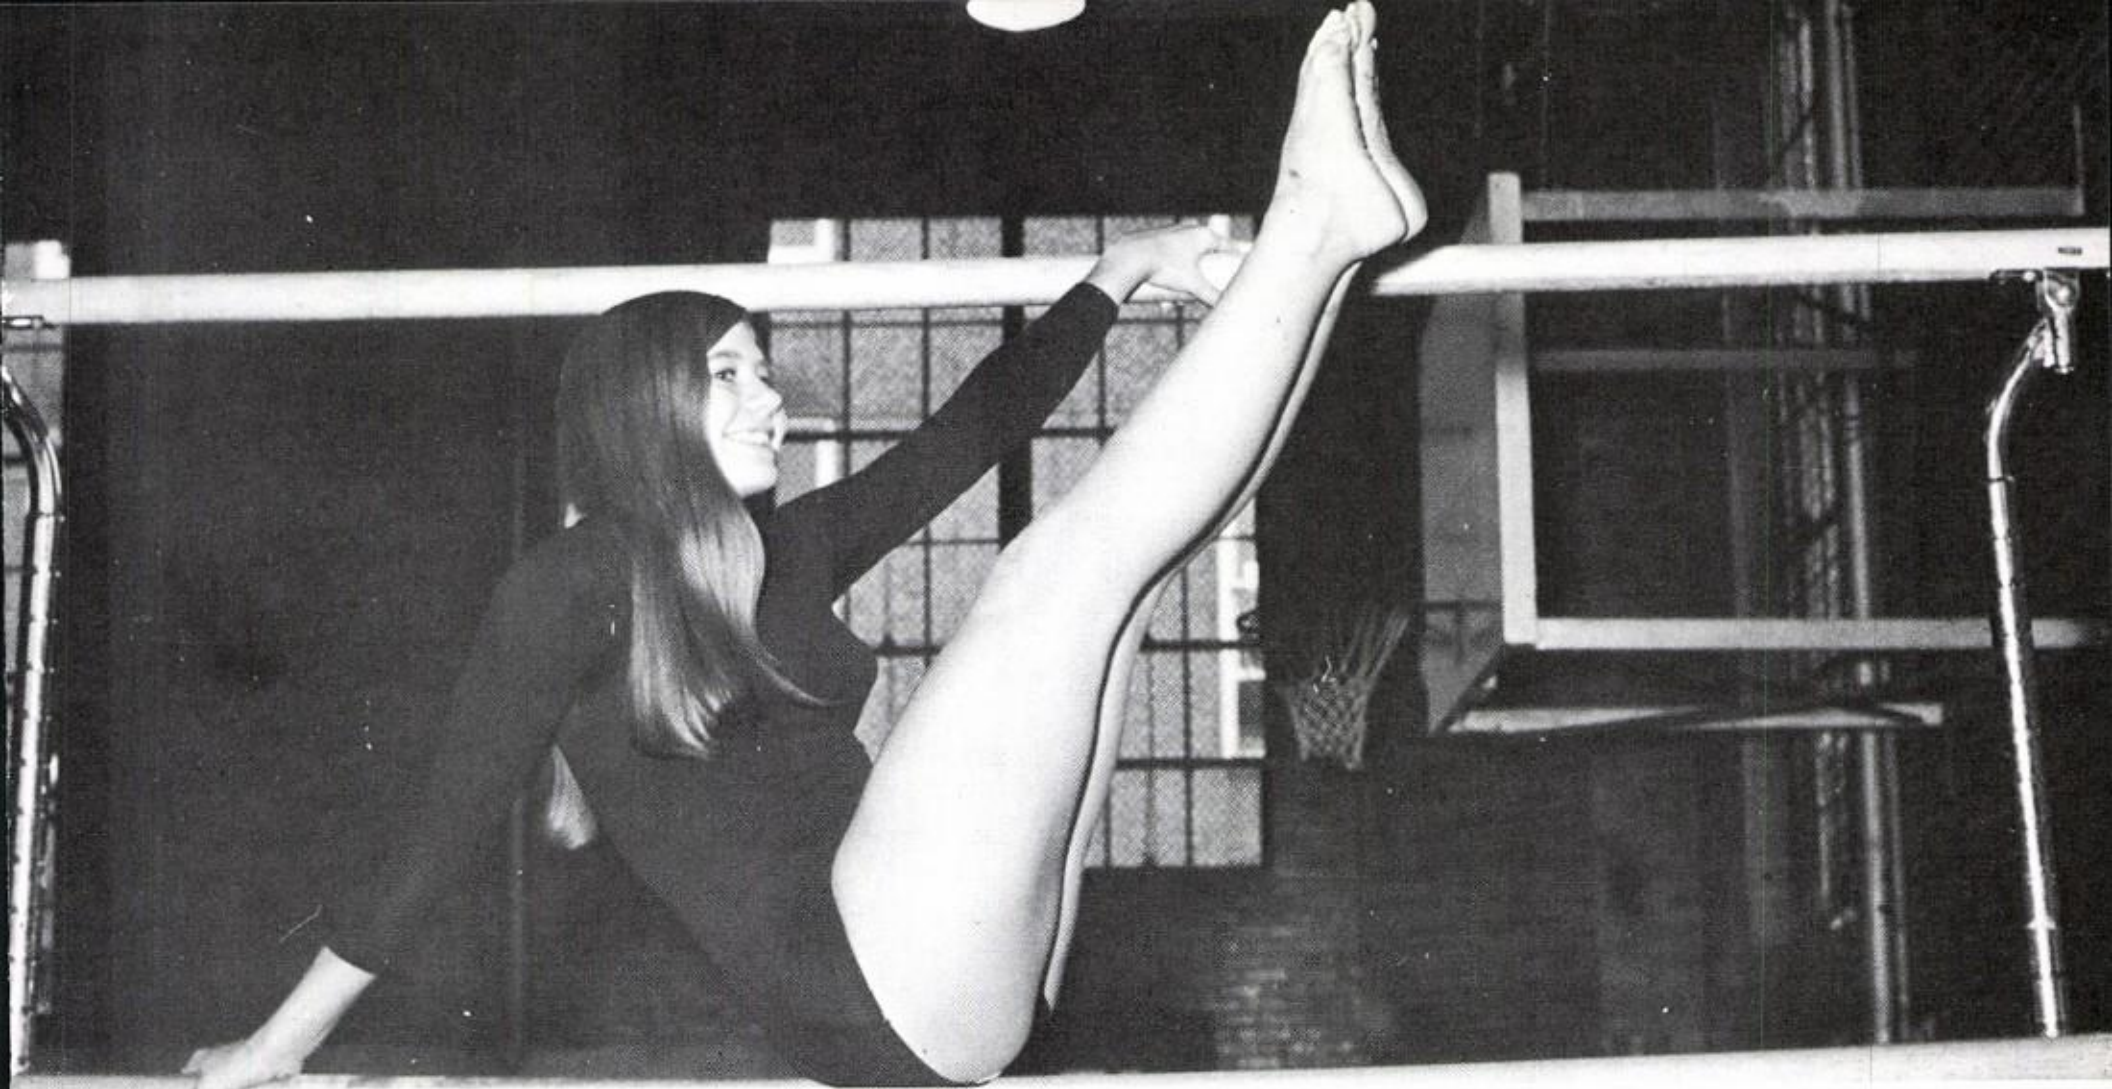

Regional championships for boys were held March 11 at Belle Vernon. Rochester hosted the girl's regional championships on March 28. From the three regions the top six competitors in each category competed in the state championships at Pennsylvania State University in April.

Ray Boland demonstrates a planche on the still rings, which enabled him to place sixth in the state competition.

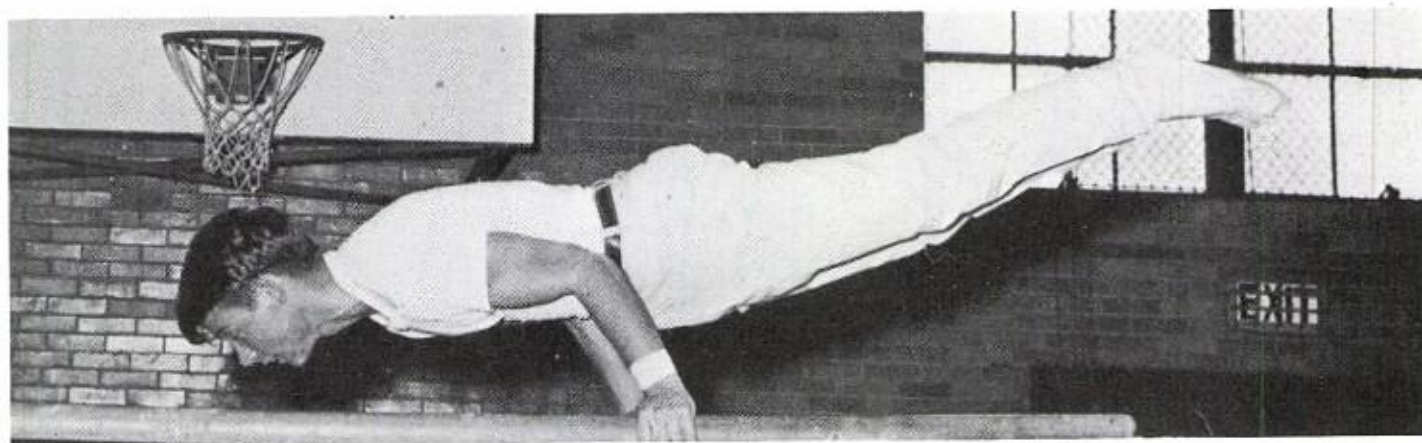

Ron Yancey performs on his speciality, the sidehorse.

Golfers Post Undefeated

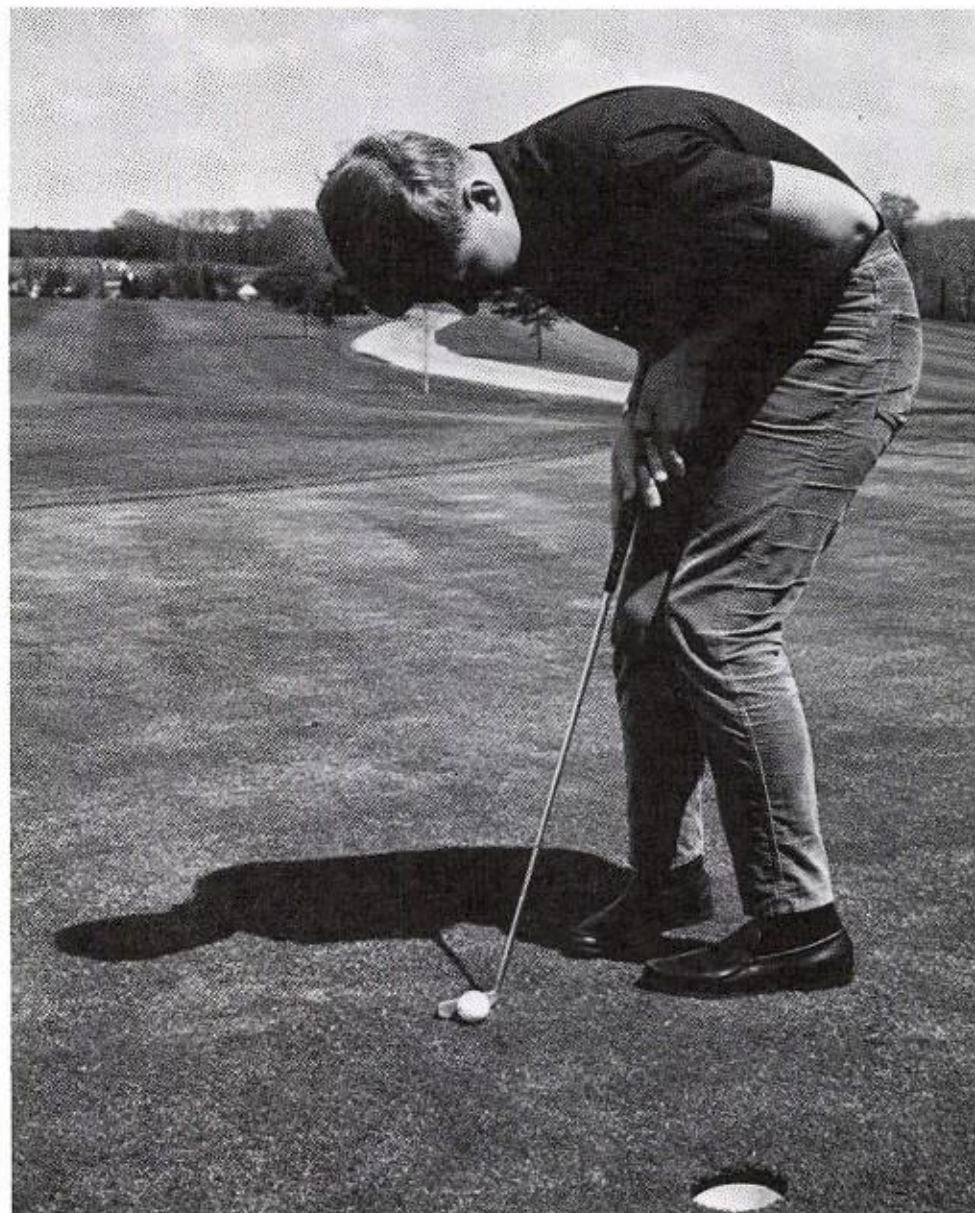

Somerset Area High's 1966 golf team compiled an undefeated season under the coaching of Chester Pfeffer.

Through combined team effort and the powerful playing of Jim Walters and George Reitz, who stroked their way to the state playoffs, the Eagle golfers easily won the District V crown by 29 points over Bedford, their closest opponent.

With the aid of five returning lettermen, the Eagles squeezed past Bedford in the opening match of the season. Easily stroking past Rockwood and Richland Township, they were not stopped until they finally met their match in a triangular meet with Windber and Bishop Carroll. The Eagle golfers overwhelmed Windber, but tied Bishop Carroll to mar an otherwise perfect record. Conemaugh Township and Bishop McCort fell easily to bring the season to a 6-0-1 total.

Although the golf team was formed only two years ago, the players have proved their mettle by an undefeated season and a District V crown.

Freshmen Enjoyed "Winter Wonderland" Class Party

Setting scholastic and athletic records for the seventh and eighth graders to live up to constituted freshmen class achievements. The class of '70 proved capable of leading the junior high.

Under the guidance of Mr. Clarence Pyle, class sponsor, and Mark Pile, president, the freshmen held a semi-formal dance, "Winter Wonderland," as their main social event.

Freshmen English classes were responsible for distributing the Eagles' Echo in the junior high. The Boys' Octet and the Girls' Octet consisted entirely of freshmen.

Mr. Colliver, guidance counselor, administered preference tests to all freshmen as a vocational aid. Academic freshmen studied their first year of foreign languages. Civics classes campaigned for favorite gubernatorial candidates in the mock election.

Eighth Grade Class Enacts Original Thanksgiving

Under the leadership of Miss Eleanor Hardy, Rosemary Raszewski presided over the class of 1971. The eighth graders presented a Thanksgiving Assembly which consisted of narrative poems and a series of original skits depicting Thanksgivings of the past, present and future.

One of the most important events of the year was a class dance held in the spring.

Eighth graders participated in the mock elections held in November. At the awards assembly in May, two eighth graders, a boy and a girl, received the American Legion Awards, based on personality, leadership and willingness to help others.

The eighth grade class officers are Miss Eleanor Hardy, sponsor; Craig Hauger, secretary; Scott Boyer, treasurer; Rosemary Raszewski, president and Larry Barron, vice-president.

Class of '72 Names Theme of Main Social Event

Dodging through crowded corridors in the process of changing classes became a daily routine for seventh grade students.

Under the leadership of President Jonathan Jacobs and Sponsor Blaine Baker, the newcomers to the junior high set a fast pace for their future activities.

Highlighting the year's events was the annual class party in February with the theme "Valentine Surprise". The class elected Judy Landis to reign as queen and Christopher Hay to rule as king.

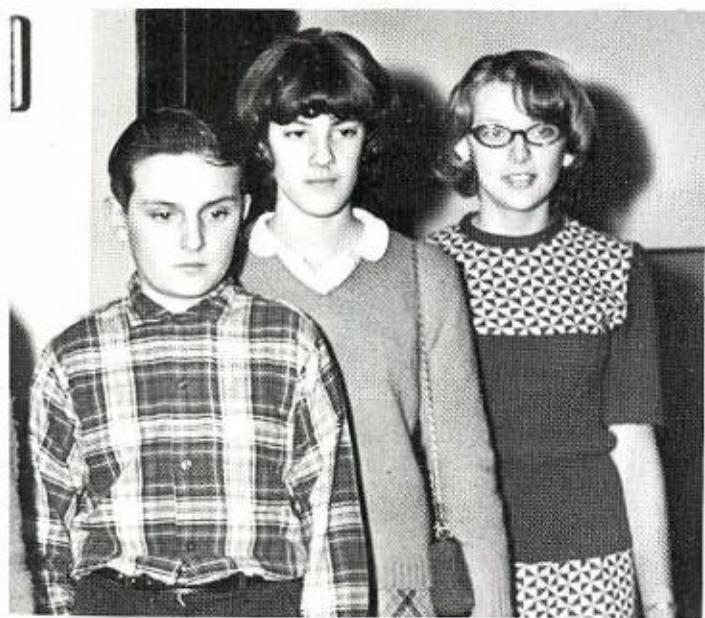

Scholastic and athletic records set by the class of 1972 demonstrate its potentiality for leadership.

Seventh grade class officers are Mr. Blaine Baker, sponsor; Susan Spangler, secretary; Craig Beal, vice-president; Christopher Hay, treasurer; and Jonathan Jacobs, president.

Happily entering the junior high for another day of school are Sally Miller, Brad Whipperman, Randy Evans, Bruce Hottle and Barbara Mostoller.

Junior High Music Groups Conduct Spring Concert

Somerset junior high band under the baton of Mr. Robert Griffith participated in the South County Music Festival. The marching band played for the Memorial Day parade, the Hallowe'en parade, the Jaycees' Winter Carnival and the maple tree tapping ceremony. Mr. Arthur Pepe conducted the orchestra and Mr. Jack Dice directed the chorus in presenting the annual spring concert in conjunction with the band. Girls' Octet and Boys' Octet also participated. Orchestra and Chorus presented a Christmas concert during an assembly.

Providing student government was the purpose of the junior high Student Council. Under the guidance of Mr. Dean Bowman and President Suzy Younkin the council sponsored the annual Spring-A-Fair and the Care drive. Distribution of honor roll information and Christmas card delivery were Council projects. Council members also served as hall monitors. The Student Council provided student buses to various athletic events.

Treasurer Dean Hottle and President Eugene Fanzi engage in a chess match while Secretary Jon Jacobs referees during a Chess Club meeting.

Girls' Octet composed of Bonnie Lloyd, Sudi Stumpf, Elena Palomba, Kendy Felgar, Kathy Weller, Susan J. Walker, Joanna Glessner and Kyle Oglie sang for many school functions.

Junior high wrestlers under the coaching of Mr. James McCall completed their first year of interscholastic competition. The newly formed grappler team gave junior high students another means of testing and developing their athletic ability as the squad turned in a 6-1 season slate. Junior Eagles boasted second place at the Johnstown Central High wrestling tournament.

Mr. Joseph Maslak, head mentor, and Mr. James McCall, assistant, coached the football team to a 5 and 1 season, the sole loss to Conemaugh Township.

Sparked on to victory by coaches Paul Urbain and John Marley, the basketball team posted a winning season. Playing a tough schedule, the junior birds racked up a 5-9 record.

Cheerleaders and Majorettes Raise Team Spirit, Back Junior High Athletes Through Full Seasons

Junior high spirit was kept alive by cheerleaders under the guidance of Mrs. Betty Scharf. Teaching cheers to the student body at pep assemblies and cheering at football, basketball and wrestling matches kept the squad busy all year.

Mrs. Scharf also sponsored the Peppettes and the Pep Club. The Pep Club served as a ready-made cheering section while the majorettes under the sponsorship of Mr. Robert Griffith along with the Peppettes performed for pep assemblies and the many other activities and parades of the band.

These organizations added spirit and drive to the band, the athletic teams and the school.

Jim Pritts gladly accepts a mid-morning snack prepared by Glenna Clark.

We have seen what Somerset Area High School was, is, and always will be in our memories. All this and much more compose a way of life special to those of us who have spent an important part of our lives here. Hopefully, we have matured enough to face life. Success or failure will in part depend on how we prepared ourselves while students at Somerset Area High School.
